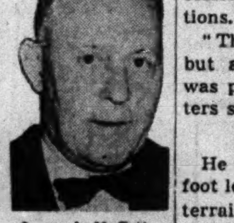
ICKES ACCUSED OF OIL FAKING; OUSTER ASKED

Denounced for His 'Superman' Role.

BY ROY GIBBONS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



James A. Moffett.

New York, March 1.—James A. Moffett, former vice president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey and former federal housing administrator, today demanded the removal and possible impeachment of Interior Secretary Ickes as petroleum coordinator for what he termed "wasteful and scandalous" direction of the nation's oil problem.

Moffett, who resigned a $100,000 a year job to write the petroleum code for the NRA during the early days of the New Deal, is the latest Democrat to break with the Roosevelt administration.

During an interview he accused Ickes, whom he referred to as "Superman," of "lying to the American public by claiming a shortage of everything, and of endeavoring to create artificial oil and gasoline scarcities."

Calls Rationing Unnecessary.

Present oil and gasoline rationing along the eastern seaboard and elsewhere thruout the country is unnecessary, Moffett declared in branding the government's proposed Arabian oil pipe line venture as "the biggest scandal I have ever seen."

"All my 38 years in the oil business I have heard nothing but shortage," Moffett said. "About the time some prophet had decided he knew just how much oil was left in the earth, along came another new discovery.

"It was my conclusion that when the man could be found who could look under the earth and count the number of structures, salt domes—and count the number of barrels—we could see the picture.

"Superman" Comes Along.

"At last, the superman has been found—Secretary Ickes. He has looked under the ground and has counted the number of barrels left in the United States of America—14 billion barrels of crude oil.

"On the basis of 'shortage' his advocates are spending hundreds of millions of dollars of the taxpayers' money in foreign countries and millions here for the liquefication of coal and shale."

Moffett, who was once a White House intimate, revealed he had resigned last October as chairman of the board of the California Texas Oil company for the express purpose of carrying on his fight against Ickes.

A "Disgraceful" Official.

"I quit because I didn't want to embarrass any one," Moffett said. "I know I have a tough job on my hands because Ickes is backed with power and a vast propaganda machine. Maybe I'll have my teeth kicked in, but I don't care because Ickes is in my opinion a disgraceful public official. He should not be in the government."

Removal or impeachment of Ickes will be sought, Moffett said. He will seek appointment of a senate committee "to determine whether the American public should be called upon to finance what appears to be an unjustified venture in burocracy."

Back of the New Deal's far flung oil operations in various parts of the world, Moffett said, is the desire on the part of Ickes to "play two games."

"Ickes," Moffett charged, "wants to get in good with the oil companies by raising prices thru alleged scarcities, and second, he is working toward government ownership."

Aiming at Super-State.

"Yes," Moffett answered, "I do."

"Would you call it collectivism?" he was asked.

"I don't know what you'd call it," he replied, "but I'm against it."

Oil to be taken from the Arabian fields, he said, could be shipped at less cost per barrel by tanker. Tankers could do the job now, he maintained, while the proposed pipe line would take from 18 months to two years to complete.

ALLIED HDQ., SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, March 2 [Thursday] (AP).—Troops holding Momote air field on Los Negros Island in the Admiralty group repulsed a Japanese counterattack yesterday, less than 24 hours after the Americans' surprise landing on the island.

Gen. MacArthur, who personally directed the invasion, said in his bulletin today the enemy's counterattack was "bloodily repulsed" and that landing troops of the dismounted 1st cavalry division had successfully consolidated their positions.

"There are few details available, but apparently the enemy attack was pretty sharp," said a headquarters spokesman.

American Losses Small.

He said approaches to the 5,000 foot long air strip were on favorable terrain but very narrow, forcing the enemy to concentrate his counterattacking force along a narrow front.

The Japanese attacked about 4 o'clock in the morning, but were driven off before daylight. Nearly 100 enemy dead were counted.

The bulletin said American losses "thruout these operations have been negligible."

MacArthur said the air field, which was taken with little damage, "will shortly be in full use by our air forces."

Bombers Hammer Foe.

Today's bulletin also told of heavy allied air strikes against Japanese South and Southwest Pacific air fields Monday, nailing enemy planes to the ground during the Admiralties invasion.

Rabaul, New Britain, took a 153 ton repeat bombing. It was the 14th consecutive attack in nine days in which no enemy aerial interception was encountered.

Other enemy bases bombed were Wewak, Hollandia, Hansa bay, and Madang, all on New Guinea.

Japs Fight Fiercely—Tokio.

New York, March 1 (AP).—Japanese forces garrisoning the Admiralty Islands were declared by the Tokio radio tonight to be fighting fiercely against American landing units.

The transmission said American pre-invasion bombing had little effect and that "the landing units are now receiving a terrible blow from the Japanese garrison."

The landings were made, a Japanese commentator said, in order to encircle Rabaul, but "Rabaul is fortified so thoroly that such an empty strategy could hardly be dangerous to the Japanese base."

Report Lepke Talks! Bares Crime Plot

CHARGES MADE IN DEATH CELL; DEWEY IS TOLD

[Copyright: 1944: By the New York News.]

Louis [Lepke] Buchalter.

New York, March 1. — Louis [Lepke] Buchalter is talking. In a dynamite laden statement, involving at least three names known thruout America, the condemned underworld leader has told an astounding tale of political intrigue.

Lepke—Buchalter on the records—has just signed the statement in his death-house cell at Sing Sing. In it he named names and places. In it he charged one New York political faction with seeking, thru him, to fasten high crime upon another and better entrenched faction. His reward was to be his life and his eventual freedom, according to his signed statement.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's counsel has been apprised of the statement's contents. Dewey is the only man who can save Lepke and his two underlings, Louis Capone and Emanuel [Mendy] Weiss, from death in the electric chair tomorrow night for the 1936 slayings of a Brooklyn candy store operator, Joseph Rosen.

The News also learned that Lepke has made other revelations even more startling.

Denied Habeas Corpus Writ.

Lepke's last chance to get another stay thru appeal to the courts disappeared today when Judge Clarence G. Galston turned down an application for a writ of habeas corpus on the contention he was illegally turned over to New York authorities while serving a sentence for a federal crime.

The gang leader was convicted on a narcotics charge and given a 14 year federal sentence in 1939. The murder conviction followed in 1941, at which time Buchalter boasted he would never be put to death. Several times federal authorities refused New York demands for Lepke's custody, leading to charges by Gov. Dewey that President Roosevelt was preventing New York from giving Lepke the death penalty.

Lepke was finally surrendered by federal authorities last month and lost a clemency appeal to Gov. Dewey.

Makes Two Principal Charges.

Because of the personal importance of the individuals named in Lepke's death cell statement and out of respect for the high places they occupy today, their names are not mentioned at this time. But it can be said that Lepke's statement is highlighted by these two charges:

1. That a visitor called on Lepke while he was a prisoner in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kas., in 1940 and made the following proposition:

[A] If Lepke would make a statement to the visitor which would involve three men, all highly placed in public life, in the murder of a contractor in New York in 1931, the visitor would see that the Rosen murder indictment against Lepke was quashed.

[B] As a further inducement, the visitor promised to have those behind him see to it that Lepke's sentence for violation of the federal narcotics laws was considerably lessened.

Extortion Not "Fixable."

[C] The visitor said the only charge standing against Lepke which he could not promise to fix was one for extortion in New York; on this charge, Lepke drew 30 years to life as a fourth offender.

[D] The visitor offered to call in any three individuals the gangster would name and repeat the offer with them as witnesses.

2. That Frankie Costello, gambling czar, contributed $25,000 in cash to the campaign fund of a high office seeker in New York City.

Lepke's statement names the man to whom Costello turned over the U. of C. Acts to Drop Title of Professor

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The University of Chicago took the first step yesterday toward abolishing all academic rank. Under the most radical of three proposals made in a letter from President Hutchins to the members of the faculty, there no longer would be academic distinction among professors, associate professors, assistant professors, and instructors.

Without effect on tenure of appointment or salary, the newest image cracking proposal of the university simply would designate a member of the teaching or research staff as "member of the faculty of the University of Chicago," or possibly "member of the department of engineering [or some other department] of the University of Chicago."

Advocates Other Changes.

President Hutchins recently advocated the abolition of heraldic Latin mottoes of colleges and universities in favor of an American motto. He proposed as a possible motto for the University of Chicago a line from Walt Whitman: "Solitary, singing in the west, I strike up for a new world." Several departures adopted at the Midway, including the awards of bachelors' degrees at what is usually thought of as the end of the sophomore year, are regarded by many educators as being critical of current higher educational standards and traditions.

Yesterday's letter sought advice on the question of modification of academic rank now before the board of trustees. Altho the deans of the faculties are taking samplings of opinions, Mr. Hutchins' letter said he would be glad to receive arguments for or against the proposals.

Arguments in the letter to the faculty were to the effect that distinctions of academic title do not reflect distinctions in academic attainments, function or salaries, and that because of differing standards in various fields there can be no uniform standard for a given title.

Opposing Arguments Listed.

Opposing arguments were suggested in the letter. Some of these were that academic rank is something professors value, and that the jealousies and other problems incident to rank are not serious. Abolition of titles, it was pointed out, might deprive younger teachers of the incentive they need. It also was urged that when hard times come and there is no money to raise the salary of a good man, the substitution of rank for money would be absent and the man's achievements thus would go entirely unrecognized.

Two other proposals were offered in the letter. One would raise to the title of professor all those of assistant and associate rank, but with no change in salary or tenure. The third would raise all associate professors to the rank of full professors without automatic change in salary or tenure.

DYESS' HERO MEDAL WILL BE AWARDED TO HIS WIDOW MONDAY

San Francisco, March 1 (AP).—Posthumous award of the soldier's medal for Lt. Col. William E. Dyess, hero of Bataan and author of "Bataan Death March," will be made Monday at March field, California, to his widow, Mrs. Marajen Dyess, of Champaign, Ill. The award was made for heroism at Burbank, Cal., on Dec. 22, 1943, "by crash landing his plane in a small, vacant lot in order to avoid hitting civilians traveling on a broad road where a comparatively safe landing could have been made. This act of self-sacrifice resulted in the death of Lt. Col. Dyess."

PAY CUT FOR U. S. TROOPS URGED BY AUSTRALIANS

BRISBANE, Australia, March 2 [Thursday]—(AP).—Reduction in pay for United States forces in Australia, the remainder to be paid on their return to America, was urged today by a conference of the Chamber of Commerce federation.

George Groom, president of the federation, explained the Australian government would be asked to negotiate with the United States government, seeking to limit pay to American fighting forces in Australia to standards of equally similar ranks of Australian troops.

Another resolution directed at higher pay standards of the Americans said: "Because of the adverse, undesirable competitive elements created for employment in Queensland, this federation asks the Australian government to request the United States government to arrange that rates of salaries and wages paid to Australian civilians employed in United States establishments within Australia be those provided for in Australian awards for such employment."

REP. KLEBERG (D.) PRAYS AGAINST A FOURTH TERM

Houston, Tex., March 1 (AP).—Rep. Kleberg [D., Tex.], addressing the convention of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association, today expressed opposition to a fourth term for President Roosevelt with the statement:

"I pray God that his wisdom and patriotism will prevent Franklin D. Roosevelt from taking the step of running for a fourth term."

Accuses Wife in $2,000,000 Hospital Fire

Logansport, Ind., March 1 [Special].—The $2,000,000 fire which destroyed the state hospital at Evansville, Ind., with a loss of eight lives Feb. 9, 1943, was started by a 41 year old woman attendant, according to a statement to authorities here tonight by her husband, James Ott, 46.

Ott made the accusation after his wife took an overdose of sleeping tablets today following her arrest on an arson charge resulting from a blaze last week at the Logansport hospital. Both Ott and his wife have been employed as attendants at the Logansport institution for the last month.

Accused of Other Fires.

Frank Coughlin, deputy state attorney general, said Ott also accused his wife of starting two other fires in state institutions where they worked and burning down a seven room frame house owned by him in Birdseye, Ind., last April. Ott admitted collecting $1,000 insurance on the latter fire, Coughlin said.

Warrants have been issued charging Ott with accessory to arson, according to Coughlin. He said Mrs. Ott is in a serious condition at the Cass County hospital and has not recovered consciousness since taking the sleeping tablets. If she lives, he asserted, she probably will be turned over to Vanderburgh county authorities for prosecution on a charge of murder arising from the Evansville fire.

Revenge Held Motive.

Ott said his wife planned the Evansville fire as a means of getting rid of some fellow attendants with whom she was on bad terms. She spread kerosene in a storeroom, according to his confession, the same method employed at the hospital here last week. The local fire was extinguished after causing $500 damage.

Married Yank Fathers Quads of British Girl

Stop Father's Visit

HEANOR, Derbyshire, England, March 1 (AP).—The soldier father of Norah Carpenter's quadruplets today was denied permission to see his babies under a "No Visitors" order issued after MacDonald, slightest and frailest of the four babies, developed a cold. The condition of the other three was reported good, altho all had lost a few ounces since their birth Monday as babies of from three pounds to three pounds twelve ounces. The telephone rings constantly, at the nursing home caring for the babies, with well wishers from all parts of Britain offering gifts. The Heanor town council is planning to start a fund for the infants' education.

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, March 1.—Red-haired, jovial Staff Sgt. Bill Thompson of Pittsburgh, Pa., stretched out his hand to a reporter today and said, "Congratulate me. I'm the father of quads!" "

The quads were born Sunday night to Miss Norah Carpenter, pretty 23 year old former member of the auxiliary territorial service, equivalent of an American WAC, in the mining parish of Heanor, in Derbyshire.

The fact that Bill is married to Mrs. Eleanor Thompson of Pittsburgh seemed to detract in no way from the 26 year old father's ebullience today.

"I want the whole world to know," he said. "Buddy, am I proud!"

Sgt. Bill—"Red" to his pals—talked as he walked with a reporter thru the streets of the small west country town. At almost every step he encountered the extended hand of a fellow soldier.

Bill Isn't Worried.

The difficulties of being the father of Madeline, Maureen, Michael, and MacDonald weren't impressing Red any more than his legal bond to Eleanor back in Pittsburgh.

"I've written my wife," he explained. "We were married shortly after I joined the army, because the excitement, and the uniform, and all that turned our heads. She must understand, now, that it was just a mistake. I'm sure she'll divorce me now for the babies' sake and Norah's. Then Norah'll marry me. We're more in love than any married couple and we'll never let each other down."

The young father Sunday had gone to call on Norah, who obtained her discharge from the ATS last October when she and Red revealed their plight to their commanding officers.

First One's a Girl.

"When I arrived," he related, "they told me a baby was on the way. I sat in the kitchen until Norah's mother came in and said, 'it's a girl.' I jumped up with excitement and then she said, 'there's another one coming.' I couldn't say a word.

"I thought, 'Think of me being the father of twins!'

"Three hours later they said the third had arrived. I sweated. I didn't dare ask again. I smoked eight packages of cigarets in that kitchen. I finally went out to

HINTS CHAPLIN TEST IN BABY CASE IS PHONY

Joan's Lawyer Calls Him Unscrupulous.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 1 [Special].—Charles Chaplin was denounced as a man without scruples in Superior court today during a caustic verbal whipping administered to him by Joan Berry's new attorney, Joseph Scott.

Opposing a motion to dismiss her paternity suit against the 54 year old former comedian, Scott discounted as merely "a cockeyed theory" the recent blood tests which indicated Chaplin was not the father of Joan's 4 month old daughter.

"The bottles could have been switched," he cried. "Chemicals could have been injected into Chaplin's veins. Or even some one else's blood could have been used."

Wants Tests Disregarded.

Shouting that the "whole background of this case looks phony," Scott demanded that the tests be disregarded as inconclusive and that Joan's baby be given her own day in court.

Judge Stanley Mosk, at 33 the youngest jurist on the Superior court bench, said he would be no snap judgment Solomon, and took under advisement the counter-pleas on whether Joan's civil suit should be thrown out of court. He said he would rule within a week or 10 days.

Scott, 76 year old veteran retained by Joan when her first lawyer resigned, declared he had an affidavit quoting scientists of the University of Minnesota medical school as stating that a child must be 18 months old before blood tests mean anything.

"This test," Scott said, "was a clever, ingenious contraption on the part of legal men to put over the Chaplin case. I don't put anything past Chaplin."

Paid For by Chaplin.

He pointed out that indirectly it was the actor's money that paid the fees of all three doctors who made the blood tests of Chaplin, his former protegee, and her child.

"I'm not saying it was done, but it has been suggested to me," the attorney said, "that Chaplin might have had a shot of somebody else's blood put in his veins. I am not saying those things happened, but they could have happened and the whole case should be heard in court."

Scott said the affidavit to which he referred, signed by Miss Berry, quoted Doctors W. P. Larson, head of the department of bacteriology of the University of Minnesota, and W. A. O'Brien, a member of the medical school faculty. Dr. Lawson, he said, stated that he refused to perform blood tests until a child was a year old, and O'Brien declared he regarded such tests as inconclusive.

Child's "Death Warrant."

Scott warned that if Judge Mosk dismissed the paternity suit "it will be the kid's death warrant."

"To hold the blood test binding in this case," he roared, "would be to say, in effect, 'You little tramp, get out of here,' and let the rich father do as he pleases."

The attorney declared there was no telling what happened in the laboratory where the blood tests were made. He also suggested that Chaplin might have visited another doctor about the matter previous to the tests.

Private Test Hinted.

"I wouldn't be surprised," he declared, "if before the official test was made he presented his lily white arm to another doctor for a private test."

He then painted an imaginary picture of Chaplin in conference with an imaginary doctor discussing blood tests.

"The doctor might have said to Chaplin: 'You can't lose, Charlie, but the kid might,'" the attorney theorized.

"This is a case where, if the kid

wins, she loses; but if Chaplin loses, he wins."

Turning to Chaplin's attorney, Charles E. Millikan, Scott declared:

"Who thought this up? Surely not Millikan. It's up to you to clear your client's skirts of the stigma placed on him and to face the issue like a man."

Millikan demanded that the court dismiss the case "with prejudice," meaning legally that it then could not be revived. He contended it should not be necessary to argue for dismissal of the paternity suit, since under a stipulation previously agreed upon it was automatically ended when the blood tests "showed Chaplin was not the father of Miss Berry's child."

He declared Chaplin had little or nothing to do with the plans for the blood tests, which he said were the subject of conferences for two days and nights among attorneys. He also observed that the agreement to dismiss the suit in event medical tests showed Chaplin could not be the father was an agreement not forced upon Miss Berry.

"Second Guess" Suggested.

"The baby is not going to be in the gutter because of the stipulation," Millikan said. "The mother, if she wants the father to support the child, simply has her second guess coming. She can find the real father since Mr. Chaplin could not be the father."

Replying to Scott's contention that only the child could lose, Millikan said:

"Chaplin could lose, because he had no better than one chance in three of being eliminated. If he were not eliminated, can anybody imagine that he would not have had anything to lose? Can't you see the eloquent Mr. Scott arguing before a jury that this man was the father of the child?"

"The Spotless Anchorite."

Pressing his plea for a full hearing of the suit against the British born actor, Scott told Judge Mosk:

"We want to get Chaplin in court before a judge and a jury of American citizens with no alien sympathies."

F. D. R., ON JOB AGAIN, RECEIVES GEN. WEDEMEYER

Washington, D. C., March 1 (AP).—President Roosevelt conferred today with Maj. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, third member of the allied high command in southeast Asia to visit the White House within a fortnight.

Wedemeyer, deputy chief of staff to Louis Mountbatten, allied commander in chief in the area, did not disclose the purpose of his visit.

Previously Mr. Roosevelt saw Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner, chief of staff of the Chinese army in India, who commands the northern combat area under Mountbatten. That was on Feb. 18. Four days later the chief executive conferred with Maj. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler, who is Mountbatten's chief supply officer.

The chief executive has been out of town at a retreat where he had a chance to rest. The White House preferred that the place not be named.

HINT 1,666 GALS. IS TOO FAR TO GO ON THIS BENDER!

Riley Bender, 5920 Eggleston avenue, former welterweight boxer who asked his ration board for 1,666 gallons of gasoline coupons to stump Illinois in quest of a Presidential nomination, probably will be confined to a front porch campaign, a representative of his board said yesterday.

A member of the gasoline panel of board No. 17 at 7923 Halsted st., which has the application on file said the panel will pass on it officially this evening, but that he, for one, did not believe Bender's slogan "Go on a Bender in '44" would be taken too seriously.

The panel member asked that he not be identified and declined to commit his two fellow adjudicants, but added that "Bender's application will receive the consideration it deserves."

"When I got back to Norah's I said, 'Don't tell me there's another one!' But there certainly was—a boy. You could have blown me down.

Can't Stop Laughing.

"Later I went in to Norah. She couldn't stop laughing. Neither of us could believe it.

"'What are we going to do?' she said.

"'Start picking names,' I answered, and we did. We picked two names each, and thank God it wasn't quintuplets."

Red is undaunted by the prospect of taking care of a wife as well as a sweetheart and their four offspring on his army pay.

Red arrived in England 15 months ago and two days later met Norah. Her ATS unit and his were both stationed here.

"We fell in love at first sight," he said, "but I told her I had a wife back in Pittsburgh. There was nothing we could do about it. We saw each other every night. When Norah told me she was going to have a baby, I told my commanding officer. He got in touch with the ATS commander and Norah and I explained how in love we were.

"I signed a paper saying I was responsible and would always support Norah and her baby. I've spent every leave since then at her home, and I've applied for dependents' allowances for each of my children and one for Norah. They can have all my pay, for they're my only worries. I've told my chaplain all about it and he has promised to help us. It'll all work out right in the end."

NO DIVORCE FOR BILL

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 1.—A blue eyed, brunette war bride, Eleanor Thompson, learned here today that her husband, Staff Sgt. William Thompson, had become the father of illegitimate quadruplets in Derbyshire, England.

The 25 year old Mrs. Thompson confirmed the soldier's statement that she knew about Bill's love affair with Norah Carpenter, but the announcement of the multiple birth astonished her.

"Can you imagine! Quadruplets!" she exclaimed. "That never happened in his family—not even twins."

She married Bill on Armistice day, 1942, while he was on two weeks' furlough. She has religious convictions and has no intention of giving her husband a divorce.

"He has made his bed and he can lie in it," she said.

She Still Cares a Lot.

But she admitted she still cares a lot for him and appeared puzzled by the shift of his affections.

"It was only a little while ago," she related, "that he was writing letters to me saying he was crazy about me, and all that stuff. Now this has happened and I don't know what to think."

Bill's first mention of Norah came in a letter six months ago, she recalled.

"He said it was just one of those things that would blow over. He said he'd told her he was married. I didn't worry because I had a lot of faith in him."

Then in mid-December the blow fell.

Tells Her He's in Love.

"I got a letter in which he said he'd fallen in love with Norah; that he wasn't any good and never would be and that I should give him a divorce.

"I wrote him and reminded him that I am a Catholic and that I still cared for him. He answered saying that I was very selfish and that I must think first of the child. Imagine that! I haven't answered that one yet."

Eleanor did not rush precipitately into her marriage with Bill. The two met at a church dance and went with each other for four years before they became engaged.

"Once it was broken off for a while," Eleanor said, "because he became interested in some one else. Then he begged me to take him back, and I did.

"When he asked me to marry him, I wanted to wait until after the war. I thought he might meet some one he liked better. But he said that would never happen to him. So we are married."

Fugitive Hunted for Months Caught.

A gunman sought several months for the murder of a policeman in Louisville, Ky., and for violating national motor vehicle laws was wounded in Thornton yesterday and captured in a block long chase by Police Chief Richard E. Loescher, who had attempted to arrest him in the Fredericks Brewing company plant, 400 E. Margaret st., Thornton.

Ralph G. Clark.

The capture of Ralph Grover Clark, 22, who had been living in a rooming house at 106 Kinzie st., near the brewery, since his employment last September, was credited to the alertness and sharp eyes of Harry Austgen, 315 Water st., a railroad employe. He recognized Clark's picture on a federal bureau of investigation poster being tacked upon the bulletin board of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railway station by the station agent.

Fugitive Quickly Spotted.

Austgen immediately notified the police chief that he knew the man to be an employe of the brewery. With the poster's help, Chief Loescher quickly spotted Clark, tho he had grown a thin mustache. Holding a revolver, Loescher summoned Clark to surrender.

Clark darted for the exit, crying, "You might as well give it to me now; I'm going to burn anyway."

The policeman pursued his quarry to the street, firing warning shots as he ran. Clark ran to his rooming house, where he fell to the lawn. Two bullets had struck him in the right leg. He was taken to County hospital, meanwhile begging for the chief's gun "to make it even."

Gun and Ammunition Found.

A search of Clark's room, where he had lived under the name of Raymond Wall, revealed a bowling ball bag containing a loaded .38 caliber revolver, an ice pick, a handkerchief believed used as a mask, two holsters with 200 rounds of ammunition, and three draft cards.

The FBI poster stated he was wanted for the murder of Policeman William Preston Bryant, who was shot and killed when he stopped Clark for speeding in Louisville last August.

A federal warrant had been issued against Clark on a charge of transporting a stolen auto from Elizabeth, Ind., to Louisville.

80 Join in Debate

A two day debate among teams from nine midwestern universities on the question of whether the United States should participate in an international police system after the war, was opened yesterday in Scott hall, Northwestern university. Eighty students, nearly half of them co-eds, are competing. The universities represented are those in the Big Ten, Michigan alone being absent. Winners will be selected as teams, rather than individuals. The debate will close today.

DEADLOCK ENDS PHILLIPS TRIAL; JURY DISMISSED

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 1 (AP).—Former Gov. Leon C. Phillips' trial on a parole conspiracy charge ended tonight with a hung jury.

Jury Foreman W. A. Day reported to District Judge A. P. Van Meter at 10:15 p. m. that the jury was unable to break a 9 to 3 deadlock in which the majority favored acquittal.

Judge Van Meter then dismissed the jury which had deliberated two days and three nights.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 1.—The delights of burocratic employment under the New Deal were reluctantly outlined to a house investigating committee today by Craig S. Vincent, 37, Atlantic coast regional representative of the recruitment and manning division, war shipping administration.

Vincent was revealed as the grateful recipient, thru a bookkeeping error which persisted for some months, of two comfortable government salaries—$5,800 and $7,500 a year—at one and the same time. His wife is also on the federal pay roll at $3,800, making a total income of $17,100 for the Vincent family for a brief but glorious period.

"Why, that happens to a number of government employes," he informed the committee when it expressed amazement.

Subject of FBI Probe.

Vincent was recently the subject of a lengthy FBI inquiry by federal bureau of investigation on suspicion of subversive tendencies. He denied he was a Communist but admitted membership in the American League for Peace and Democracy and the Washington Bookshop, two organizations labeled subversive by Atty. Gen. Biddle.

Happy days arrived for Vincent when he was promoted from his Washington post with the WSA which paid $5,800 to his present New York City position with the agency which carries a $7,500 salary.

Every two weeks, he received his former $241.66 check and in addition one for $312.50. Despite his alleged enthusiasm for the tenets of communism, he accepted these capitalistic benefits in the spirit in which they were bestowed, according to the evidence, altho he did finally remark to his secretary, he admitted, that something appeared to be wrong.

Finally Discovered.

Eventually, the mistake was discovered in Washington and the treasury wrestled with Vincent for nearly a year to get back the overpayments. The record indicated he has paid back $625.

In addition to these monetary rewards, Vincent was the beneficiary of a draft deferment obtained by the WSA on the ground that he was indispensable to the war effort.

Vincent, a former Colorado state representative, came to the New Deal in 1933, he said, and served with the United States employment service and the social security board before joining the WSA. The "double salary" mistake also occurred when he shifted from social security to WSA, he remarked.

He had been summoned by the Smith committee to testify regarding WSA policy in regard to the hiring of seamen in the merchant marine.

$200 FINE IS FIXED IN EVANSTON FOR SLUGGING A SAILOR

A Negro who attacked a white sailor in the Varsity theater, Evanston, on Feb. 19 was fined $200 yesterday by Judge H. H. Porter in Evanston Municipal court. Unable to pay the fine, he was ordered to serve it out at $2 per day in the Bridewell.

The Negro is Walter Lee Palmer, 17, of 1013 University pl., Evanston. He created a disturbance in the theater, and two white girls protested. The court was told Palmer called them a foul name. The sailor, Von Howard Maples, 23, student in the Northwestern university radio school, objected. In a fight, Maples was knocked down and cut on the chin.

Palmer was fined $100 each on charges of disorderly conduct and assault and battery. Judge Porter said: "I am not sentencing you because you are colored. The same fine would have been imposed on a member of any other race. Attacking a service man is a despicable act."

BRITISH PONDER RULE TO DRIVE ON RIGHT SIDE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 1.—The British government is considering changing the rule of the road in Britain to drive on the right instead of driving on the left, Philip J. Noel-Baker, parliamentary secretary to the ministry of war transport, revealed in the house of commons today. Conservative Bartle Bull urged the change now and said the change in auto construction would help export trade.

LEWIS SOCKED OR WASN'T HE? IT'S A QUESTION

He Says 'No,' but Yank 'Poker' Says 'Yes.'

Washington, D. C., March 1 [Special].—Whether or not John L. Lewis got a poke in the eye from a veteran of the Italian campaign today was a question of veracity between the United Mine Workers' leader and Corp. Henry Kania, 21, who doesn't like coal strikes in war time.

Spokesman for Lewis denied that any blows were struck, altho admitting Kania and a comrade, Pvt. Jacob Ricotta, 20, visited UMW headquarters and gave Lewis a lecture on the propriety of strikes at home while soldiers were suffering the hardships of war.

No Scars on Lewis.

The shaggy maned union chieftan supported this denial by allowing reporters to look him over after the encounter. There were no marks of violence on his face. K. C. Adams, editor of the Mine Workers Journal, said one of the soldiers waved his arms and acted hysterically but ended up by asking for an application blank to join the union.

Kania said he and Ricotta left an army hospital in Atlantic City, N. J., 10 days ago and came here to see Lewis. They found him in his office shortly before noon.

Tells of Punch in Eye.

The Kania version was that they asked Lewis why he had called coal strikes with the nation at war, to which Lewis replied that he called no strikes. Kania then asked why the men had walked out, he said, but got no answer to this. He said he asked Lewis what unions were for and was told "to protect you overseas as well as your fathers and mothers here."

Lewis turned away to walk into another office at this point, according to Kania, who said he then punched the mine leader in the eye.

"No blows were struck," said Adams. "Lewis talked to them in a fatherly way and tried to answer their questions."

Says He Hit Lewis in Eye

CONCEDE DAVIS' NOMINATION IN LOUISIANA VOTE

New Orleans, La., March 1 (AP).—Lewis L. Morgan and his chief backer, New Orleans' Mayor Robert S. Maestri, representing followers of the late Huey P. Long, conceded tonight the nomination for governor of Song Writer Jimmie H. Davis in Tuesday's Democratic primary.

Unofficial returns from the voting, tantamount to election in this state, gave, for 1,766 of the state's 1,886 precincts, Davis, 239,398, and Morgan, 208,280.

Davis issued no formal statement but conferred with his running mates, J. Emile Verret and Fred S. Le Blanc, who apparently had been nominated for lieutenant governor and attorney general, respectively.

Returns from 1,728 precincts in the lieutenant governor's race gave Verret 222,804 to 208,388 for Earl K. Long, brother of the late senator. In the same number of precincts Le Blanc had 218,207 to 206,114 for Joe T. Cawthorn.

WLB LIFTS BAN ON REMODELING JOB AT SALOON

Cracks Down on War Plant Project.

Cleveland, O., March 1 [Special].—Remodeling of a night club, which the owner started in January without permission from the war production board, was resumed today at a figure $3,200 above the priority-free limit with the WPB's blessing. It is the Dixie Grill, Inc., which happens to be located opposite the back door of the WPB headquarters.

Authorization was given by the WPB regional review committee to Leonard A. Adelman, owner of the establishment, to complete the alterations he began in violation of WPB building regulations after such authorization had been denied previously by the WPB district office.

Crack Down on War Plant.

This indulgence toward saloon construction follows a WPB crackdown on a war plant owner who spent $2,200 above the priority-free limit in enlarging his facilities for war production. He is Charles M. Ingersoll, owner of the Ingersoll Implement company of Rocky River, who two months ago was fined $200 in federal court because his expansion cost ran to $7,200. The WPB limit on such work without priorities is $5,000.

Discussing the case of the Dixie grill, E. H. Cole, regional WPB compliance chief, said he learned in January that Adelman had begun alterations without WPB permission. He said he assigned investigators to the case and on Jan. 26 sent a "warning telegram" to the contractor, Harry Bach. Reports showed that altho there is a $200 limit on such work, Adelman was spending $3,400.

Appeal Granted.

Frank M. Aldridge, regional deputy director of WPB, said Adelman subsequently filed an application with the district office for a permit to finish the work, stating most of the material had been purchased two years ago. This application was denied, so Adelman took an appeal, which was granted.

"At no time did we feel that Adelman was a willful violator," Aldridge said.

ASSAIL STIMSON CHARGE AGAINST NEGRO SOLDIERS

A protest against Secretary of War Stimson's assertion that many Negro army units have been unable to master modern weapons was sent to President Roosevelt yesterday by members of the Maj. Charles L. Hunt post No. 2024, Veterans of Foreign Wars, 3016 Lake Park av. The message was signed by Dr. Clarence H. Payne, chairman of the resolutions committee, and Clifton E. Jones, post commander. The post has 500 members.

Stimson's statement was "false, vicious and misleading," the veterans charged. They cited the glorious record of Negro combat troops in other wars, and said the failure of some units was caused by unsympathetic, incompetent white officers.

The message to the President asked that he order the army to give Negroes fair play, and "the privilege of dying like fighting men."

70,000 CHILDREN OUT OF LONDON.

London, March 1.—The president of the board of education, in a written reply to a parliamentary question, announced today that there are still nearly 70,000 children and 2,200 teachers evacuated from the London area.

SOLOMONS PART OF U. S. TO JAPS FIGHTING THERE

In contrast to Japanese treatment of American prisoners of war, the American army's treatment of Japanese prisoners is in scrupulous accord with international law, Capt. Mansfield Schmidt, 34, who is enjoying his first leave after two years in the Pacific, said in an interview yesterday.

Capt. Schmidt is staying with his wife, the former Constance Spiers of Auckland, New Zealand, and his father and stepmother, Dr. and Mrs. Louis E. Schmidt, in the Pearson hotel.

"The army is very conscientious about prisoners," he said, recalling his many visits to prisoner of war camps while he was executive officer of the Guadalcanal service command.

Lives of Wounded Saved.

Medical care and living conditions, he said, were the same for soldiers and prisoners. The prisoners might even have lived a little better, he amended, for they had fresh vegetables from the gardens which they tended.

Most of these prisoners had been taken when wounded, Capt. Schmidt explained, and their lives had been saved by the army medical corps. Despite this, many of them committed suicide because of their belief that they had been disgraced by being captured.

Asked whether he thought the Japanese could be re-educated, and persuaded to abandon their fanatical beliefs, he said that he thought many prisoners eventually would return to Japan and would sow doubts in the minds of the people as to the truth of the things they had been taught by their government.

"If the allied nations make sufficient effort," Capt. Schmidt said, "they should be able to re-educate and re-civilize Japan."

Yanks' Morale "Excellent."

He said the Japanese were good soldiers, but he warned of the tenacity with which they cling even to the most fantastic beliefs. He recalled that some of them thought that Guadalcanal was Florida and that they were fighting on the American mainland. They could not be disabused of this idea.

The morale of the American soldier is excellent, Capt. Schmidt said. He conceded that there was a great deal of "griping," but he explained that this showed a healthy mental condition and that only silent brooding was alarming.

The men complain of the "USO Commandos" [American soldiers who have not yet left the country], according to Capt. Schmidt, and of the strikers who retard war production. They do not stop to figure out whether labor or management is to blame for strikes, and the remark, "They drafted me; why can't they draft labor?" is common.

Eight hundred men comprise the university R. O. T. C., which is restricted for the duration to a basic course for freshmen and sophomores. These two years of military training have been required of all men students since the university opened 76 years ago.

BRITAIN TO EASE CENSORSHIP OF POLITICAL NEWS

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, March 1.—The British government has decided to introduce less stringent censorship of political information, it was learned tonight.

There will be no new censorship rules but the censors have been granted somewhat wider latitude in interpreting existing rules.

At present, censors exercise strict control "with a view to stopping any press message calculated to create ill feeling between the united nations or between united nations and a neutral country."

For example, censorship decided recently that correspondents here could not publish the fact that the British had concluded the draft of an agreement with Norway, the Netherlands, and Belgium, guaranteeing those countries that their legal governments would receive control over civil affairs at the earliest possible moment after liberation of their territories.

The argument put forward was that since the United States had not yet reached agreement with those countries, publication of the fact that Britain had agreed might "create ill feeling" with the United States and "prejudice" the negotiations.

New Yorker Makes Top Bid on Shoreland Hotel

A bid of $1,210,000 for the Shoreland hotel, 5454 South Shore drive, was opened yesterday by Judge Joseph A. Graber of Superior court. The bid was made by Louis Gartner, a New York real estate dealer, and was accompanied with a deposit of $85,000. The Chicago Title and Trust company, receivership trustees, said no other bids had been received recently. Judge Graber granted 10 days for further bids. He said Gartner's offer was $160,000 more than any previous offer.

FOIL 1 REGIMENT REVOLT AGAINST ARGENTINE RULE

Colonel's Move to Help Pres. Ramirez Fails.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, March 1 (AP).—A brief and bloodless armed rebellion by an army colonel who marched his regiment to overthrow the Argentine government of Acting President Edelmiro Farrell fizzled early today.

Edelmiro Farrell.

Lt. Col. Tomas Duco staged the revolt with his 3d infantry regiment, perhaps in hopes of setting off a revolution by the navy and other dissident army groups to return Gen. Pedro Ramirez to the presidency. Ramirez stepped down in favor of Vice President Farrell in a palace coup last Thursday.

Navy Chief Sworn In.

There was much speculation over the penalty likely to be imposed upon Duco. Some observers said he might be shot and there were rumors that the execution had taken place. Another version was that Duco was lodged in the naval hospital. In the only official comment on his possible punishment, David Uriburo, governor of Corrientes province, said, "exemplary measures" should be taken against him.

Farrell's position appeared further improved by the friendly attitude of Rear Adm. Alberto Teisaire and his naval colleagues when Teisaire was sworn in as navy minister.

Naval leaders, it was reported, had demanded yesterday that Farrell either return the presidential powers to Ramirez or delegate them to the Supreme court.

Some observers read the friendly ceremonies as indicating Farrell had promised to meet their minimum demands for restoring a stable, orderly government.

Ramirez Still at Estate.

The people of Argentina generally remained unaware of the attempted coup.

Ramirez remained at his presidential estate, studying with satisfaction, it was said, reports that foreign governments, including the United States, disapproved the manner in which Farrell had acquired presidential authority.

One intimate said Ramirez had been assured that the American republics would not recognize the transfer of power to Farrell.

Argentine Ambassador Carlos Quintana protested against the manner in which Montevideo radios and newspapers have been handling news of the Argentine situation and Uruguayan officials ordered Montevideo radio stations to tone down their Argentine comments. Official circles in Uruguay expressed apprehension lest Argentine authorities accompany their protest with reprisals.

Reds Swarm Across Narva River

REDS RING NARVA IN 9 MILE DRIVE BEYOND RIVER

LONDON, March 2 [Thursday]—(AP).—Moscow announced today that the Red army in Estonia had punched a bridgehead across the Narva river south of the German held fortress of Narva and cut the only escape railroad from the town.

The Moscow midnight war report, recorded by the soviet monitor from a broadcast, said the Russians "several days ago" crossed the Narva along a 22 mile front and penetrated nine miles beyond, reaching the rail station of Auvere. This placed the Russians approximately 15 miles inside Estonia and left Narva virtually encircled.

Nazis Admit Red Gain.

A Berlin broadcast admitted the bridgehead had been established, but said it had been "further reduced" after "lively" fighting.

Farther south other soviet troops, on the approaches to Pskov, captured 70 localities and cut the railroad to Polotsk. Among the places taken on the road to this ancient communications center, the Russians said, were "several heavily fortified strong points covering the approaches of the town."

In White Russia soviet forces were reported on the move again near the long dormant front of Vitebsk, capturing more than 30 populated places including one nine miles east of the German bastion. The Russians already have flanked Vitebsk on the north and south.

The Narva river bridgehead as outlined by the Russians reached its farthest extension at Metskula, 15 miles southwest of Narva. The Russian line extended south from the railroad at Auvere to Mustajoe and then curved along the river bank to Vaska.

Stockholm dispatches said the Germans had ordered the evacuation of Kovno [Kaunas], capital of Lithuania.

NAZI WAR BULLETIN

The German war bulletin broadcast from Berlin said today:

"In the area of Krivoi Rog, southeast of Zhashkov and west of Berdichev, our troops repelled numerous soviet attacks and inflicted big losses on the enemy.

"At Yampol, heavy local fighting is going on. In the region south of the Pripet marshes, units of the German army and the Waffen S. S. made successful thrusts.

"Northeast of Rogachev, the soviets made unfruitful attacks with major forces. Northwest of Nevel, southeast of Lake Pskov, and at Narva, numerous soviet attacks failed in hard fighting. In the far north, our troops repelled enemy reconnaissance thrusts in the Louhi sector and at Fischerhaus.

LONDON'S GUNS BATTLE GERMAN NIGHT BOMBERS

LONDON, March 2 [Thursday]—(AP).—Air raid warnings sounded early today in London and anti-aircraft guns went into action as planes were heard in some sections of the city. The alarm was the second in succession for the capital but was the first between midnight and dawn since Feb. 22.

[The OWI said the Frankfurt radio at 10 p. m. reported a great number of allied planes were "returning from southwest Germany."]

TOOLS AND WHEELS STOLEN.

Tools, floor mats, spare wheels, and gas tank caps with a total value of $220 were taken from the Litsinger Motor company, 925 Jackson blvd., the manager, Samuel McMahon, reported to police last night.

YANK MARAUDER BOMBERS' PUNCH BOOSTED 50 PCT.

LONDON, March 1 (AP).—An increase in the striking power of American Marauder medium bombers was disclosed today in a monthly review by United States headquarters and the air ministry.

During February 3,200 tons of bombs were dropped in 2,000 individual plane attacks on 20 operations, an average bomb load of 1.6 tons for each plane. This is half again as large as the mediums were averaging a few months ago.

It also was announced that the bombing of Nazi air bases Feb. 25 by the United States 9th air force involved the largest force of medium bombers ever sent from England.

The actual size was not disclosed, but it must have been more than 250 planes, a figure announced for a previous raid. The targets for the record attack were St. Trond in Belgium and Venlo in Holland.

Thirteen Marauders were lost in February—nine to anti-aircraft gun fire and four to enemy fighters.

AIR NURSES, TOO, AWAIT WESTERN FRONT DANGERS

Midwest Women Train at Base in Britain.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AT AN AMERICAN INVASION TRAINING BASE, Somewhere in England, March 1.—Except for the chill air outside, you would never have known that the scene last night was England. It might have been any camp in the United States.

Grate fires at either end of the comfortable lounge glowed warmly. Two GIs at a makeshift bar poured rum drinks or beer while a soft-voiced southern woman sprinkled wax on the floor for dancing. We correspondents had come to meet the army air force nurses who will fly in air evacuation planes with soldiers wounded in the invasion of western Europe. In no time at all there was a party.

Meets Midwest Nurses.

I met Lieutenants Joan Denton of Alameda, Cal., who had been graduated from the Washington Boulevard hospital in Chicago and Margaret Gudobba of Detroit, Mich.

Several medical officers who were part of the evacuation combat team joined us. They were Capt. Edward Cannon of Loomis blvd., Chicago, a graduate of Rush Medical college; Capt. W. B. Oliver of Belvidere, Ill., and Capt. John P. Birdzell of Crown Point, Ind., both graduates of Northwestern university medical school.

Across the room were other nurses: Jerry Dishroon of Tulsa, Okla., Patricia Corrigan of Freeport, Ill., Evelyn Andersen of Madison, Wis., a graduate of Ravenswood hospital in Chicago [her father, Gust Andersen, lives at 4916 N. Wolcott av., Chicago]; Jane Orme of Nebraska City, Neb., and Florence Mulligan of Brainerd, Minn.

March with Packs.

While awaiting the invasion, the nurses are getting endurance training. Three times weekly they are taken on road marches of five or six miles with a full pack. Occasionally, too, they fly to more remote parts of the United Kingdom, such as Northern Ireland, to return ill soldiers to near-by empty military hospitals in England.

Some of these nurses have spent several weeks at Flying Fortress bases caring for the wounded. Any damaged plane with wounded aboard sends out flares when approaching the home base. As soon as the plane lands the girls climb aboard and take charge. Lieutenants Denton and Gudobba have both had this experience.

"It really brought the war a lot closer to us," said Lt. Gudobba.

Trained at Louisville.

All these girls, several of whom are former air line hostesses, have had specialized training at the air evacuation school at Bowman field, Louisville, Ky.

Because of the hazards connected with their job, these nurses are known by the 9th air force public relations officers as "members of the only woman's combat unit in the army." Their low flying, unmarked troop carrier planes will be subject to enemy air attack while flying to the continent, while loading patients at the air fields, and while returning to England.

U. S. PLANES FLY LOW AND BOMB WAKE AIRDROME

Liberators Destroy 6 Jap Planes.

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, March 1 (AP).—Navy Liberator bombers gave Wake Island, 2,300 miles west of here, its 14th raid of the war Monday, destroying six grounded Japanese planes, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced today.

Other actions reported by the admiral included the bombing of Nauru, far to the southwest, by a single navy search plane, and new blows by army and navy planes against three enemy held bases in the eastern Marshall Islands. The attacks on Nauru and the Marshalls also were on Monday.

As in almost all the previous attacks on Wake, Nimitz concluded his announcement with the words, "All our planes returned." There was no mention of losses or damage over Nauru or the Marshalls.

Wake had not been raided since Feb. 10, when navy Coronado bombers delivered their second attack there within two days. These assaults are designed to keep the Wake airfield neutralized, preventing enemy air operations against American forces now established on Eniwetok and Kwajalein atolls in the Marshalls.

Ponape, called Japan's Gibraltar because of the fortified rock guarding its fine harbor, is taking a steady pounding by 7th army air force Liberators.

BRITISH WORKER TOURS IN 2 NEW LINERS FORESEEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 1.—Construction of two giant liners to carry British workers on trips to the United States and elsewhere patterned after the German "strength thru joy" ships was predicted by Patrick Dollan, lord provost of Glasgow, tonight.

Dollan said the ships likely will be built as part of a 10 year prosperity plan for Britain's shipbuilding industry after the war. They would cost $40,000,000.

Dollan, said the Daily Mail, recalled that he took 500 British workers to New York's fair. When peace returns, this scheme to take thousands of workers to America every year will be resumed, he said.

ALLIES REPULSE GERMAN SMASH ON ANZIO FRONT

ALLIED HDQ., Naples, March 1 (AP).—Allied forces today blocked a strong German lunge on the Anzio beachhead.

Brief front dispatches reported no great centralized drive yet, altho the Nazis applied pressure on several sectors of the British and American lines.

Field guns and mortars roared against Germans who had appeared to be making a third major effort to drive the allies into the sea.

[The Germans' Rome radio last night said the allies were attacking after "one of the heaviest artillery barrages yet seen in the beachhead."]

As the reënforced enemy launched his attack, allied headquarters disclosed that Field Marshal Albert Kesselring had been equipped with a new "secret weapon"—an explosive-filled, pilotless tank meant to be steered by remote control into allied positions and detonated.

Attack After Heavy Shelling.

This weapon had an unsuccessful tryout in the enemy's second big assault against the beachhead two weeks ago. Fourteen were exploded by allied artillery.

Punching hard at American and British lines at several points around the approximate 25 mile perimeter of the beachhead, the Germans opened their new thrust with a strong infantry and tank attack about midway between Carroceto and Cisterna yesterday morning after a heavy artillery bombardment.

A German tank thrust in the Isola Bella area, two miles southwest of Cisterna, was smashed by allied artillery.

Planes Pound Nazi Troops.

Observing the massing of German troops in the Cisterna area, allied ground forces called upon their air support to help smash the growing enemy assault. Squadrons of Invader dive bombers and medium bombers poured tons of explosives into three ravines where enemy men and armor were concentrated.

The Germans stepped up their shelling of the beachhead, apparently having brought in great new quantities of artillery. Under the night and day pounding American troops threw back two strong Nazi patrols that attacked them Monday night southeast of Carroceto.

British troops beat off a small force of Germans southwest of Carroceto and took some prisoners.

On the Cassino front to the southeast, British troops threw back a Nazi attack near Mount Ornito in the lower Garigliano river bend.

On the Adriatic sector, 8th army forces improved their positions on a ridge south of Guardiagrele and patrols probed Nazi lines.

GERMAN WAR REPORT

Yesterday's German war bulletin, broadcast by Berlin, said:

"In Italy, our forces maintained their pressure against the Nettuno [Anzio] beachhead with strong German artillery fire.

"By means of shock troop operations, we succeeded in mopping up enemy strong points and encircling a major enemy group southwest of Cisterna.

"German bombers sank a 5,000 ton enemy transport in Anzio harbor and damaged four more totaling 15,000 tons.

JAPS SHAKE UP NAVY COMMAND; NAME TWO CHIEFS

New York, March 1 (AP).—Reorganization of the Japanese naval high command has been completed with the establishment of a "two vice chief system" under Adm. Shigetaro Shimada, navy minister, the Tokio radio said today.

The reorganization is in line with Premier Tojo's announced policy of coördinating the military and political leadership of Japan. In addition to his job of navy minister Shimada also holds the post of chief of the naval general staff. The navy ministry announced Adm. Nishizo Tsukahara, chief of naval aviation headquarters, has been made vice chief of the general staff along with Rear Adm. Seiichi Ito.

Vice Adm. Yorio Sawamoto, promoted to full admiral, was made acting vice minister of the navy. Vice Admirals Shiro Takasu and Naokuni Nomura were raised to the rank of full admiral, bringing the number to 13.

FINNISH PEOPLE ARE TOLD REDS' PEACE TERMS

LONDON, March 1 (AP).—The Finnish people were informed in a Helsingfors announcement tonight of Russia's "peace-now-or-else" armistice terms, which were disclosed to have been indorsed by Britain. Hope persisted that the little axis satellite would accept the terms and get out of the war.

The Finnish radio outlined the six points of the Russian proposal, broadcast last night from Moscow, and said the terms had been transmitted to parliament. It was emphasized, however, that no negotiations were in progress.

The effect of a Russian-Finnish peace on the other axis satellites—Bulgaria, Rumania, and Hungary—was not overlooked. The Hungarian MTI agency announced that Premier Nicholas von Kallay would discuss "internal and external matters of great importance" tomorrow before deputies in the Hungarian parliament.

Bulgar Premier to Broadcast.

At the same time a Berlin broadcast DNB dispatch from Sofia said Bulgarian Premier Dobri Bojilov would broadcast an "important" speech Sunday.

There was no positive clew here to Finland's reaction, but the atmosphere generally was optimistic. Some speculation developed on the possibility that Finland might offer counter-terms and that she might ask for British-American guarantees.

A Finnish legation source in Stockholm said that Finland was planning to send an armistice commission to Moscow headed by former Foreign Minister Juho Paasikivi.

Lists Conditions.

In its broadcast to the Finns, the Helsingfors radio said the "conditions of the soviet union that have come to the knowledge of the Finnish government can be divided into two parts—conditions that are to be accepted immediately as a prerequisite for the beginning of peace negotiations and conditions that can be discussed in detail in Moscow after the conditions of the first part have been agreed upon."

The conditions of the first part, it said, are as follows:

"1. The soviet union does not demand that Finland go to war against Germany, but the Finns must naturally sever relations with the Germans. If Finland wishes to remain neutral she cannot tolerate the armed forces of a foreign power to remain on her territory; she must at least intern them. If this task is too great for the Finns, the soviet union is prepared to give the necessary assistance by airplanes and by armed forces.

1940 Pact to Be Effective.

"2. The peace treaty of 1940 to become effective again, and the Finnish armed forces to be withdrawn to the 1940 frontiers.

"3. Soviet prisoners of war in internment camps and in labor camps, together with other soviet citizens, to be released without delay."

The second part:

"4. Questions regarding partial or total demobilization to be left over for negotiations in Moscow.

"5. The question of compensation for damage that was incurred by military actions and by occupation of soviet territory.

SCHENLEY DISTILLERS CORP., NEW YORK

First things come first

If you are experiencing difficulty in getting your favorite brand of whiskey today, in your package store, hotel, club, restaurant, or tavern, perhaps the figures which follow will give you the major reason why the supply of whiskey from distillers to wholesalers, from the wholesalers to the retailers, and ultimately to consumers, has been curtailed.

"First things come first," and "cocktails" for the Axis, without rationing, are much more important today than cocktails for our citizenry.

Beverage distillers, just to remind you, completed conversion of their distilling facilities to the manufacture of alcohol for wartime purposes on October 8, 1942. That was over a year ago, although by a gradual voluntary conversion they were manufacturing high-proof wartime spirits as far back as the fiscal year, 1941. Really, the figures are very interesting; let's look at them.

Back in 1936, the beverage distillers were turning out 900,000 gallons of high-proof spirits. In 1940 this was multiplied ten times to 9,000,000 gallons. In 1941 they made 19,600,000 gallons, and that jumped to 53,900,000 gallons in 1942. In the fiscal year of 1943, following the 100% conversion of the industry on October 8, 1942, the output of high-proof spirits for wartime needs leaped to 152,000,000 gallons.

Today beverage distillers are turning out about half of the war alcohol output, the total of which is expected to amount to 500,000,000 gallons in the twelve months that will end June 30, 1944.

And, not all of the alcohol produced goes into the manufacture of war-time gun powder. About half of the total amount will go toward the making of synthetic rubber next year. Then it is also needed in the chemical industry which has grown so rapidly in wartime.

So, please remember that the beverage distillers are doing the best they can to supply you out of their accumulated reserve whiskey stocks—in moderation—through the package store, and through the dispenser. And distillers are continuing to advertise their brands, informatively, to keep their names alive . . . because they're proud of them . . . so that you won't forget them in the happier days to come, when there will be adequate supplies.

And just one more thing to remember; the price of good whiskey, itself, has not gone up. You are paying more, because of the tax increase . . . to help finance the war.

FIGHTERS GRAB FURLOUGH JOBS TO WIN THE WAR

Many soldiers, sailors, and marines in Chicago on furlough are taking temporary jobs for reasons that range from a patriotic desire to give the war effort an extra hand to the necessity of getting some pocket money. In February, 1,339 of them got jobs for periods of from two to 10 days.

The men were placed by Miss Carol Barnes of the war man power commission's employment service, stationed in the service center at 176 Washington st. Employers have reported to Miss Barnes that the service men cause civilian employes to work harder.

"One young soldier from Virginia wasn't interested in what the job would pay," she said. "He had $175. He had a brother in Africa and another in the Solomons, and wanted to help win the war in his 10 day furlough. Others are broke, and want to earn spending money. Some want money to buy gifts for their folks."

CORN BELT DEAF TO BLEATINGS OF WORLD STATERS

Cowles Family and Adler Have Little Weight.

BY FRANK HUGHES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 1.—The cause of internationalism has a group of ardent tho singularly ineffective supporters in the corn belt, the chief totem of which is the Cowles family, publishers of newspapers in Iowa and Minnesota and owners of the weak but lustful picture magazine, Look. Esquire magazine has been denied second class mailing privileges because of its allegedly immoral portrayal of the female form, but the Cowles alliance with the New Deal protects Look.

The Cowles brothers, sons of Gardner Cowles Sr., an Algona, Ia., banker who brought his money to Des Moines in the latter part of the last century and invested in the old Iowa State Register run by his friend and fellow townsman, Harvey Ingham, have two strings to their internationalist bow. They champion Wendell Willkie for President and are equally fond of Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota, now a lieutenant commander in the navy. Stassen's friends have launched his candidacy for the Republican nomination for President.

Zoot Suit Internationalist.

Stassen is a zoot suit internationalist all the way, with a super-state shape, world parliament cuffs, international police force pleats, and a world court drape. John Cowles, the elder brother who bought up several newspaper properties in Minneapolis, was instrumental in bringing Willkie and Stassen together in 1940. In the early spring of that year, Gov. Stassen invited all the candidates for Republican nomination for President to speak in Minnesota. When Willkie became a candidate, Cowles asked Stassen to extend the invitation to him. Stassen refused, saying Minnesotans would not be interested in listening to a Wall street utility magnate.

Stassen was persuaded to meet Willkie. Stassen did so, wound up by inviting Willkie to Minnesota, and eventually became floor manager for Willkie in the Philadelphia convention and the convention keynoter. After Willkie's defeat at the polls, John Cowles accompanied Willkie on a tour of England, returning with an account of the British at war calculated to inspire sympathy for them and further the cause of American intervention. John Cowles later served as assistant to Edward Stettinius when he was a lend-lease administrator. Stettinius since has been appointed by President Roosevelt to succeed Sumner Welles as undersecretary of state.

Brother in Caravan.

The younger Cowles brother, Gardner [Mike] Jr., also travels in the Willkie caravan, physically as well as politically. In the summer of 1942, Mike Cowles, who was then director of the domestic division of the office of war information by Roosevelt appointment, accompanied Willkie on his globe girdling tour in an army bomber placed at their disposal at public expense by President Roosevelt. Cowles is credited with a considerable part of the authorship of Willkie's book, "One World," describing their journey and propagandizing internationalism.

After their return, Mike made a speech in which he said that he could see no possible means of building "a worthwhile peace" unless Americans make an effort to understand Russia and Russia's place in the post-war world.

"Much of the problem seems to be here at home, not over there," he said. "We have learned the United States cannot isolate itself and have military safety. We have yet to learn that we cannot isolate ourselves economically and politically and have prosperity and freedom." Mike resigned from his Roosevelt appointment to the OWI recently to take up cudgels for Willkie's 1944 Republican Presidential candidacy.

Booster of "Union Now."

The younger Cowles is an eager exponent of Clarence Streit's "Union Now" of the United States, the British empire, and other allied nations, and was a leading signer of a petition to President Roosevelt on Dec. 18, 1941, "to submit to congress a program for forming a powerful union of free peoples to win the war, the peace, and the future." The petition proposed that "this program unite our people on the broad lines of our Constitution, with the people of Canada, the United Kingdom, Eire, Australia, New Zealand, and the Union of South Africa, together with such other free peoples, both in the old world and the new, as may be found ready and able to unite on this federal basis."

Mike Cowles and his fellow petitioners, including Secretary Ickes and Justice Roberts of the Supreme court, said that the plans "assure the American people a majority in the union congress at the start."

Rep. Hoffman [R., Mich.] made a speech in the house on this petition, which he entitled, "Don't Haul Down the Stars and Stripes." Rep. Hoffman was accused by the internationalist smear brigade of calling President Roosevelt a Judas. Rising to a question of personal privilege, the congressman showed that his words—"a Judaslike betrayal"—referred not to the President, but to Cowles, Ickes, Roberts, and other signers of this petition "to repudiate our own independence, surrender our existence as an independent nation, and become a part of the United States of the world."

Bush League Member.

A bush league purveyor of internationalism and claquer for Roosevelt and Willkie is Emanuel P. Adler, owner of the so-called Lee syndicate of 10 newspapers—the Davenport Times and the Davenport Democrat and Leader, the Ottumwa Courier, the Muscatine Journal, and the Mason City Globe-Gazette in Iowa; the Wisconsin State-Journal of Madison, the LaCrosse Tribune and Leader Press in Wisconsin; the Hannibal Courier-Post in Missouri; the Kewanee Star-Courier in Illinois, and the Lincoln Star in Nebraska.

In Davenport, his home, Adler works both sides of the street and makes it pay. The Times is intensely Republican. The Democrat and Leader is just as intensely Democratic. In the 1936 Presidential campaign, all the employes of the Times wore Landon buttons and all the employes of the Democrat and Leader, Roosevelt buttons. The same photographer made pictures for both papers, and when he covered Mr. Roosevelt's campaign appearance at Clinton, Ia., he shot a picture from a low angle for the Times, showing perspiration stains under the Presidential armpits, and made another more flattering high-angle picture for the Democrat and Leader. It is extremely doubtful that the Davenport newspaper readers, who know all about this set-up, were fooled.

Iowa Immune to Bleats.

Iowa, the home of the Cowles and Adler newspaper dynasties, seems singularly immune to the political trumpetings of this foreign minded fraternity. The Cowles newspapers in Des Moines have tried, time after time, to inflict political candidates on the Iowa voters by devoting columns to their outgivings and eulogies to their character only to discover that the farmers and city dwellers in their prosperous state apparently have minds of their own. Local politicians in Des Moines, which has a five man, nonpartisan aldermanic council, regard an indorsement by the Cowles Register and Tribune as a kiss of death.

Adler, whose outpourings of internationalism have earned him an anti-American tag, has known less political pulling power. He supported Mark G. Thornburg, long time Republican state secretary of agriculture, against Gov. George A. Wilson in the 1942 Republican senatorial primary. Wilson won in a walk and after the primary Adler's Davenport Democrat and Leader said that Wilson would be defeated in the election more easily by Sen. Clyde L. Herring, the Democratic incumbent, than Thornburg would have been. Wilson won overwhelmingly.

Saw Wilson "on Limb."

"Herring," said the Adler paper, "steadfastly displayed loyalty to his party's chief, Franklin D. Roosevelt. Wilson ignored policies of his party's titular head, Wendell Willkie.

Newspaper readers in Davenport who want to know what Mr. Adler really thinks will have to discount this Democratic editorial against what his "Republican" newspaper in the same city had to say, recalling meanwhile the flattering and unflattering views his photographer made of Mr. Roosevelt back in 1936 in a venal attempt to suit their tastes.

Aids Party Rally

Mrs. Dorothy Vredenburgh, new Democratic national committee secretary, as she visited Chicago yesterday to aid in convention plans.

A young matron from the deep south whose interest in exquisitely executed needlepoint is only slightly exceeded by her interest in politics arrived in Chicago yesterday to begin her duties as the first woman ever named secretary of the Democratic national committee.

She is slender, blue eyed Mrs. Dorothy McElroy Vredenburgh, 27, attractive wife of Peter Vredenburgh III., wealthy Alabama lumberman whose home is the Alabama town of 500 named for the family. She succeeds George E. Allen, recently resigned.

At temporary committee headquarters in suite 809 of the Blackstone hotel, Mrs. Vredenburgh described herself as "thrilled to the toes" at the appointment which she called "a complete surprise."

She is here to confer with Ambrose O'Connell, executive vice chairman of the national committee, and to assist in investigating room facilities and the Stadium setup for the national convention opening here July 19. Mrs. Vredenburgh said she expected to be here for the rest of the week.

The new appointment is Mrs. Vredenburgh's second political one in less than a year. She became national vice president of the Young Democratic Clubs of America—an organization of 4 million men and women of 21 to 40—last August. She will continue in that position.

Raider Married

[Acme Telephoto.]

Lt. Col. E. F. Carlson, head of marine raiders, and his bride, the former Mrs. Peggy Tatum Whyte.

San Diego, Cal., March 1 (AP).—The marriage of Lt. Col. Evans Fordyce Carlson, Plymouth, Conn., leader of Carlson's marine raiders, famed in Pacific warfare, and Mrs. Peggy Tatum Whyte of La Jolla, Cal., was announced today by the bride's sister, Miss Nancy Tatum.

The ceremony was performed yesterday in the Union Congregational church, La Jolla, with the Rev. William Forshaw officiating. The wedding was attended only by immediate relatives.

It was Carlson's third marriage and his bride's second. She is the mother of an 8 year old son by her former marriage. Carlson gave his age as 48 and his fiancee listed hers as 31. Carlson has a son who is a marine corps major.

The famed raider, who holds three navy crosses, participated in the recent attack on the Marshall Islands.

TAX VETO VOTES SHOW MACHINES STOOD BY F.D.R.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 1.—New Dealers today were stunned by an analysis of the vote on President Roosevelt's unsuccessful veto of the tax bill.

The analysis showed that 64 of the Democratic 89 votes cast in the house in support of the President came from machine dominated industrial areas. In the senate 4 of 14 supporting votes came from machine ridden states.

The analysis further showed that the swing away from the President in the deep south, which has gravely concerned the New Dealers, is most serious. Only two representatives and two senators from traditional Democratic territory in the deep south voted to support the chief executive.

Gloom Drapes New Deal.

The survey of the tax veto was being studied as New Dealers were mantled in gloom over the outcome of New York City's special congressional election, where the Democratic candidate won by the narrow margin of 1,531 votes in a district which returned a New Deal majority of 29,792 votes in 1942 and 80,570 in 1936.

The New York election was considered particularly significant because two of the election districts in the congressional district which elected James H. Torrens, Democrat, over former Congressman William S. Bennett, Republican, are largely populated by Negroes, who are also reported to be deserting the New Deal and returning to the Republican party. The two Negro districts went Republican.

On the tax veto, which was overridden by the house by a vote of 299 to 95, Mr. Roosevelt was supported by 89 Democrats. Only two of these—Representatives Flanagan [Va.] and Tarver [Ga.] were from the deep south.

Tammany Delivers.

Sixty-four Democratic votes came from machine controled areas. Tammany and its allies contributed 16 votes from New York City. Mayor Kelly of Chicago delivered six votes. Sen. Guffey's Pennsylvania Democratic machine delivered 13 votes.

Boss Crump of Memphis delivered seven votes. Boss Hague of New Jersey delivered three votes. The Detroit machine gave five; the Missouri machine of Democratic Chairman Hannegan, two; Ohio city machines, three; the Rhode Island machine, two, and the CIO machine in California, seven.

In the senate, Senators Green of Rhode Island, Meade and Wagner of New York and Guffey of Pennsylvania voted to support the President.

Continuance of Trend.

The results of the New York vote were regarded as a continuance of the trend against the New Deal and an indication of Republican victory in November.

"The Republicans have gone from 33 per cent of the vote in 1942 to 47 or 48 per cent of the vote in yesterday's election in the typical district controled by the Tammany organization," said Chairman Spangler of the Republican national committee.

"That sort of gain in New York City would indicate a landslide for the Republicans in November."

The district has been Democratic for 21 years.

The American Labor party vote swung the New York election. Torrens polled only 8,481 Democratic votes and 3,226 American Labor party votes to get a total of 11,707 over Bennett's 10,176.

OPA SAYS RATION LAW APPLIES TO CANADIAN MEAT

Points to Be Demanded at the Border.

American citizens will not be allowed to buy any of the surplus meat in Canada without surrendering ration points when the food is brought across the border, the office of price administration said yesterday. Canada's surplus has grown to such proportions that the Canadian war time prices and trade board has abandoned rationing temporarily.

Rae E. Walters, regional OPA administrator here, said he did not think it would be fair to allow Americans having more money or living close to the border to purchase meat in Canada without giving up points. The United States, he said, started rationing meat last March 29, two months before Canada, and will not change its regulations.

Canadian Surplus Decried.

An OPA statement said the Canadian surplus was not enough to bother about in this country, because "Canada doesn't produce enough meat even to feed our army or New York state." Canada reported it had 102 million pounds of meat in storage, less than one-tenth of that in the United States.

He said United States civilians will eat more meat in the first three months this year than in any like period in history, "and could buy much more if it were available."

Detroit Keeps Bars Up.

Martin R. Bradley, customs collector at Detroit, said his men would continue to collect points from shoppers buying meat in border towns. He said there was little evidence of meat smuggling.

Chicago live stock men said they were awaiting action by J. G. Gardiner, Canadian agriculture minister, who was reported to have told the Western Canada Beef Producers' council he would permit shipment of animals to the United States "to remove the glut of cattle in the western Canadian market."

The OPA announcement disclosed there was "nearly enough pork in United States freezers to justify removal of pork from rationing," but that there was a shortage of all other meats. If pork were removed from the list, it said, consumers would spend all their points for other meats, and make the shortage worse.

Pork Rationing Up to WFA.

As to whether mounting supplies in this country will result in suspension of rationing of pork, the OPA deferred to the war food administration, which determines how much shall be allocated to civilian use after the army, navy, and lend-lease have been satisfied. The WFA guessed wrong on this winter's slaughter, the OPA said in a Washington announcement, which was 20 to 30 per cent above WFA estimates.

The Chicago area OPA office announced it would investigate charges made by one of its Washington office's executives that Chicago housewives are paying 10.5 per cent above OPA ceilings for their meat. Joel H. Thornton, chief of the food trade regulation section, also told a meeting of butchers here Tuesday evening that only 12 to 15 per cent of stores surveyed were complying with OPA regulations.

John A. Kotal, executive secretary of the National Association of Retail Meat Dealers, said his organization had demanded cessation of all meat rationing. E. O. Pollack, regional head of the WFA, said that would be "impossible."

INVALID COUPONS CUT DELIVERIES TO GAS DEALERS

Invalid gasoline coupons covering several hundred thousand gallons have been returned by distributors to filling stations in Chicago and the latter's deliveries reduced by the amount of the illegal tickets, the office of price administration said yesterday.

Paul A. H. Shults, area director, refused to reveal any names, but said 24 out of 25 distributors that his office investigated had taken action against their operator-customers. As a result, each station is on a quota, and on each delivery must turn in sufficient coupons to cover the amount it receives.

Shults said counterfeit, unendorsed and wrong-period coupons were among those found invalid, and that station operators would be required to make good for the illegal tickets or suffer corresponding cuts in inventories. Notices of the action were mailed to the operators and to 60 banks handling gasoline ration coupons accounts, he said.

The Chicago metropolitan area is allotted 35,442 passenger car tires for March, or about 1 per cent less than the allotment of 35,770 for February, Paul A. H. Shults, acting area OPA director, said. The March truck allotment provides 5,293 tires, an increase of 651, or about 1.4 per cent, over the February quota.

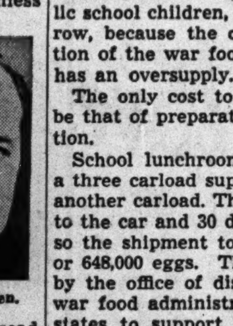
Bread Rationing Predicted; Give Pupils 3 Cars of Eggs

Blames OPA, WFA

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 1.—Bread rationing is inevitable unless the office of price administration and the war food administration act at once to get grain and live stock prices back into balance, Philip R. O'Brien, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, told a senate investigating committee today.



Philip R. O'Brien.

O'Brien said our finest bread grains are going into hog troughs and alcohol production at such an alarming rate "it makes me heartsick."

Yet, he declared, neither the OPA nor WFA has done anything "to rectify the glaring errors in their policies" that got the prices out of balance and caused the nation to face now a situation in which wholesale liquidation of live stock may become necessary.

Nothing Done to Remedy It.

"I don't like to be an alarmist," O'Brien told the senate agriculture food supplies subcommittee, "but I am alarmed by our present grain situation. I am more alarmed that no one here is doing anything constructive to remedy the situation.

"The inescapable fact is that we are draining our wheat reserves at an alarming rate. We cannot continue that rate and not face the necessity of bread rationing."

O'Brien said wheat consumption this year is expected to exceed production by 350 million bushels—half a normal year's consumption.

O'Brien said he believed the quickest and simplest way to get grain and live stock prices back into balance would be to boost the ceiling price on corn to $1.45 a bushel at Chicago. This would make feeding of corn to hogs less profitable, he said, thus reducing consumption for that purpose.

OPA Won't Raise Price.

He said if the hog raisers cut their corn consumption, there would be corn for the dairy and poultry men who are now feeding wheat as a corn supplement, and the wheat they have been using would be available for human consumption.

J. F. Carroll, director of the food price division of OPA, who followed O'Brien before the committee, said OPA has no intention of changing the price of corn. He replied to O'Brien's attack on the competence of the OPA economists who fix food prices with a statement that OPA is now staffed with "topnotch business men."

Walter Berger, chief of the feed and live stock branch of WFA, told the committee WFA was trying to get farmers to reduce live stock and poultry production to conserve grain.

No Actual Scarcity

Eggs that were so scarce as to send the price to around 51 cents in retail stores yesterday will be distributed free to 70,000 Chicago public school children, beginning tomorrow, because the office of distribution of the war food administration has an oversupply.

The only cost to the schools will be that of preparation and distribution.

School lunchrooms have received a three carload supply and may get another carload. There are 600 cases to the car and 30 dozen to the case, so the shipment totals 54,000 dozen or 648,000 eggs. They were bought by the office of distribution of the war food administration in eastern states to support the market and were shipped here from New York, a spokesman at the war office here reported.

Will Be Available 3 Days.

Free eggs will be available at least three days, F. O. Washam, lunchroom director said. Some will be used in regular cooking in lunchrooms and the rest will be sent to the 229 schools which do not have lunch programs, but do supply milk to pupils.

The schools are one of the public agencies certified by the Illinois public aid commission to receive the surplus foods.

Must Be Disposed of Quickly.

Fresh shell eggs, which these are, will not keep long and must be disposed of quickly, preferably, Washam said, thru noncommercial channels—in order not to disrupt price ceiling regulations. If eggs are scarce on the market, they will thus remain scarce.

The eggs will not be hard boiled, said a dietition in Washam's office, because hard boiled eggs are not easily digested. Rather they will be hard cooked, by a slow process, which is regarded as dietetically proper.

LOSES BET; EATS A SOFT PIE WITH HIS HANDS TIED

The 1,500 children who enrolled in the Safety Legion of America in a single day recently may not have known it but they were making it necessary for John Holbrook, radio announcer, to eat a chocolate pie without benefit of hands.

Holbrook ate the pie yesterday, and a messy affair it was, too. His hands were tied behind his back which narrowed his choice of implements to his face.

Holbrook, who announces the Safety Legion Time show over W-G-N, had bet Colleen Moore, former movie actress, and Jess Kirkpatrick, stars of the radio show, that they couldn't enlist 1,500 children in a day. He lost the bet, and the pie eating was the payoff.

CUT FRESH PEAS 5C PER POUND; BEANS, EGGS OFF

Peas, beans, and eggs will be lower in price today under the weekly fresh produce ceilings announced yesterday by Paul A. H. Shults, area director of the office of price administration.

Peas are reduced 5 cents a pound to 17 cents; wax and green beans, 1 cent to 21, and eggs, 1 cent to a range of 38 to 51 cents.

Apples are increased ½ cent a pound; grapefruit and cabbage, 1 cent; carrots, 2 cents a bunch; lettuce, 1 and 2 cents a head; onions, ⅛ cent a pound; spinach, 3 cents, and tomatoes, 2 cents.

STATE EXHIBITS TORN UP NOTES IN NOXON TRIAL

Says They Tell Details of Baby Murder.

Pittsfield, Mass., March 1 (AP).—Scraps of notes pieced together, which the commonwealth charges were written by John F. Noxon Jr., and which included such phrases as "I suppose I had a motive," were read to a jury today in Noxon's murder trial on the charge that he electrocuted his 6 month old mentally deficient child.

State Police Detective John Horgan testified he found the scraps of paper in a waste basket in the master bedroom of Noxon's home.

Holding the notes in transparent envelopes, District Atty. Charles R. Alberti said the commonwealth would prove they were in Noxon's handwriting. He read from them:

". . . I put baby on floor before I went out—I put him on tray—he was wet—tray and cord [an electric light extension] . . . next to each other. . . ."

Notes Mention Motive.

Another restored sheet of notes read:

"Would have picked a different time—would not have told about tray—would not have destroyed cord—a final ground was needed—why did I tell about it—no one would have known—cord might have been defective in several places so that several charges entered—

"Insulation will break if cord is twisted in hand—cord in garage—door open day and night—hanging from pipe—extension squeezed up between pipes and ceiling—diapers wet—think cord twisted around baby's arm—S. talked about motive—I suppose I had a motive——"

Opposed to Institution.

Noxon, wealthy 47 year old corporation lawyer, earlier had been quoted as telling investigators that he'd "be damned" if he would have his child in an institution.

Miss Mary A. Bristol, retired court stenographer, reading from her notes of police interviews with Noxon after the child's death last Sept. 22, quoted Noxon in a denial that a doctor had termed the child's death an "act of mercy."

"I told you 20 times that this was an accident," Noxon reportedly told the police questioners.

Couldn't Kill Baby."

"I couldn't kill my own baby, and that's true," the transcription quoted him as saying.

Among the articles of furniture taken from the Noxon book room and marked as exhibits was the large silver tray on which the baby allegedly was placed.

On the witness stand when court adjourned until tomorrow was Police Capt. Camille Marcel, who quoted Noxon as having said that he burned the light cord in an incinerator in the basement.

Eight Sentenced to Die at Camp Brutality Trial

New York, March 1 (AP).—Eight of 11 French officers and noncommissioned officers on trial at Algiers on charges of mistreating prisoners in North African concentration camps have been convicted and sentenced to death, the British radio said tonight in a broadcast recorded here.

At Sanity Hearing

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Marie Shaffer and her father, Martin Verhagen, at sanity hearing for her husband, John, accused of killing stepdaughter. Jury found him sane.

10 WOMEN NAMED TO JURY IN TRIAL OF MRS. MERKEL

Two men and 10 women were selected yesterday in the Criminal court of Judge Francis B. Allegretti to hear the manslaughter case of Mrs. Mildred Merkel, 23, of 2133 North av., who is accused of beating her 2 year old daughter, Claire, to death with a poker on Jan. 3.

Without makeup and wearing a purple dress, Mrs. Merkel calmly listened to her lawyer, Charles A. Bellows, question prospective jurors concerning their attitude toward the defense's plea of "temporary epileptic insanity."

Testimony will begin this morning.

SHAFFER FOUND SANE IN KILLING OF STEPCHILD, 5

After listening to a day of testimony that John W. Shaffer, 28, accused of the flogging murder of his stepdaughter, Lettie Joyce Weir, 5, is insane, a jury of eight women and four men surprised Chief Justice Benjamin P. Epstein yesterday by returning a verdict that Shaffer is sane.

Judge Epstein said he was compelled to enter the verdict, but added: "I believe the case called for a directed judgment of insanity." He then observed that it was the first time in his memory that a jury "had decided wholly to ignore the testimony." He permitted Shaffer's lawyer, Harold L. Levy, to make a motion for a new sanity trial. It will be heard March 13.

Testimony that Shaffer has been insane since he was incarcerated last fall was offered by Dr. Harold S. Hulbert, who said his findings were based on an examination made Monday night.

Test by State Opposed.

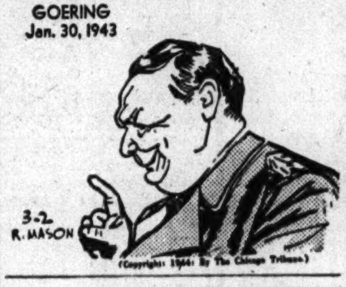
Under the law a state alienist could not examine Shaffer unless his counsel consented, and Levy objected. However, Julius Sherwin, an assistant state's attorney, called Dr. William H. Haines of the Cook county behavior clinic as a state's witness. Dr. Haines had observed Shaffer and reported he was "not commitable as insane."

Dr. Hulbert, describing Shaffer as "morose and unhappy," said he did not believe Shaffer was faking.

Oh, Yeah?

"So Many Obstacles Fell Away that the Russians Succeeded in Penetrating Here and There. But I Am Convinced This Is Their Last Fling and Their Last Reserve"

GOERING
Jan. 30, 1943



(Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.)

Dr. Haines said he could give no opinion because his findings had been based on observation only. He said Shaffer could be faking insanity.

Judge Suggests Course.

Judge Epstein suggested that Dr. Haines be permitted to watch Dr. Hulbert examine the defendant to enable him to express an opinion on Shaffer's sanity.

In support of a claim that Shaffer's insanity was hereditary, his father, Homer R. Shaffer, testified that his mother had died in an insane asylum and that his grandfather had hanged himself.

Printing Plant Worker Seized in Check Fraud

A fraudulent check for $40 cashed in a tavern, Tuesday, brought about the arrest, yesterday, of August Taylor, 48, of 1254 N. Dearborn st., a machinist, who police said, confessed obtaining employment in a printing plant so he could steal blank checks printed there. Capt. John O'Malley of the Hudson av. police said five complaints over checks ranging between $40 and $50 had been signed against Taylor.

THERMIT BOWLS OVER BRIDGE IN ONLY 25 SECONDS

A 1,200 ton steel traveling crane bridge which in 1912 required a year to build was destroyed yesterday in 25 seconds by the use of thermit, a powder developed for incendiary bombs which generates a temperature of 6,000 degrees in a few seconds.

The bridge, the property of the Interlake Iron corporation, 112th st. and Torrence av., was 300 feet long, 80 feet high, and 30 feet wide. It was formerly used to transport coal from lake barges to a coal dump, but has been out of service for a year and a half. The wrecking was done by the Speedway Wrecking company, which will salvage the steel as scrap.

The demolition was accomplished by building thermit furnaces around four of the eight columns supporting the bridge. The thermit was ignited by an electric spark, melting thru the steel legs in 25 seconds: The bridge then bent slowly to the ground in a cloud of coal dust.

TRIAL WILL COST MRS. DILLING $25,000, SHE SAYS

Notified she faces trial in Washington, D. C., March 20 on a federal indictment charging conspiracy with 29 others to establish a nazi government in the United States, Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling said yesterday she is without an attorney and faces expenditure of $25,000 or more to defend herself.

"Prosecutor O. John Rogge announced the government has 100 witnesses," the authoress said. "Attorneys tell me this may mean a trial of 100 days. The expense of such a protracted trial, I am told, would be between $25,000 and $30,000.

"I haven't the money and I don't know where I am going to get it. Friends helped me raise the $3,500 this persecution already has cost me. The attorneys I have had so far were retained only for preliminaries and will be unable to attend the trial."

"I STOPPED DOSING MY CONSTIPATION A YEAR AGO!"

Says Happy KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN User

If you are still dosing your constipation, don't fail to read this unsolicited letter!

"I'd been troubled with common constipation for years. Tried many kinds of medicines for it. Then, just about a year ago, I tried KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. I ate it regularly, without missing a day. It helped so much, I have not taken one dose of medicine for constipation since, nor have I confined myself to any diet!" Mr. S. P. Loebe, Charleston, Missouri.

Sounds like magic, doesn't it? But, scientists say, KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN can really "get at" a common cause of constipation — lack of dietary "cellulosic" elements—because it is one of Nature's most effective sources of these elements! They help the friendly colonic flora fluff up and prepare the colonic contents for easy elimination. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative! Doesn't "sweep you out"! It's a gentle-acting, "regulating" food!

If you have constipation of this kind, eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, or several ALL-BRAN muffins regularly. Drink plenty of water, too. See if you don't find real relief. Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

REPORT LEPKE TALKS! BARES CRIMINAL PLOT

Death Cell Statement Told to Dewey Aid.

cash. Costello is the same power who last fall received from Supreme Court Justice Thomas A. Aurelio a pledge of "undying loyalty" for Costello's aid in putting him on the high bench.

Yields with Reluctance.

It was with reluctance that Lepke yielded at last to the pleas of his friends and his family to make the statement. For weeks since he has been a prisoner in the death house he had refused to violate the code by which he had lived.

Lepke has now answered the widespread speculation as to whether he would talk or whether he would go to the chair with his secrets sealed behind his lips.

That speculation started as far back as 1940 when Lepke, riding a transcontinental train on his way to prison at Leavenworth, Kas., hinted at the new revelations.

"If I would talk," he then muttered, "a lot of big people would get hurt."

LIFE HEAVILY INSURED

New York, March 1 (AP).—Louis [Lepke] Buchalter, whose execution is set for tomorrow night, has been insured for $1,600,000, it was said today.

A former intimate of Lepke said the gangster not only was insured for $1,600,000, but also had put aside a fortune before the law hung an out-of-business sign on his underworld cartel, which fattened off the garment industry by extortion, backed by threats and violence.

What companies might have insured Lepke was not disclosed by the informant, whose name authorities requested be withheld.

29 Year Police Record.

An insurance executive said "at best Lepke has been a substandard risk."

But how Lepke actually might have obtained insurance without the companies' realizing the risk, was suggested in his 29 year police record. Most of his arrests—on robbery, burglary, grand larceny, and extortion charges — were registered under the aliases, Kauvar, Cohen, Buckhouse or Buckhaus.

The King's county district attorney's office said Lepke apparently lived a model life at home, under his real name of Buchalter and until late in the last decade received little notoriety.

Lepke's wife, Mrs. Betty Buchalter, is the mother of a 20 year old son by a previous marriage. Lepke has legally adopted him. It could not be learned, however, who Lepke has named as beneficiary in any insurance policies.

COP AND BONDSMAN REPORTED INDICTED FOR HOAX ON COURT

William Katelhut, suspended park district policeman, and John H. Coleman, Negro professional bondsman, were reported yesterday to have been named in a grand jury true bill charging them with conspiracy to obstruct justice by sending a Negro into court as a substitute defendant for a white ex-banker.

The ex-banker, E. R. Morgan, then living in the Hyde Park hotel, was arrested July 26 on a disorderly conduct complaint made by two girls. An unidentified Negro appeared in Morgan's stead before Judge Leon Edelman, but the deception was exposed by the Chicago Crime commission.

Morgan, who moved to Washington, D. C., after forfeiting a bond in the case, told investigators that the policeman and bondsman arranged the substitution because he was merely taking a sun bath on a south side beach. Katelhut and Coleman were sentenced for contempt of court. Their appeals are pending.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, March 1.—The Costa Rican congress, following the scrutiny of electoral votes in the presidential election, declared Teodoro Picado the constitutional president of the republic for a four year period from 1944 to 1948. Picado will take office on May 8.

BRITONS DIFFER ON POST-WAR AIR LANES' CONTROL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 1.—Two contradictory viewpoints regarding Britain's part in world affairs were emphasized in yesterday's debate in parliament and reiterated in today's newspapers. The dispute is whether Britain should participate in an internationally owned and operated civil aviation pool or set up government controlled and subsidized services in competition with other nations.

The Conservatives favor competition, subject to some form of international coöperation, while the Laborites want an out and out internationalization.

The Labor organ Daily Herald urged not only aviation but all communications, postal, telegraph, cable, railroads, and shipping should be "brought under firm international control."

The Daily Telegraph, stating the Conservative viewpoint, said altho there has been delay in "exploring the matter further in concert with the United States and the dominions," there was "no danger of the government overlooking the importance of civil aviation to this country and the world."

RADIO STATION WJJD IS SOLD TO MARSHALL FIELD

A deal transferring ownership of station WJJD from a company headed by Ralph L. Atlass to Marshall Field III., subject to approval by the federal communications commission, was concluded yesterday. A statement issued from Atlass' office disclosed that Field had concluded negotiations to purchase the outstanding capital stock of WJJD, Inc., licensee of the station. Field was unavailable for comment.

Principal stockholders, the statement said, are Ralph Atlass; his brother, Leslie Atlass, vice president of the Columbia Broadcasting system, which owns and operates WBBM, and Philip K. Wrigley.

Field's Second Radio Venture.

If the transfer is approved by the FCC, this will be Field's second venture into the radio field in Chicago. In 1942, he acquired a minority interest in WHIP, owned by the Hammond Calumet Broadcasting corporation. John W. Clarke, head of an investment company, obtained a controling interest. Clarke changed the call letters to WJWC.

On Feb. 6, 1943, the operators of WJWC gave up their license because of "constant and regular operating losses."

Former Order of Moose Station.

Atlass has been chief executive of WJJD and of WIND, the latter operating in Gary and Chicago. An FCC ruling imposed last fall prohibits dual ownership of standard broadcasting stations whose primary service areas overlap.

WJJD, prior its acquisition by Atlass, was owned by the Loyal Order of Moose. It owes its call letters to Sen. James J. Davis [R., Pa.], who was president of the Moose organization. It is not permitted to operate at night to prevent interference with a station in Salt Lake City, Utah.

SUGGESTED TEST.

Miss Paradine had been too pale before to lose any color now. There was no measurable change or movement, but there was a dreadful effect of tension, of the lack of movement being due not to weakness, but to implacable control.

Miss Silver's cough came into the silence. She leaned forward and spoke down the table to Elliot Wray.

"Mr. Wray—if I may make the suggestion—there is no need for Mrs. Wray to be here."

Grace Paradine moved. She looked where Miss Silver was looking and allowed her eyes to dwell upon the ashy face against Elliot's shoulder.

"Phyllida will stay."

Elliot bent. Phyllida shook her head.

Grace Paradine said, "Since she has heard this monstrous accusation, I should like her to hear me answer it."

Thru the giddiness which hung round her like a mist Phyllida could hear him warning her. The words that had been said to Albert Pearson were being said again—"anything you may say . . . taken down and used against you. . . ." She coudn't see any one's face. She let her head rest against Elliot's shoulder and felt his arm hold her up.

Miss Paradine listened composedly to the formal words. Then she said.

"Thank you, superintendent. I am naturally most anxious to do anything I can to clear this matter up. I should have thought that such an accusation, coming from one who admits his own presence—"

Mr. Harrison, sitting beside her, leaned forward and said something in a low voice. She did not turn towards him, but made a slight negative movement with her head.

"Thank you—I very much prefer to speak. The accusation is, of course, fantastic. Mr. Pearson's motive seems obvious. He admits to a manufactured alibi. He admits to being present when my brother fell. I really don't know what more you want."

"There is another witness besides Mr. Pearson." Vyner turned abruptly. "Mr. Ambrose——"

"Well, Frank, it seems to rest with you. You can dispose of all this in a moment."

Their eyes met. There was command in hers. No anger now, no violence—a calm and smiling demand. It was the most horrible moment of his life. With that smiling glance on his, he couldn't do it. The thing called justice, the thing called crime, the inevitable link between them—the dead man whom he loved more than most sons have loved a father, the stubborn core of his nature which would yield no farther — these things constrained him. He withstood that smiling demand, and saw the smile burn out in anger.

"Come, Frank—we're all waiting for you. Since I wasn't there, you couldn't have seen me. You have only to say so."

He said: "I can't—"

The words dropped into the hush which waited for them. They had been said—they couldn't be taken back again.

Vyner said: "You recognized Miss Paradine?"

"Yes—" The word was only just audible.

Grace Paradine stood up.

"Just a moment, superintendent. I think I have the right to ask you to test this extraordinary allegation. Since my nephew says that he saw me come out of my sister-in-law's room, I must suppose that he honestly thinks so. I can prove that he is mistaken, and I would like the opportunity of doing so. But perhaps before we go any further some one will tell me what motive I am supposed to have had."

Vyner said, "There is a motive, Miss Paradine. When Mr. Paradine told you all that one of the family had betrayed its interests, he was alluding to the theft of Mr. Wray's blue prints. They were taken from his attache case some time late on Wednesday afternoon. They were put back on the corner of this table between 9 o'clock and 9:15—we have witnesses who can narrow the time down to that. You were the only one who had the opportunity of putting those blueprints back."

"That is quite fantastic. I really cannot be troubled to deal with it now. What I should like you to do is to test what Mr. Pearson and Mr. Ambrose have said. I suggest that we should go out upon the terrace—or rather that Mr. Ambrose should go out—and stand where he says that he was standing on Wednesday night. Mr. Pearson should be in the bathroom looking out of the window. I will come out of my sister-in-law's room, cross over to the parapet and return."

"What do you hope to prove by that, Miss Paradine? Since it is now broad daylight, the test is without any value at all. There should be, and will be, a test carried out after dark."

Grace Paradine smiled. It was the slight, almost involuntary smile of the hostess shepherding her guests. She said graciously:

"Of course you will carry out your own tests, superintendent, but I am sure you will not refuse me this one. It really will not take more than a moment, and I think that even by daylight I shall be able to show you that it was quite impossible that either Mr. Ambrose or Mr. Pearson should have seen the face of the person who came out of that bedroom."

Had she been a shade less assured in her manner Vyner might very well have refused.

"Very well, Miss Paradine, I won't say no. But to my mind there's no value in it."

Miss Silver had risen to her feet. She was looking after Grace Paradine, who had gone thru into the bedroom closely followed by the young constable.

Vyner said, "Come, Mr. Ambrose—we'd better get on with it."

As the two men moved together towards the glass door, Miss Silver opened her lips and then without speaking brought them quickly together again. Albert Pearson went out, presumably to take up his position at the bathroom window. Richard Paradine, Mr. Harrison, Mark, and Lydia had followed Vyner and Frank Ambrose to the terrace. The glass door remained open—Elliot and Phyllida just short of it.

Miss Silver came up with them, laid a hand on Elliot's arm, and said in a low, insistent voice, "Keep her here, Mr. Wray. Don't let her go out."

He looked around at her, startled by her manner.

ALL DEMOCRATS AT CONVENTION ASSURED ROOMS

Ambrose O'Connell, secretary of the Democratic national committee, came to Chicago yesterday to look after details of arranging for the convention, to be held in Chicago starting July 19. He met with William J. Hennessy, convention manager of the Chicago Asociation of Commerce, and was assured that the major problem of hotel space would be solved.

"This year for the first time," said O'Connell, "we have the added responsibility of finding rooms for press and radio workers. Every one in Chicago has been most coöperative."

Hennessy said that the association had seen to it that no other large gatherings would be held in Chicago at the time of the Democratic convention or the Republican, which meets June 26, and he believes the downtown hotels will be able to house convention visitors.

WILLKIE ENTERS NEBRASKA RACE FOR DELEGATES

Lincoln, Neb., March 1 [Special].—Wendell Willkie's name was entered today in the Nebraska Presidential preference primary election to be held April 11.

Willkie's only Republican opponent in the preference voting, according to petitions filed so far, will be Harold Stassen, former Minnesota governor and now a lieutenant commander in the navy. State Democratic Chairman William Schall filed President Roosevelt's name later in the day in accordance with recent state central committee action indorsing a fourth term.

Under Nebraska law delegates to party conventions are not bound by results of the preferential primary. A slate of candidates for Republican delegates is in the field in behalf of Gov. Dwight Griswold as a favorite son candidate.

CHARGES FAKED CONFESSION IN LONERGAN CASE

Defense Hits Statement Admitting Slaying.

New York, March 1 (AP).—A statement by Wayne Lonergan's counsel that he expected to prove that Lonergan's purported confession was "a fake" electrified today's session of the cafe society man's murder trial.

The prosecution's trump card has been its contention that Lonergan, 26, a former royal Canadian aircraftsman, admitted battering his millionaire wife, Patricia, 23, to death in her apartment bedroom last Oct. 24 because she refused to let him see their baby.

Edward V. Broderick, Lonergan's counsel, made his attack on the prosecution's case shortly before the second day of the trial ended with the first juror yet to be selected. The trial will continue tomorrow.

Calls Documents a Fake.

In questioning the last of the 11 veniremen who have been rejected by the prosecution, the defense, or by agreement, Broderick referred outright to the purported document as a fake confession. Responding to a shouted objection by Assistant District Atty. Jacob Grumet, Judge John J. Freschi ruled that the word "fake" be stricken out and permitted substitution of the word "alleged."

Broderick later was allowed to say he expected during the trial to show that the alleged confession was a fake confession.

The matter came up when Broderick attempted to determine whether veniremen would be offended if he summoned Grumet to the witness stand as a defense witness to describe circumstances surrounding the taking of Lonergan's statement.

Court Sustains Objection.

In another move Broderick asked a venireman whether he ever had heard, regardless of whether it was true, that Mrs. Lucille Burton, mother of the victim, once filed a suit against her husband naming a boy as co-respondent. Grumet's objection to the question was sustained by Judge Freschi.

The judge also sustained Grumet in an objection to Broderick's next question as to how the venireman would be inclined if such testimony did eventuate in the trial and if it were shown that Lonergan was not the boy.

Counsel Clash at Trial.

In a day packed with clashes between counsel, questions touching upon sexual abnormalities were asked in the trial for the first time.

Broderick wanted to know the veniremen's attitude toward this possible phase of the case—how it would affect their opinion of the defendant.

Broderick also questioned prospective jurors closely as to how they would feel if young police officers testified to what they had ascertained from Lonergan while posing as inmates of city prison.

BLAME 'VICTORY VERTIGO' AS U.S. AUTO TOLL RISES

Disclosing that 2,330 lives were lost in traffic accidents in the United States in January, a 30 per cent increase over the same month last year, the National Safety council yesterday warned that the nation "giddy with victor vertigo," is "wasting human life at a rate that should shame every patriotic American."

At the January death rate, the council estimated, the 1944 traffic death toll would approximate 30,000, as compared with 23,300 for 1943 and 39,969 in 1941, the last year in which travel was not limited by war time restrictions.

January was the fourth consecutive month with a greater death toll than the corresponding month the previous year, the council reported. The deaths were 18 per cent fewer than December, but the council estimated a 28 per cent drop would have been normal on the basis of seasonal variation alone. The toll was 18 per cent lower than the 1941 figure and 27 per cent less than in 1942.

North central states led the nation in the increase in deaths, with 56 per cent. Only the mountain states declined.

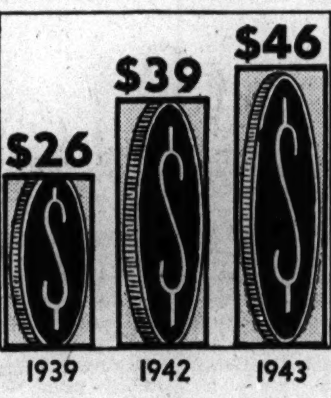
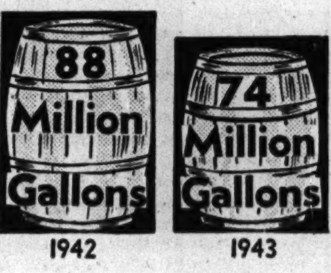
Liquor Bill Rises



How per capita expenditure for liquor has risen since 1939.



Liquor that Americans consumed in 1942 and 1943.

Washington, D. C., March 1 (AP).—Americans didn't get so much hard liquor last year but quenching their prodigious thirst for alcoholics cost them more than 6 billion dollars.

The commerce department, reporting this tonight, said the nation's 1943 drink bill was 17 per cent higher than that of 1942 and nearly 80 per cent above that of 1939.

On a per capita basis, the outlay for alcoholic beverages amounted to $46 last year for every man, woman, and child in the country, compared with $39 in 1942 and $26 in 1939.

Hard liquor consumption in 1943 was estimated at slightly under 74 million tax gallons, compared with 88 million gallons in 1942.

POLICE DISCOUNT MISSING FUR IN DRAKE MYSTERY

Chicago avenue police declined to become excited yesterday over a belated report that a $500 fur belonging to Mrs. Frank Starr Williams is missing. Mrs. Williams was fatally shot Jan. 19 in her room in the Drake hotel by an unidentified gunwoman.

Disappearance of the fur was disclosed by Mrs. Williams' daughter, Mrs. Patricia Goodbody, who was also fired upon by the gunwoman. Mrs. Goodbody said a thoro search had failed to yield the gun.

Capt. Frank Reynolds of the Chicago av. station, said no report of the fur's disappearance had ever been made to police and that he could not understand why it had not been reported earlier. Reynolds also said that all of Mrs. Williams' known possessions, except two gems, had been accounted for and turned over to the Northern Trust company shortly after the shooting. He indicated that the fur will not figure in the police inquiry.

Meanwhile, police are searching for three women, one of them with special interest, for questioning about the murder. The three it is said, were closely associated in their personal lives. They are said to have been acquainted with Mrs. Williams.

Asks Congress End Laws So: 'By God, We Mean It'

Washington, D. C., March 1 (AP).—Rep. Wolcott [R., Mich.] suggested at a congressional hearing today that every act passed by congress hereafter contain this footnote: "By God, we mean it!" Perhaps, he said, this might discourage government agencies from issuing directives which do not represent the intent of congress. Wolcott also proposed that all legislation be written in words of one or two syllables.

Montgomery Ward Plans to Appeal Libel Ruling

Stuart S. Ball, attorney for Montgomery Ward & Co., said yesterday he would appeal within 10 days Federal Judge John P. Barnes' dismissal of the mail order house's million dollar libel suit against the McGraw-Hill Publishing company. The suit charged Ward's had been defamed by publication of a report on its dispute with a union. The report was printed in McGraw-Hill's Business Week.

MacARTHUR'S VICTORY.

Gen. MacArthur's announcement that Americans under his command have forced a landing in the Admiralty Islands and seized the strategic air strip there was glorious news. The old master has done it again.

The Japanese still occupy nearly all of New Britain and all of New Ireland, but these positions are now a liability to them. The landing fields at Rabaul and Kavieng have been rendered useless and with them all or almost all of the Japanese planes available for their defense. The ports are tightly blockaded by sea and air. The Japanese can take supplies to their 50,000 soldiers marooned in the Bismarcks and the Solomons only at the greatest risk and in the small quantities that can be carried by submarine.

Gen. MacArthur can now direct his forces toward the Philippines, with assurance that the enemy will not be on his flank or in his rear. The campaign which has achieved this result is surely the most brilliant that this war has seen and it surely is destined to take its place in the textbooks as a military classic.

When Gen. MacArthur took over the command in the Southwest Pacific, the Japanese were warning the Australian government to get out of the war while the getting was good. The enemy was pushing across New Guinea, which guards the northern approaches to Australia. MacArthur's first effort was to halt the advance, a feat which he accomplished with hastily assembled forces within gunshot of the coast.

A less self-confident general might have abandoned New Guinea as hopeless and a less aggressive leader might have rested on his laurels. MacArthur chose to attack. He drove the enemy over the Stanley range and while doing so gave every encouragement to his air commander, Gen. Kenney, to devise the remarkable system of air transport which played so large a part in the victory.

The most remarkable aspect of the campaign is that it has been fought with a minimum of resources and with a minimum of casualties. MacArthur had to achieve by ingenuity and maneuver because he had nothing to spare for a war of attrition. His victories have, accordingly, seemed to be easy ones, but in fact they represent a triumph over an enemy force probably superior in numbers and certainly at the start of the campaign superior in resources and position. More than that, MacArthur has been conducting offensive operations at immense distances from the source of his military supplies and in a region where climate, terrain, and endemic diseases present unparalleled obstacles.

Gen. MacArthur must feel a great satisfaction at having turned the tables against his enemy. He has now done to the Japanese in the Bismarcks what they did to his little and ill-equipped army in the Philippines. He has shown such high skill and such a capacity for leadership in this campaign as to merit the command of all forces in the war against Japan. The American people can only wonder why this hasn't been given to him as the best means of bringing the war to a speedy conclusion.

THIS IS WHERE JOHN CAME IN.

John L. Lewis charged the other day that the CIO, his brain child that disowned him, is dominated by Communists and that its president, Philip Murray, and its political commissar, Sidney Hillman, are their "prisoners."

Mr. Lewis ought to know, since it was his baby. In fact, he proves his statement by confession.

"When I organized the CIO we picked up a lot of Communists in one unit after another as we grew—including Harry Bridges," he said. "But if I had not resigned the chairmanship and left the CIO in 1940, I can tell you the Communists would have been weeded out of the CIO long before now."

This is where John came in, just 20 years ago. It was in 1924 that he brought out a book attacking the Communists and warning the American labor movement that they would seize and destroy it if it permitted their infiltration.

Mr. Lewis was right then, and he is right today. It's too bad that he didn't remember his own advice in 1937, when his agents were signing up Commies by the hundreds as leaders and shock troops in the sitdown strikes. He thought he could use them and then get rid of them. Mr. Roosevelt may have had the same idea. But today the Communists occupy places of power in the CIO, and in the New Deal as well.

Mr. Lewis now says that if he had his way not a single Communist would belong to any labor union in the United States. There is sound ground for such policy, and it is not based on any dislike of the political principles of Communists, but on their attitude toward unions. They are not interested in labor organizations as labor organizations, but as instruments of political power. They have two goals: the advancement of the foreign policy of Russia and the creation of a Communist dictatorship in the United States. When they get the dictatorship they won't need the unions. They won't tolerate them, any more than free unions are tolerated in Russia.

THE CONSUMER LOSES AGAIN.

An additional shipment of 36,600,000 pounds of butter to Russia has been recommended to the war food administration by its butter advisory committee. This committee is composed of representatives of the major creamery interest in the middle west and New England.

The butter is part of the 130,000,000 pounds that have been hoarded in cold storage by the government. It was purchased on the representation that it was needed for military and lend-lease use. The government overbought and the hoard now becomes an embarrassment because the months of highest butter production are approaching. Until the butter in storage is disposed of the price of new butter may be depressed.

The Russians do not appear to have asked for this particular consignment. The creamery representatives on the WFA advisory committee want to give it to them to prevent the butter being sold in the United States. Their objective is to keep the price of butter high and reports from Washington indicate that the WFA will approve.

The consumers of the country have been the victims of a double pusharound. They first put up the taxes to buy the butter, which was taken off the market, inflicting scarcity on them. Now, when release of the excess supply might give American consumers adequate butter rations, the proposal is made to dump the butter elsewhere in order to support prices and the consumers are gypped again.

The situation would not have arisen but for the stupidity of the administration in overbuying, and to that stupidity it now seems on the verge of adding bad faith to the consumers by keeping the butter away from them in order to make them pay more for available supplies.

The plan is not only dishonest, it is economically unnecessary. There is a far greater demand for butter at present prices than can be met. The government hoard could be disposed of not by cutting prices but by lowering ration points demanded for butter. It is the scarcity of ration points, not the scarcity of cash in consumers' hands, that is cutting butter sales at present.

THE OLD FRAUD IN A NEW DRESS.

The latest so-called compromise on soldier voting reached by the house-senate conference committee almost arrived at a constitutional means of using the bobtailed federal ballot, but the conferees slipped at the last moment.

The revised bill that the conference committee will submit to the senate and house provides that the federal ballot for men in service shall not be furnished voters from any state unless the governor of that state certifies before Aug. 1 that that ballot is acceptable in that state and can be counted. Had the conferees provided that federal ballots shall be used only when authorized by the legislature of a state they would have brought forth a constitutional method. But a governor can no more authorize the use of the federal ballot or certify that it is acceptable than congress can impose its use on the states.

The Constitution plainly says that Presidential electors shall be chosen in the states in the manner provided by the legislatures. No state legislature, to our knowledge, has made provision for the use of the federal ballot. No governor, accordingly, if he is faithful to his oath of office, can possibly certify that the federal ballot would be acceptable in his state. The compromise thus is a new fraud in a long series of frauds.

The confidence game becomes more evident every time Mr. Roosevelt's election stealers rehash their proposal and bring it up in some new form. Along with the proposed unconstitutional approval of federal ballots by governors is another provision that the federal ballot shall be used only when a soldier or sailor makes a sworn statement that he has applied for a state absentee ballot and has not received it by Oct. 1.

The war and navy departments said that 45 days will be necessary to transmit absentee ballots to troops in overseas areas and to return them in time to be counted in the election on Nov. 7. A number of states, acting on this assurance, provided for the dispatch of ballots 45 days before the election. Oct. 1 is 37 days before the election. The obvious intent of this Oct. 1 provision is to provide for use of federal ballots at a time when, under state laws, the state ballots probably would not have reached the men who applied for them, altho they would reach them in time to be marked, returned, and counted in the election.

Secretaries Knox and Stimson sabotaged one soldier ballot plan in the congressional elections of 1942 by withholding the ballots from overseas shipments and giving the space to OWI propaganda and Roosevelt buttons. There is every reason to believe that these two senile stooges will repeat this behavior this fall. If the ballot bill were passed in its present form no state ballots would reach troops. The way would then be open to furnish them instead the federal ballot on which Mr. Roosevelt bases his whole hope of stealing the election.

The house, which has stood most firmly against this gigantic and unconstitutional fraud, must not give way. It must send its conferees back to meet those representing the senate with instructions that if the federal ballot is to be used at all it must be used only in the one way that it can be used constitutionally—that is, after its approval by the legislatures of the respective states. No other method can cure the constitutional objections.

ON A CHICAGO STREET.

Along this street, an ancient Indian trail,
La Salle, Marquette, and Joliet once trod.
In later years, upon this valiant sod,
Black Hawk, subdued, saw Indian freedom fail.
The Kinzies came and built firm roads for men
Who dreamed a city for our inland sea;
With Ogden and the Beaubiens came to be
A citadel of growing fame; and then
Old Gurdon Hubbard, trader, builder, man,
With "Long John" Wentworth, pride of pioneers,
Saw time bring forth, from grim and fateful years,
A gaunt young man, from Sangamon new come,
Walked lonely on this street and dreamed a dream
Of fame and glory; late, a surging stream
Grant, Sherman, Sheridan were here in years
That rocked with war, and on this thorofare
At last hailed peace and brotherhood. Despair
Had passed, and hope submerged all fears.
A mighty story this, and proud are we
To walk this street and tell its history.

Choppy Tries to Enlist.

Choppy says that while he was sitting all alone in his exclusive apartment he remembered he had completely forgotten to enlist in the WAGS.

So, Choppy says, he made himself ready to enlist. As he knew he would have to take off all his clothes for his physical examination, he thought he would beat the recruiters to it, took them off at home and put them in his little knitted reticule, which he carried on his arm. He says he expected to create a mild sensation, but no one was at all surprised. People stopped and said, "My, what a cute little doggie! Wonder what he has in his reticule?"

At the recruiting station there was no one except himself and a mess of dog doctors. One dog, a Great Dane, looked at his ears and found they were two holes, one on each side of his head. A Spitz looked at his eyes and said they were turning blue, a sign of senility. Another dog doctor, a Fox Terrier, said he had ten teeth missing, which Choppy says he knew, and the last doctor, a mixture, said he had flat feet and turned him down.

Well, sir, Choppy says he was so peeved he took all his clothes out of his reticule and put them on. His costume for the day was a straw hat, a suit of pajamas, galoshes, and an English walking stick, like the one Shandy Gaff carries. Now that outfit, he says, nearly started a riot as he hurried home, up the walk, and thru the front door. He looked in the mail box to see if there was any fan mail; then he went upstairs to inspect his feet. Choppy says he found them in their customary places, looked at them and saw they were round, but couldn't see that they were flat except on the bottoms, which no doubt explained his rejection.

Choppy says, "Doggone, come to think of it, every one's feet are flat on the bottom. It's my age and they were too polite to tell me."

"RUNNING" EARS MAY FOLLOW COLDS.

THE reason we have so much trouble with "running ears," particularly in children, is because an essential part of the hearing apparatus is connected with the nasal airways by means of a rather short pathway—the Eustachian tube. Thus a cold, for example, may permit germs to find their way along the channel into this area.

This important space contains the tiny sound carrying bones and, with the drum separating it from the ear canal, it forms a suitable spot for bacteria to grow. Our job is to keep "bugs" away and the best possible care of every acute episode will save many an illness.

What are some of the common maladies which usher in the gathering of pus within this region? Influenza, pneumonia, measles, or sore throat may speed microbes on their way. Occasionally, the blood stream is the carrier but this is not a frequent source of trouble.

When the Eustachian structure becomes inflamed so much swelling may ensue that blockage will occur. This defeats drainage, which should flow into the nose. Instead, it may travel in the opposite direction, especially when such vicious organisms as the streptococci are at fault.

The first symptom is severe pain. The temperature may go as high as 104 degrees F., and the little sufferer presents a picture of prostration. On examination by the family doctor the drum may be seen to bulge outward. This is the time to make a small incision, which must be carried out expertly. Otherwise the membrane will rupture. This establishes drainage to the outside, whereupon the fever usually drops, pressure is relieved, and recovery begins.

Now, the thing we hope to avoid is the extension of the invaders into the mastoid cells, which lie adjacent to the auditory machinery. Thanks to the sulfonamides and their prompt administration, most cases will respond satisfactorily. But medicine alone may not be sufficient unless the noxious secretion can find its way to the outside of the body. In the meantime, it is essential that infection in the nasopharynx shall be controled. This may be accomplished thru the use of mild antiseptics.

If irritation within the mastoid develops, more often than not the sulfa remedies will ward off danger. We must recall that inflammation within this bony process may be responsible for a brain abscess. If the drug proves ineffective, it may be necessary to chisel thru the bone and evacuate the pus. This is required not only for the preservation of hearing but life.

A fairly sizable percentage of our population suffers from considerable deafness because middle ear disease in childhood was either neglected or badly managed. While we may have noted only a few such cases, many are masked because the child adapts himself wonderfully to his surroundings. Furthermore, he makes up with lip reading for what he misses in sound perception.

Start with some less strenuous activity until you are in condition. If the rate does not exceed the resting count by more than 10 to 15 beats per minute, you are on safe ground.

BOILS.

PAIN ON COUGHING.

W. B. writes: Does discomfort in the region of the appendix, when one coughs, indicate appendicitis?

REPLY.

Not necessarily. It may be a bubble of gas causing distention, adhesions, or irritation within the first portion of the colon. The existence of a hernia may need to be investigated.

War Is Roses Dept.

It was 18 months ago, but it was one of those conversations that stick with you because they enrage you so. He wanted something. When a complete stranger has a mutual friend make a cozy luncheon engagement for three, you know it's something. So you sit and smile stupidly and exchange banal pleasantries and wonder what it is this time.

He was a paunchy little man in a blue flannel suit with a red and blue foulard tie, and shiny, manicured nails, and poor vision, and a fat law practice. A do-er, a go-getter, a real patriot, the mutual friend described him.

Soon he began talking about the army air forces. He had made it his war time problem. He was a one man recruiting office for it, self-appointed. Already he had recruited a great many boys. One was a little Dutch grocer boy from somewhere on the edge of Cook county, and one was a wild haired Italian boy from what once was called Little Hell, and one was the son of his best friend, and one was an engineer for the street car lines. The list was endless.

He was proud of his record, and it was good. Then he went on to say that the public didn't understand what it meant to be a flyer—that being a pilot was the ace job of this war, one with éclat and distinction; that even a second lieutenant got $291 a month and $150 for a uniform, and a free $25,000 education, and a $10,000 life insurance policy, and a $40,000 plane to fly and expensive safety devices to gird his loins and protect his head, and keep the wings of his plane from crumpling into tissue as it dives at an 85 degree angle. And the silk that went into the parachute the boy uses when he bails out was the best silk money could buy.

"But the public surely understands that," we protested. "Not in so many words, perhaps, but . . ."

He disagreed. "That's why I'm talking to you," he said. "The mothers have to be sold on it. The boys are easy, but the mothers . . ." He sighed.

"It's the mothers we have to persuade," he went on. "It's the mothers you have to persuade. Tell them how much money their boys will make. Tell them it's glamorous. Tell them it's safe."

The words were incredible. Maybe they had been distorted by the restaurant clatter. "Tell them it's safe?"

"What do you tell the mothers?"

"Just that. I tell them it's safe. But you've got a wide audience. You could do lots. . . ."

Somehow that lunch came to an end, and the self-appointed propagandist of glamor and safety went on his way. So did we, muttering wildly the way you do when the answers come too late, saying tell their mothers they are brave, for they are; tell their mothers they are daring, for they are; tell their mothers they are fine, clean boys, and good mechanics, too, and that it's good, clean work up there in the sky, much nicer than handing out boxes of sardines or stacking up Irish potatoes in a Dutch grocery on the prairie or cleaning the basement in Little Hell or untangling the cathodes in a street car, for it's all of that; tell their mothers they will get good pay and life insurance and better clothes than they ever had for $1 down and $1 a week at the snappy clothes for snappy gents' shop, but don't ask me to tell their mothers they are safe; tell their mothers they are needed, and mothers will not stop their sons; they never have.

It had been so outrageous a request that we later mentioned it to the mother of a son, ending with the mutter. She was not an exceptional mother, but she was a good one.

"Write that," she said. "Just like that."

Well, you don't write things like that. You're too wound up. You don't write anything.

The mother put up quite a protest. She was as honest and intelligent and brave as her young son who crashed the other day.

PUNISHING THE VICTIM TO STOP THE THIEF.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—I see in your paper that the OPA is going to punish holders of A cards by cutting their allotment to two gallons because some people are cheating, dealing in the black market or counterfeiting coupons.

We know there is a black market in gas. If there are irregularities isn't it the government's duty to apprehend those who cheat? That is why we have laws, the FBI, etc. The innocent, honest user of A tickets has no way of checking the crook. So why should he be punished? It is just such action that makes the honest gas user turn to black market. If he is punished for doing the right thing, then why not do the wrong and maybe escape punishment? Paper money is often counterfeited. Does that devalue the genuine bill?

I called up the manager of the meat company and declared that I was going to ask our local paper to publish these facts and he asked me to wait a few hours before doing so. I waited, and their truck delivered to me a fine shipment of beef. Our money goes to buy choice beef for our captured enemies and we have to buy and eat canner cows. In these troublous times, when the smear artists shout "Nazi" at any one who places the interest of this country first, how dear to the patriot's heart are the inspiring verses of the third stanza:

"And where is that band who so vauntingly swore
That the havoc of war and the battle's confusion,
No refuge could save the hireling and slave
From the terror of flight or the gloom of the grave,
And the Star-Spangled Banner in triumph doth wave,

RUBBER PROGRAM FAILURE.

Elgin, Ill., Feb. 21.—The allotment of synthetic rubber tires to be produced for civilian use in 1944 has been cut from 30 to 24 million. This is caused by the failure of plants which produce their synthetic rubber from petroleum to come up to specifications. There have been frantic efforts to increase the production of alcohol for use in making synthetic rubber, but we are already facing a shortage of the grain and other products from which this alcohol is to be produced.

What would our situation be today if THE TRIBUNE had been given a green light many months earlier to develop its process of producing alcohol from sulphite waste at paper mills, and if that process had been put into large scale production thruout the paper industry?

Conferees Says It's Good Overseas Only.

BY JOHNSON KANADY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 1.—Proponents of federal control of the 1944 soldier vote thru use of the bobtailed federal ballot backed down another notch today as senate and house conferees neared final disposition of the servicemen's ballot question.

After administration spokesmen made major concessions yesterday in limiting the use of the proposed federal ballot, they retreated further today by agreeing that while soldiers overseas shall be entitled to use the federal ballot, soldiers in the United States will vote by regular state absentee procedures.

When Ballot Applies.

As the bill stands now, with one more meeting of the conference committee scheduled before it is reported back to the houses of congress, it provides that the federal no-name ballot may be used in the following cases:

1. If a soldier from a state which has no absentee voting procedure is overseas and the governor of his state certifies that the federal ballot is acceptable under the laws of the state and can be counted.

2. If a soldier from a state which has an absentee voting law is overseas, and has applied for a state absentee ballot prior to Sept. 1 but did not receive it by Oct. 1, providing that the governor of the state has certified that the federal ballot is acceptable under the laws of the state and can be counted.

Further Modification.

The bill was further modified today by inserting the provision that a soldier, to get the federal ballot on the ground that his state ballot had not reached him, must have applied for the state ballot on or before Sept. 1. The change was made after it was pointed out that as the bill had read a soldier could send an application for a state ballot as late Sept. 30 and then certify on Oct. 1 that he had applied for but not received a state ballot.

It was another victory for state ballot advocates who have insisted that soldiers, sailors, members of the merchant marine and civilians to whom the federal ballot would apply, should first have every opportunity to obtain a state ballot carrying the names of all candidates.

GOVERNORS COOL

State governors yesterday gave a chilly reception to federal ballot features of the proposed federal service men's vote bill adopted by senate and house conferees.

In three states—Colorado, Idaho, and Mississippi—governors said flatly they would not certify that a federal ballot is acceptable, and in New Jersey, Gov. Edge denounced the so-called compromise plan as appearing "to confuse and complicate the entire problem still further." Only one governor—Maw of Utah—said he would certify use of the federal ballot.

Governors of 20 states reported they have adequate absentee voting laws and need the government's help only in delivering the ballots to service men and getting them back by election day. In nine states it was said special legislative sessions are in progress or under call at which the problem is expected to be dealt with adequately.

18 to Seek Opinions.

A poll of governors taken by THE TRIBUNE yesterday disclosed that 18 governors intend to seek legal opinions and otherwise study the federal proposal before committing themselves regarding certification.

These were Alabama, Arizona, California, Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Kansas, Louisiana, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, Oregon, Texas, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wyoming.

States where it was reported existing legislation is now adequate to enable service men to vote by state ballots include Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Florida, Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Michigan, Mississippi, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, Oregon, Rhode Island, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

Pending in 9 States.

Legislation to qualify service men for state ballots is pending or about to be taken up in special sessions in Arizona, Indiana, Maryland, Minnesota, Nebraska, New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and Washington.

Prospects for soldier voting appeared slim in Alabama and New Mexico. In Alabama, a poll tax provision is part of the constitution, while in New Mexico absentee voting is barred by a Supreme court decision.

Results of the poll included:

ARIZONA—Gov. Osborne said a special session of the legislature is now considering legislation for soldier voting which would obviate use by Arizona of the federal ballot.

Ask Only Delivery.

ARKANSAS—Gov. Adkins said his state will use its own absentee voting system for service men and ask only of the federal government that it speed delivery of the ballots. Ballots will be ready for distribution to voters in service Sept. 15.

COLORADO—Gov. Vivian said his state would have no use for any ballot plan congress might provide. "I now can see no reason why I would certify the federal ballot plan as acceptable to Colorado," he said. "We have our own absentee voting machinery, set up by special legislative session. We are going to send state ballots to every service man and service woman we can locate anywhere in the world."

CONNECTICUT — Gov. Baldwin said, "You can rest assured we will do everything possible to make our own very complete and comprehensive absentee voting law fit into that of the federal government."

No Help to Florida.

DELAWARE—Gov. Bacon had no comment on the federal plan, but other state officials said no action by the governor could waive the state's registration provisions which are embodied in the state constitution.

FLORIDA—Gov. Holland said a federal law would be "welcomed" but "must not be construed as being of any great importance or help in this state" because present state laws permit service men and women previously registered to vote in primary and general elections on all questions.

IDAHO—Gov. Bottolfsen said use of federal ballot could not be certified in Idaho under new law passed by legislature to facilitate soldier voting on state ballots.

INDIANA—Gov. Schricker said a special session of the legislature will be called soon to simplify absentee voter ballot and registration procedure.

Iowa Has Own Plans.

IOWA — Gov. Hickenlooper said "any consideration of a federal ballot should be limited to those states that do not provide for absent voter ballots. Iowa has done so and all we need from the federal government is coöperation in the transmission of ballots to the soldiers overseas and their return."

KANSAS — Gov. Schoeppel said, "Kansas has a most liberal absentee voting law and every citizen will be able to vote if the federal government will deliver the ballots in a reasonable length of time."

MAINE—Gov. Sewall said Maine's situation is complicated by the fact its general election is held in September except for the voting for President. State ballots are to be sent to Maine service men for September voting and a proposal is under consideration to include November Presidential ballots.

MASSACHUSETTS—Gov. Saltonstall said the state will mark time for a few weeks before a special session is called to take action on the service vote.

MICHIGAN—The new absentee voting law is regarded here as flexible enough to utilize the federal ballot but believed unnecessary, members of the governor's staff said today in his absence.

MINNESOTA—A special session of the legislature will convene March 8.

MISSISSIPPI—Gov. Bailey said he definitely will not certify a federal absentee ballot because the legislature two weeks ago "amply provided for our men and women in the services."

MONTANA—"Under Montana law I feel that with a little coöperation on the part of the army and navy Montana ballots can be received in ample time by our men and women overseas," Gov. Ford said.

NEBRASKA—Gov. Griswold said he will await outcome of special legislative session March 27 before making decision on federal vote plan.

NEW JERSEY—Gov. Edge said "New Jersey has enacted a soldier voting law which I am assured is workable if the proper coöperation is obtained from the federal government. The federal plan reportedly agreed upon would appear only to confuse and complicate the entire problem still further by giving service men an option as to whether they desire the full state ballot with the names of candidates printed on it or the blank federal ballot for President and Vice President and members of congress."

RHODE ISLAND—Gov. McGrath said he is convinced state ballots can be delivered to Rhode Islanders in service, making federal ballots unnecessary.

We Have These Scarce Seeds

WHILE seeds for Victory Gardens are plentiful as a whole, many of the finer, newer varieties are scarce. We still have most of them in our complete stocks, and our stores are not crowded. By coming early you insure prompt attention and a wide selection.

Hot Weather Head Lettuce

Lettuce Great Lakes. 75 days. Of the Iceberg type, bred to make tight heads in hot weather, this variety is actually too good. So reluctant is it to run to seed that almost no seed was produced last year, when it won top place, with a bronze medal in the All-America trials for new varieties. What little seed there is naturally is high priced. Offered only in packets. Pkt., 40c.

A Lettuce for Connoisseurs

Lettuce Bibb (Limestone). 57 days. This dark green, tender, brittle lettuce, which quickly makes loose heads as big as your fist, is becoming well known to chefs of luxury hotels and to high priced food shops. Some say it was bred by Maj. John Bibb of Kentucky, born in 1789. It is making a comeback and we can promise you a fine spring crop, but must warn that it goes to seed quickly in hot weather. Pkt., 20c; ½ oz., 30c; oz., 45c.

Finest Early Cucumber

Cucumber Mandarin. 45 days. There is aristocratic Chinese blood in this variety, which we consider the best, early or late, for Victory gardens. Its 12-inch fruits are slender, dark green, appetizing. Pkt., 10c; oz., 40c.

Tomato Jubilee. The giant orange fruit which any Victory gardeners consider the best of all tomatoes. Mild in flavor, with thick flesh and few seed. Pkt., 25c.

Thru the Looking Glass

It isn't pretty and it isn't healthful to sit in a carelessly slouched, humped over position, but it's a well established habit with many working women. Office workers particularly, who are chained to a desk for hours at a time, are apt to sit all doubled into a knot, and then complain of aching shoulders and a bogged down feeling along about the middle of the afternoon.

It's true that when one is seated for long periods there's an almost irresistible urge to slump over, letting the shoulders practically rest on desk or typewriter and to generally collapse like the proverbial sack of meal. And it's that slumping and sliding down on the spine that causes many of the aches and induces the feeling of fatigue. It's a great help, too, in developing figure faults and a double chin.

With a little concentration, it isn't too hard to maintain an erect sitting posture. An established habit of slumping will yield to a quick self-reminder to sit up straight, well back in the chair, with the spine in an easy, straight column. The improvement in appearance is enough to warrant such a campaign for if you've ever looked at your co-workers and seen the unbecoming attitudes some of them assume, you've a fairly good picture of yourself. When the body is held up in normal position vital organs are not squeezed but can function normally and breathing will be deeper and more lung filling. Too, when the body is held straight the tendency to curl the legs about each other or around the chair in octopus fashion is curbed and circulation to these parts naturally is improved.

If you feel you must slump occasionally, do it wholeheartedly, letting the body go limp and loose. Really let yourself sag, practically down to the floor. But when you've refreshed yourself, straighten up and keep yourself sitting that way. It will help you to feel and look brighter with spirits and efficiency stepped up considerably.

Factual Movie Vividly Shows Tarawa Battle

"WITH THE MARINES AT TARAWA."

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

"With the Marines at Tarawa" is the factual government photographic record of the storming and capture of Betio, on Tarawa atoll, last November by three battalions of United States marines. . . . During the engagement some 1,000 marines were killed and 3,500 were wounded.

This was the Jap Gibraltar. . . . It was tremendously fortified. It was honeycombed with underground warrens. . . . It took four days of sea and air bombardment and three of infantry assault to capture Tarawa. After 2,400 tons of explosives had been hurled at the atoll, the Japs were still there in their underground passages. So—in went the marines to blast them out—with torpedoes and flame throwers. . . .

During the photographing of the great onslaught and victory, two of the combat photographers—Lt. Ernest A. Matthews Jr. of Dallas, Tex., and Staff Sgt. Wesley Kroenung Jr.—were killed.

The vividly technicolored chronicle is terrible—and beautiful! For, as you mourn the passing of so many gallant souls, there is reassurance with the pain. Because you sense a purpose behind it all—an upward surging toward the day of a civilization that will be a civilization. The day when all men shall be free and unafraid.

There were no WASTED lives among those so selflessly sacrificed by the marines at Tarawa!

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

Representatives of 61 Illinois women's organizations will demonstrate the backing which the state's women are giving the current all-out salvage drive when they attend a luncheon Monday noon at the Merchants and Manufacturers' club in the Merchandise Mart. At that time Lt. Gov. Cross will accept the pledge of the 61 clubs, representing 1,500,000 Illinois women, to salvage a pound of waste household fats per person per month.

The meeting has been called by Mrs. Anne V. Zinser, state director of women's salvage activities for the war production board. Nathaniel Leverone, former state director of salvage for the WPB, will direct proceedings in the absence of George M. Eisenberg, co-chairman of the state salvage committee.

Thomas J. McHugh, executive state secretary of the WPB's general salvage branch, will present the educational program in connection with the drive. John R. Robinson, representing the Chicago Newspaper Publishers' association, will describe his organization's activities in behalf of an all-out waste paper salvage campaign.

Mr. McHugh has announced that the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers already has pledged a pound of fat per person per month. There are 200,000 members in the PTA, of which Mrs. F. Russell Lyon is salvage representative.

Burton Holmes Recalls Italy's Beauty of Past

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

Burton Holmes is showing a nostalgic tourist album at Orchestra hall this week, a "Beautiful Italy" so richly reminiscent of his lifetime of travel he takes only a five minute rest from the turning of its colorful pages. Italy was always his most dependable topic. He used to say ruefully that he could spend all his summers searching the mysterious corners of the earth, and the next winter his audiences still wanted to see the pigeons of St. Mark's.

◆

So here they are again, the same pigeons, the same Italy, indestructibly beautiful in memory, tranquilly lovely in the glowing color of Mr. Holmes' films, which deepen in value as they record what is menaced and what has been destroyed. Rome is here, and Venice, and the picture book town of Amalfi. The Italian Alps thrust their peaks into a cobalt sky, and Vesuvius erupts angrily in 1906 motion pictures to rival the new Mexican volcano which is Mr. Holmes' prize 1944 exhibit, and which he will show twice more at Orchestra hall.

◆

In all this beauty there is a reminder of the comic opera with the tragic ending that was Mussolini ranting from his balcony, a pygmy whose dream of Roman empire has endangered Rome itself. The very camera that records the splendor of Florence records, too, the pomposity, the cynicism, the inflated emptiness of the man who made last night's Italy at peace just a series of pictures once taken by a traveler.

Colored Races to Ask Equality with Whites, Parley Speaker Says

"I see a rising tide of colored races against white world supremacy," Dr. Edmund Soper of Garrett Biblical institute declared yesterday afternoon before students of the National College of Education, Evanston, in the opening address of a conference on preparedness for the post-war period.

"The colored peoples want to share equality with the white race," the speaker, who was born in Japan, continued. "The attitude of the white man has literally driven other colors together. Japanese, Chinese, Indians, and blackest Africa may unite in the future to offset this attitude. We will then have a war more terrible than the present one."

Dr. Soper's address, entitled, "World Order—What Will It Be Like?" sounded the keynote for six separate round table conferences which followed, five of which were led by guest speakers and the sixth by Dr. Viggo Bovbjerg of the college faculty.

1,500 Chicago Jews Hear Group's Progress Report

Fifteen hundred Chicago members of the American Jewish conference, meeting last night in the Hotel Sherman, heard a report from Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver of Cleveland, O., on progress made on the conference program drafted last August at a meeting in New York City. The program includes measures to save the Jews of European countries, plans for Jewish rights in the post-war world, and continuation of migration to Palestine. Judge Harry M. Fisher presided over the meeting.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	4 spades	Pass
6 spades	Pass	7 spades [fin. bid]

Certainly, the grand slam contract was 100 per cent justified on the combined hands, altho the method of reaching it was somewhat strange. North should have bid two spades instead of three no trump on the second round.

West did not make the naive error of doubling the grand slam and thus revealing his length in trumps, but in this case his caution went unrewarded. He opened the three of clubs. The ace won, and when the trump king was cashed declarer received the bad news. He did not let it rattle him, however. He promptly cashed the club king, discarding a diamond, and ruffed the ten of clubs with the five of spades. This was really the danger point of the play, but West's lead of the low club, followed by his play of the eight on the king, was virtually a guarantee that he had started with at least three clubs and therefore would not be able to over-ruff the declarer.

Another hurdle had to be passed when declarer led two high diamonds—West might have had a singleton—but nothing untoward happened, and South then cashed the ace and king of hearts in comparative safety. From that point on it was clear sailing. Declarer cross-ruffed hearts and diamonds without running the slightest risk of being over-ruffed, and West had the infuriating experience of seeing all five of his trumps wasted on under-ruffs.

Hi! It's lots of fun to get

NORCROSS
GREETING CARDS

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Former Secretary.

It's a far cry from being a secretary, trim and neat in modish clothes. It's a long way from the bureau of internal revenue and a comfortable job in a well heated office which 15 months ago Helene Finan considered "all in the day's work."

At present, "all in the day's work" includes bicycling daily to her job of supervising the remodeling of a four story building [somewhere in Italy] struck by eight bombs . . . it includes bundling against the cold in heavy men's wear . . . it means thumbing frantically thru the English-Italian dictionary for the right word for her workmen.

The one-time efficient secretary has a new job. She is an American Red Cross girl and her task of the moment is to put in readiness for soldier use the much abused structure so that doughboys will find dormitory facilities when they come to the little town.

Lone Worker.

The lone Red Cross worker on this project, this ex-white collar girl, has had to hire 25 workmen—not a simple job, especially when the interpreter had her "ordering 21 inch nails," she said indignantly.

Since then she has relied upon her dictionary and a woman's intuition. "Stupido, stupido, stupido," she kept saying one day when the workmen took two large waste paper baskets and mixed lime in them. Later, rustling the pages of her dictionary, it turned out she had hit upon the right word willy-nilly. "Stupido" was correct for "stupid" which, definitely, she meant.

It's a strange Italian vocabulary she is learning, all about building and material, tools and "stupido" workmen. Too, in a bomb-stricken village, she must gather together the best material she can—"scrounges and scavenges," she explains. Window panes, for instance, came from another building. A stove and electrical equipment came from other buildings. Calcium was needed [and there was none], so Helene sallied forth and found herself a calcium pit.

Ex-Chicagoan.

Calcium is by no means all of her troubles. For a while she was at a loss to find some direly needed wire—that is, until she found a wrecked German plane in an air field.

"I've had a lot of difficulty making my men use what I bring in," she says. "They want everything new—and in a place like this! If it's been used before, they say 'Non bueno,' but I tell them it's good and to get going!"

Directing everything from plastering to plumbing, Helene at any time can be found in her "office" which, for the moment, may be on the roof or a scaffold.

Altho she's been riding her bike about the streets for several weeks, the Italians haven't grown accustomed as yet to her and they still stare. Possibly it's her clothes—scarcely the modish secretarial attire of her former days. For, Helene wears a union suit [a Christmas present], three pairs of socks, heavy lined boots, an army sweat shirt, a field jacket, and a colorful scarf.

The Red Cross girl has been overseas for a year and two months. She worked in North Africa and Sicily before going to Italy and her rebuilding job. Some time ago she went to St. Xavier college in Chicago . . . that is, in the days before she was a secretary . . . a far cry from scaffolds and bombed buildings.

South Shore Club to Present Its Annual Follies in April

BY JUDITH CASS.

FIRST nighters who have feared that the annual South Shore Country Club Follies might become a war time casualty will be relieved to hear that the club is shaping up plans for its popular two night event, to be presented as usual on the Friday and Saturday nights after Easter—April 14 and 15 this year. The club will marshal its prettiest girls for the talent tea March 10. Three days later casting will take place and rehearsals will start on the 20th.

No young women were allowed in the cast of the Minstrel Follies, the show which started the club's tradition in 1911, excepting in a short epilog. In contrast, this year's cast of 100 will be 90 per cent feminine. But far from becoming discouraged at the man power shortage, the club for the first time has organized a permanent Follies committee, headed by Mrs. Paul Flagg, and the board of governors, has increased the show's budget by 25 per cent.

In writing this year's show, Fred Herendeen has had the assistance of David Stamper, a Ziegfeld Follies veteran who will be in Chicago for a week helping with rehearsals. John McGuire and Dr. Walter O'Connor are coöperating on the finale. Tickets for the show will sell at $2.50 for the Friday performance and $3.50 for Saturday. The latter performance will be followed by a large club dance, and at a later date the cast will take the show to Mandel hall at the University of Chicago, where the audience will be the university's navy unit.

Wedding News.

A change in Lt. Robert William Clark Jr.'s duty caused him and his fiancée, Miss Marjorie Kimball, to shift their wedding to New York. Today Miss Kimball and her mother, Mrs. G. Cook Kimball of Lake Shore dr., are leaving for the east, where the ceremony will take place at 4:30 p. m. March 11 in St. Thomas' church. Also there for the wedding and reception to follow in the Colony club will be the bride's brothers, Richard Kimball of Niagara Falls, N. Y., and Nelson Kimball of Philadelphia, and their wives. Mrs. John Berdan of Pittsburgh is to be matron of honor.

While Lt. Clark is on temporary duty in New York he and his bride will remain there. They plan to return to Chicago in April. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clark of Seattle, Wash., who are unable to come east for the wedding.

When Pvt. Frederic Theodore Brandt Jr. received an unexpected leave from his post at Camp Chaffee, Ark., he and his fiancée, Miss Dorothy Kitchell, suddenly decided to be married at 8:30 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church of Evanston. Pvt. Brandt arrived in Chicago yesterday in time for the party given last night by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Cedric V. Merrill. Tonight the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howell W. Kitchell of Evanston, are giving a small rehearsal party.

Miss Ellis Kitchell will be her sister's maid of honor, and their sister-in-law, Mrs. Kitchell Jr., will serve as matron of honor. The bride-to-be was entertained at a spinster dinner Monday by Mrs. Donald W. Clark and her mother, Mrs. Charles M. Hardin. Pvt. Brandt's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Brandt of Chicago.

Engagement News.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. Kirtland of Winnetka announce the engagement of their daughter, Loraine, to Ensign John D. Gillies, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Gillies of Alhambra, Cal. Miss Kirtland, a graduate of the Roycemore school, attended Skidmore college and Northwestern university. Her fiancé was graduated from the University of California and received his commission

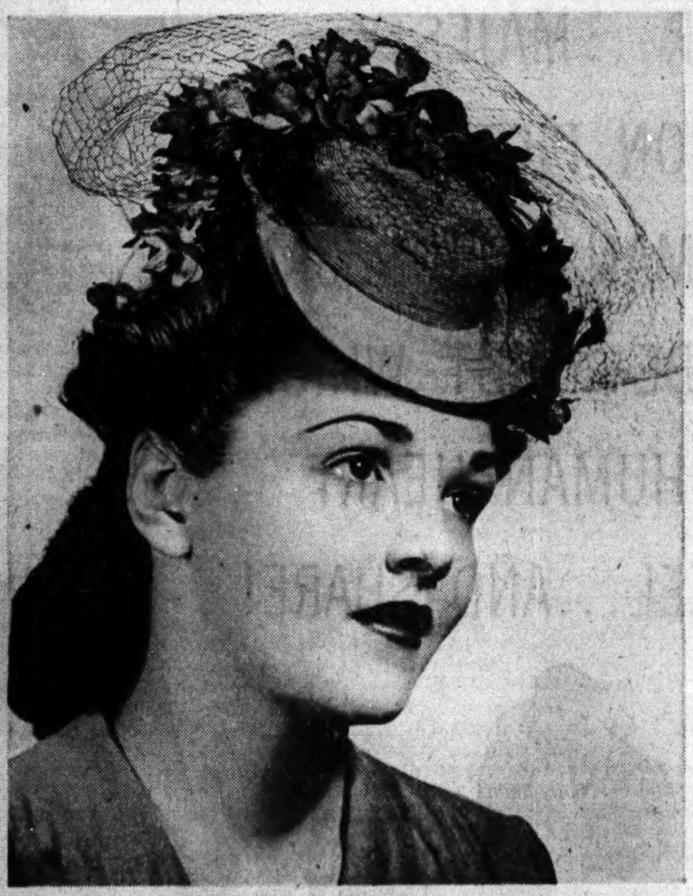
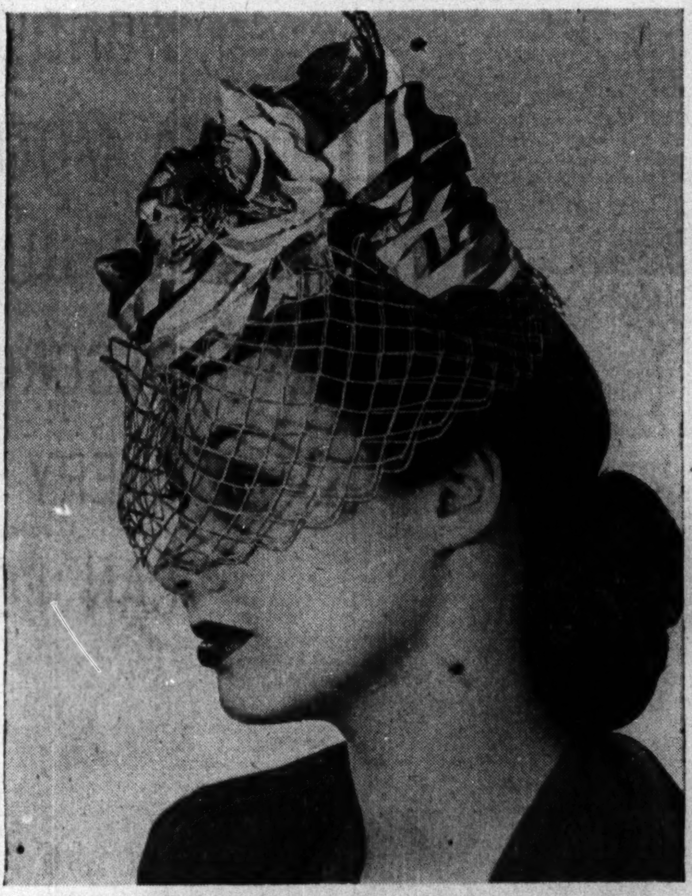
A Preview of New Bonnets for the Easter Parade



This tiny brimmed hat of lime green straw has bunches of parma violets massed at the back for romantic contrast. Dark emerald green velvet ribbon edges the brim and ties in bows among the violets. All hats pictured are available in a Chicago store.



Pastel tinted striped taffeta is cunningly twisted to dramatize the varied colors of this hat, topped with a huge silk cabbage rose in blush pink. A narrow flared edging of violet veiling shadows the eyes.

This youthful hat, providing effective contrast for blonde, brunette, or coppertop, is fashioned of ink black milan straw skillfully edged with candy pink rick-rack braid. The flattering side clusters also are made of the straw and braid.

Supplies Asked by Sally to Aid Needleworkers

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Perhaps readers who do a great deal of needlework of various kinds and have surplus materials will be interested in answering the following appeals.

The first request comes from Mrs. T., an elderly woman who lives alone in one room on the north side of the city. Her only income is a small pension which barely provides necessities. Because she is badly crippled with arthritis and must use a cane, she seldom leaves her room, particularly during winter. She has asked our assistance in locating yarn of all kinds or colors, since she enjoys crocheting and would like to make an afghan but lacks the material.

Mrs. S. who lives on the south side is also confined to her home much of the time because of illness. She enjoys doing needlework of all kinds and would appreciate either yarn or embroidery thread which our readers may no longer need.

We have also had a similar request for a group of patients in a large public institution located in this state. That group is particularly interested in books on crochet patterns and crochet materials of all kinds.

Mrs. H. is very anxious to obtain a single bed with a mattress and spring. Her husband is in service, and the allowance which she receives is not sufficient to enable her to buy a bed. It is particularly needed for her 5 year old son who is soon to be released from the hospital. Since he was seriously ill with pneumonia, it is preferable that he be able to sleep alone during his convalescence. She would also be grateful for a rug and a chair.

George A. Kuyper Made Manager of Chicago Symphony

George A. Kuyper, for the last six years associate business and advertising manager of the Boston orchestra, has been appointed manager of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, to succeed the late Henry E. Voegeli, according to an announcement made yesterday by Edward L. Ryerson, president of the orchestral association. He will take over his new duties March 15.

Mr. Kuyper is 45 years old, a native of New Jersey, and a graduate of Rutgers university who took his master's degree at Harvard. He spent two years at the University of Michigan as instructor in English literature, later teaching at Boston university's college of business administration and at New York university.

Mr. Kuyper married the former Mildred Brink of St. Paul, Minn., and is the father of two sons, William, now a staff sergeant in the marines, and George A. Jr., a high school pupil. Mrs. Kuyper and the younger son will come to Chicago to live at the end of the school year.

Spring Toppers Give a Lift to Sagging Spirits

BY REA SEEGER.

Undaunted by war and gloom, millinery designers now offer the antidote for bad weather as well as sagging spirits—new spring hats! Never have these necessary toppers for any woman's lift of spirits been so provocatively feminine. Flowers, ribbon, lace, net, braid, embroidery, and all the conceits found only in the treasured boxes of typically feminine loot of satin and silk, are used with extravagant abandon.

Taffeta in pompadour floral patterns and demure dots, checks, and dramatic wide-striped patterns, satin roses, sky blue feathers and wings, blush pink felt and Dresden blue ribbons are combined with fervor of days when war didn't congeal the romantics.

All the current supplies are small, pert, and flirtatious, from microscopic tricornes and pillboxes to even smaller discs and puffs that sit rakishly, if not precariously; atop curled coiffures.

These are the hats of the hour. Wear them with furs, with spring suits, with coats, and with late afternoon and party clothes. The veils alone that drift over the concoctions of flowers and satin or silk make them "out of this world." Dainty confectionery trifles of somewhat imperishable look and charm have a knowing way of super-flattery and give excellent service day after day.

◆

Valentine-ish creations of violets with red or pink roses, baby gardenias in ravishing shades of pink, cabbage roses in all shades, and romantic all whites, using violets, hyacinths, valley lilies, apple blossoms, pink and white clover, white carnations, and similar blossoms offer everything in headline news to charm the spectators. And if these floral creations don't click, try the first of the straws, in delectable spring shades of chartreuse, violet, pink, blue, flame red, and sunny yellows, either trimmed with bows and ribbons or fetchingly heaped with flowers.

School Child Needs Leisure and Fresh Air

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

I know any number of school children whose time after school and even on week-ends is so closely scheduled with lessons and other planned doings that they have very little fresh air and exercise.

Every child, regardless of age, who is within the four school walls and concentrating largely on the printed page for hours each day should have plenty of fresh air and exercise as a balance. The problem with the younger school child should be simple to handle.

With the older school child, the homework demands are so much greater that real managing is required to fit in their fresh air play. If he is studying music he needs to spend much time at it in order to accomplish anything. If it is not music he is studying, there often are such outside lessons as dancing, art, lectures, and so forth. Frequently parents with a desire to give their child every advantage will fill all his spare time and leave none for a certain carefree, vigorous outdoor play and those leisurely indoor hours that are the birthright of every child.

Time such as this is needed for mental as well as physical hygiene. Pressure is bad for nerves and poise. Consequently, every mother, regardless of the age of her child, should see that he or she has fresh air and exercise and fun in every school day.

That is not easy for the parents of high school children I know. But much can be accomplished if parents will see to it that they do not fill up their boys' and girls' leisure with too many extras that prove to be a drain not worth the price.

It's hot cross bun time again. A fairly respectable hot cross bun may be made from a baking powder dough, but the real thing is made from yeast. A good hot cross bun comes from a sweetened yeast dough flavored with cinnamon and lemon peel. Usually the bun contains currants, sometimes citron in addition.

This is the recipe I am using this year.

Hot Cross Buns.

[Three dozen.]

1 cup scalded milk or half milk, half water
1 cake compressed yeast or 1 package granular yeast
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, beaten
½ cup margarine, melted
Grated rind of 1 lemon
About 4¾ cups sifted flour
⅓ cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg [optional]
⅔ cup washed, dried currants
3 tablespoons finely chopped citron [optional]
Icing

Cool scalded milk to lukewarm, crumble in yeast, add 2 tablespoons sugar and salt. Stir until dissolved, then cover and set in a warm place about 20 minutes, or until bubbles appear around the edge of the bowl. Add beaten eggs, melted shortening, lemon rind. Add flour which has been sifted with ⅓ cup sugar and spices. Mix well. Turn out onto a floured board and knead until dough is very smooth and elastic. Knead in currants and citron during last few minutes. Round up dough, grease it, and place in greased bowl. Cover and let rise in a warm place for an hour or until the dough will retain the impression of a finger pressed into the surface. Knead down and shape into balls. Place well apart on a greased baking sheet. Gash a cross in the top of each bun with a sharp knife. Cover and let rise until light. Bake at 400 degrees for 20-25 minutes, or until golden brown. Drip a soft confectioners' icing into the gashes while the buns still are warm. Make the icing by adding enough warm milk to sifted confectioners' sugar to make it spreadable, then flavoring, if desired, with grated lemon rind and a few drops of lemon juice.

In making hot cross buns or any other yeast bread or roll, be certain to keep the rising dough out of drafts. Do not try to hurry the dough by placing it in a warmer than usual place, or you may spoil both flavor and texture of the roll. A temperature of around 82 degrees is ideal for the rising period.

TURN IN WASTE FATS FOR POINTS AND PENNIES!

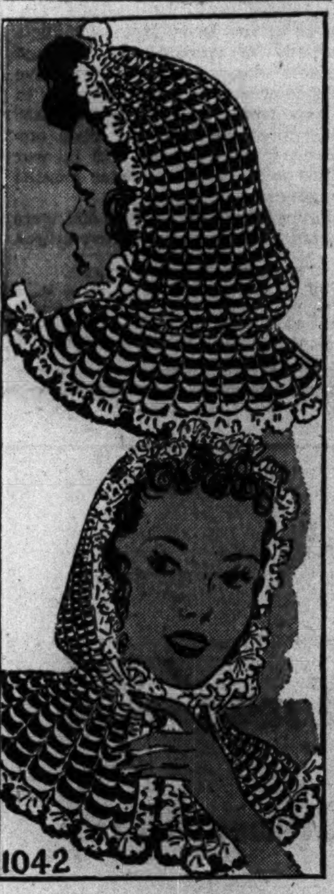
Place 1 spoonful of maple sirup in each individual custard cup; fill cup with custard mixture, pouring against a spoon so as not to disturb sirup. Bake in a 350 degree F. oven 25 to 30 minutes or until firm. Unmold to serve.

Gay Fascinator



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

A crocheted fascinator created in a lovely spider web design is a becoming frame for face and hair, especially when the border is done in the graceful shell stitch which produces a desired fullness all around. Little time is required to make this decorative bit of fluff and fine yarn is used.

For instructions in crocheting the spider web fascinator, No. 1042, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth av., New York City.

ONE HORRIBLE FIGHT after another! She didn't guess that his maddening indifference was really caused by her own "one neglect"—carelessness about feminine hygiene. Today, so many modern wives use Lysol disinfectant. It cleanses quickly, thoroughly, and deodorizes, too. Yet it's so gentle it won't harm sensitive vaginal tissues—just follow easy directions. Costs so little. Write to Lehn & Fink, 683 5th Ave., New York-22, N. Y., for FREE Feminine Hygiene Booklet (in plain wrapper).

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., March 1.—I hope now Capt. Lee Tracy's back in town after 18 months in the service, he'll land a good part. In "Front Page" he was one of the most exciting actors of this generation. . . . "Salty O'Rourke" was written for Clark Gable, Rosalind Russell, and Mickey Rooney, but when Clark went to war it was sold to Paramount. It will now have Alan Ladd and Gail Russell, who's so good in "The Uninvited," and Stanley Clements, signed after a hit performance in "Going My Way?" . . . If David Selznick can work it out, you'll be seeing Vivien Leigh on the screen before year's end. She won't leave England—we don't blame her. David has "Lola Montez" and "Vanity Fair" for her. If they do the former, he'll send over Bill Dieterle. If it's the latter story that meets with her approval, he'll try to borrow George Cukor from Metro. Incidentally, Laurence Olivier is finishing "Henry V." in England. Sure, he's in the navy but they treat their actors much more intelligently there than we do here.

Hearing Comes First.

Bob Hope's doctor warned him to keep out of airplanes until his ear infection is entirely healed, which may prevent Bob's M.-C.-ing the correspondents' dinner party and show for F. D. R. Saturday night. . . . The play Anita Loos and Lionel Barrymore wrote may star Monty Woolley. He's dying to do it. They want Mary Garden, if they can persuade her to leave Scotland and come back home. That would be a marvelous combination. . . . Sue Carol and Alan Ladd are shopping for a big house. They looked over Betty Grable's—the one she gave her mother when she became Mrs. James. It isn't big enough. They need five bedrooms, which looks as tho they're planning for a big family.

It's Colossal Optimism.

Ben Hecht has suddenly developed a passion for music. His wife phoned Harpo Marx to ask if he knew where they could get an accordion. Ben wanted to learn to play. Harpo phoned a friend who had two, at $350 each. They were taken around for Ben's inspection. He bought 'em both—one might develop a leak! Then Ben hired Frank Borzage's brother to teach him how to play. After the first lesson he called Harpo up and said, "In two weeks I'll be ready to play duets with you and your harp." He takes his music lessons at 7 a. m. . . . Gracie McDonald, home after 10 weeks of personal appearances in canteens, hospitals, and camps, goes into the feminine lead in "Murder in the Blue Room."

Just Like Old Times.

Nice seeing the Beery brothers working together in "Goldtown." Wally told me a new story about Jack Barrymore. Noah gave me a still of a picture we did years ago called "Murder Will Out" with Lila Lee, Jack Mulhall, Malcolm McGregor, and Tully Marshall. I hope they'll try to steal a scene from each other in "Goldtown." Wally's been paying court to a Texas lady, and the other night Carole Ann said to him, "Daddy, why don't you marry her?" Wally replied, "Why are you so anxious about it?" She said, "'Cause then I could borrow all her dresses. We're just the same size!" . . . Marta Linden got a welcome change from mother roles. She'll do a slinky siren in "Maisie Goes to Reno," with our good friend Harry Beaumont directing. Tom Powers has returned for "Practically Yours" at Paramount.

Add Location Tales.

Bob Walker, a corporal in "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo," was sitting in an officers' club down in Florida having a beer when two high ranking officers walked in, did a double take. One of them said, "Stand up—what's your name and outfit? What are you doing here?" Bob meekly replied, "I'm Bob Walker, playing in 'Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo,' and the commanding officer invited me here. I'm sorry, fellows!" and made for the door. Also, down there that outfit discovered Van Johnson can sing. Gosh! He used to do it back in New York with Mary Martin—before he ever thought of a movie job. . . . Claudette Colbert's Lulubelle's gone—died of pneumonia. It was her French poodle, given her by her husband. . . . Donald Dickson, who volunteered for the Wilshire Ebell's benefit for Jewish war victims tonight, already has been signed for the Cincinnati festival in May.

Natural History Museum Announces New Lectures

A spring course of illustrated lectures for adults will open Saturday afternoon at the Chicago Natural History museum with a program by Canfield Cook on "The New Air World." Mr. Cook's talk will deal with the influences of aviation development, particularly the changes which may be expected in the world economy after the war as a result of the expected increase in the transportation of persons and goods by airplane. He will speak at 2:30 p. m. in the James Simpson theater of the museum.

Cartoonist to Be Guest of Municipal Art League

At a luncheon meeting at 1 p. m. today at Riccardo's Studio restaurant, the Municipal Art league will have as special guest Paul Plaschke, cartoonist, who will give a demonstration of his art. COMPANY DISHES FROM LEFTOVERS

Yes! Those lowly leftovers in the refrigerator come to life again, take on new eye and taste appeal, when cleverly served forth in a delicious new disguise. Today's tempting main dish might derive from yesterday's soup bone, but your guests don't need to know that.

Veal Souffle . . . To Serve With Pride
(MAY BE MADE WITH BEEF OR PORK)

3 tbsp. Bakerite
4 tbsp. flour
1 cup milk
1 cup diced cooked veal
2 tsp. B-V
¼ tsp. celery salt
3 Clear Brook Eggs, separated

Make a white sauce of the first 3 ingredients. Add veal (or other meat), B-V, which has been dissolved in small amount of the hot sauce, and celery salt. Remove from heat and add well-beaten egg yolks. Cool slightly and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Transfer to casserole which has been greased on the bottom; set casserole in a pan containing an inch of hot water. Bake in a moderate oven, 325° F., for 50 minutes, or until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean. Serve at once. Serves 4.

FLAVOR'S THE THING

Reading this, you may wonder how a cup of leftover meat can produce a souffle that even your most critical guests will think truly mouthwatering. It's that magic meat flavor, Wilson's B-V, that turns the trick, gives an otherwise meat-scanty dish a heartily delicious, rich meat flavor. Point budgeteers who haven't yet met up with this handy kitchen-helper should really get wise to it. These days, you should make a habit of keeping B-V as close as the salt and pepper shakers.

No need to pine for good meat flavor when it's within arm's reach!

• • •

Spuds Done Up Brown

Delicious accompaniment to the veal souffle would be browned potatoes (Franconia Potatoes, if you prefer the name) cooked in the oven right along with it. If you have leftover boiled potatoes, they're quicker. Dissolve 2 tsp. B-V in 1 tbsp. hot water, add 2 tbsp. bacon drippings (from Certified Bacon for a delicious flavor). Heat and roll potatoes in this mixture, allowing them to stand in it briefly. Place about 2 tbsp. bacon drippings in a baking dish, add potatoes and bake until heated through—about 25 min. Roll potatoes about in bacon fat occasionally. If you start with raw potatoes, boil them about 15 minutes first to start them heating and lengthen baking time to about 45 minutes.

STRETCH THE FUEL

Stick some custards in the oven, too; baking temperature will be right and next day's dessert will be made. (Tip: Wilson's Clear Brook Eggs are plentiful now.)

To complete today's menu I'd choose broccoli, perfection salad and spice cake—all good enough for company.

George Rector

Mrs. Edward T., Peoria, Ill.—Turpentine seems to be a big help in a lot of ways around a house. My husband never wastes any leftover paint. Just pours a layer of turpentine over paint that may be left in can and then seals tightly. Good as new when he wants to use it again.

CHARGES WIFE SET MOUSE TRAP TO CATCH HIM!

Wash Rag and Soap Also Plants, Says Painter.

Reinhart Herzberg, 58, a Kankakee painter and decorator, yesterday caused the arrest of his wife, Bertha, 51, on a charge of petty larceny and was the sole witness when she was brought into the court of Magistrate Edward Hoennicke in Kankakee.

He stood in front of the magistrate's bench, pulled wash rags, cakes of soap, and several other articles out of his pockets and piled them on the bench.

"What happened, judge," he explained in an aggrieved voice, "is that my wife goes thru all the department stores in Kankakee and snitches things off the counters. Then she puts them in my pockets and hopes police will arrest me for being a shoplifter."

Frozen Out, Wife Says.

"You see," he said, "she thinks of everything. Even mousetraps she plants on me."

Mrs. Herzberg's shrill denial interrupted her husband's plaint. She strode up to the bench.

"It's not true, your honor," she shouted. "He stole all of those things." She glared at her husband a second. "He could use the soap and wash rags, but he even steals mousetraps."

"When he deserted me a week ago he took all the bedclothes in the house—even off the bed I was sleeping in. When I woke up I was almost frozen. I had to move in with a neighbor because all the bedclothes were gone."

"I paid a lot of money for those bedclothes," he said, "and I was afraid if I left them in the house she would sell them."

"I want to find out who stole these things," he said. "Right now I'm not even sure they were stolen."

COURT ORDERS APPRAISAL FOR OLYMPIA FIELDS

Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday set March 24 for a hearing on sale of the bankrupt Olympia Fields Country club after Fred E. Hummel, trustee, said he had received a bid of $350,000 for the property.

Hummel said if the bid were accepted bondholders would receive 55 per cent of the face amount of their bonds and debenture holders 20 per cent.

At the request of Atty. William H. Townsend, who protested the bid was $200,000 less than the club's liabilities, Judge Barnes ordered an independent appraisal. The judge also directed Hummel to notify stockholders of the bid.

Firemen Show How They Put Out Magnesium Fire

The Chicago fire department's method of overwhelming a magnesium fire by suddenly applying many large streams of water was demonstrated before 600 firemen and civilian and military fire protection authorities yesterday at the department's drill school, 720 Vernon Park pl. Lt. Harry Wolff of the drill school said the department began experiments a year before Pearl Harbor in putting out fires set by magnesium bombs.

'LOOMING' BRINGS MICHIGAN CITY IN CHICAGO'S SIGHT

Winds which blew smoke the other way and an atmospheric phenomenon termed "looming" permitted Chicagoans yesterday to enjoy lake mirages reflected by northern Indiana communities as far east as Michigan City, a distance of about 40 miles.

O. T. Lay, in charge of the Chicago weather bureau, after admitting March 1 was not as blustery as some March 1's of the past, looked from his tower in the United States courthouse and saw the dunes, east of Gary, 10 miles away. He then explained:

"Looming is caused by varying temperatures above the lake, which enable our eyes to see beyond the horizon. What we see are reflections mirrored within range of sight by this temperature phenomenon."

ROBBERY CHARGES DROPPED.

Judge Mason S. Sullivan in Boys court yesterday dismissed charges of attempted robbery against Matthew Ellitch, 17, of 156 W. 46th pl., and Robert Carroll, 18, of 306 W. 47th pl., because the victim of a beating in a doorway at 49th and Halsted sts. Feb. 27, had disappeared.

CATTLE EXHIBIT TO START TODAY AT STOCK YARDS

More than 300 pure bred Aberdeen-Angus cattle will go on parade this morning at the opening of the national show and sale of the breed at the Dexter Park pavilion at the stock yards. Animals have been consigned by 125 breeders in the United States and Canada.

Prize winning bulls and cows, and offspring of champions, will compete today for $5,000 in prize money offered by the breed association. Tomorrow morning the auction of the cattle will start and continue thru Saturday.

STEAL TRUCK AND CARGO.

WLB THREATENS SEIZURE UNLESS PLANT COMPLIES

Government seizure of the New Indiana Chair company of Jasper, Ind., manufacturer of furniture for the army, was threatened by the war labor board yesterday in a warning to the plant to comply with its order which grants maintenance of union membership and dues checkoff for 100 members of the United Furniture Workers of America, CIO.

A WLB spokesman said army operation of the plant was "probable" if the firm does not comply with the order within 10 days. He also said the company would face economic "sanctions" at the hands of the army disbursement division if it fails to heed the warning.

Edgar L. Warren, regional chairman, said the national board had approved the order on Dec. 20.

LAUNDRY WORK SLOWS, SO 450 WIN WLB RAISE

Nearly 450 Chicago workers, employed by the Schulze & Burch Biscuit Co., were awarded a 1½ cents an hour wage increase yesterday by the war labor board because of the shortage of laundry workers. The raise was contingent upon discontinuance of the firm's providing free laundry service for its workers, a practice it said it had to abandon because the laundries failed to deliver uniforms on time.

The bakery workers were among 3,668 employes in Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin given wage increases, ranging from 1 cent an hour to a flat 10 per cent. In addition, employes of the Lyon Metal Products company of Aurora and Chicago Heights were allowed to receive $2.50 in war stamps for bringing in a new worker, and another $2.50 when the new man has been employed a month, with $125 in war bonds to be paid in a three months employment contest.

WITH A BLUE SUIT IN MIND...

it's worthwhile economics to take your accessories seriously. There'll be a particular color shirt, for instance, that'll do more for your blue suit than any other. That's the color you should have—and you may, in more than one pattern. There'll be several different neckties to help you change the scene-of-things. And your hat, remember, determines the effect of the whole. Hose are important, too, when a flick of the ankle can make or break a good opinion—and footwear should never be stinted on. We think this planning-as-a-whole is important any time—but particularly now, when it will make what you have go farther.

HAWKS, BRUINS RENEW STADIUM FEUD TONIGHT

Rivals Battle

Manager Paul Thompson's Blackhawks, who have been hewing close to the National league hockey victory line of late, will intensify their quest for a playoff berth when they meet Boston in the Bruins' farewell appearance of the season in the Stadium tonight.

Should they win tonight the Hawks again will go into a tie with Toronto for third place and will increase their lead over Boston, threatened with failure to make the playoffs for the first time in nine years, to four games. Manager Thompson's men then would need to win only three of their additional eight games to get into the Stanley Cup battles even if the Bruins win all of the seven games remaining on their schedule.

Deadlocked in Series.

The Hawks have won three of four games with the Bruins on Chicago ice this season. Their victories were by 6 to 4, 7 to 3, and 5 to 4 scores and their lone defeat at the hands of Boston in the Stadium was in a 5 to 4 battle. The Bruins have won three and lost one against the Hawks in Boston, so they now are deadlocked in their season series.

The Bruins will be strengthened thru the return to their lineup of Bill Cowley, great play making center who was sidelined for 14 games after suffering a shoulder injury on Jan. 9. Returning to the hockey wars Tuesday against Toronto, Cowley had a hand in the scoring of all three Boston goals.

Toupin to Play Saturday.

A Boston newcomer for tonight's game will be Guy Labrie, who will replace Jack Crawford on the Bruins' defense.

The Hawks also have a new man in Jack Toupin, 180 pound center purchased Tuesday from the Providence club of the American league, but he will not make his Chicago debut until Sunday night, when the Hawks will meet the Detroit Red Wings in the Stadium. Toupin also will be in the lineup in Saturday's game against the Wings in Detroit.

REDSKINS SEEK SHAUGHNESSY AS AN ADVISOR

Los Angeles, Cal., March 1 (AP).—Clark Shaughnessy, football coach at the University of Pittsburgh, said today he had been asked to serve as an unofficial advisor of the Washington Redskins, but that he would not leave Pitt.

Shaughnessy said he had been giving the Washington offer some consideration, but only as an advisor, as he has been for years with the Chicago Bears.

"I positively will not coach the Redskins or any other team except the University of Pittsburgh, where I am well satisfied," Shaughnessy declared. "I am not shopping around for another job."

PHILS PURCHASE NOMADIC GEARY OF PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 1 (AP).—The Pittsburgh Pirates announced today the sale of Eugene [Huck] Geary, their nomad shortstop, to the Philadelphia Nationals for an undisclosed sum.

Geary was suspended from organized baseball last year when homesickness caused him to desert the Pirates in midseason and return to his home in Buffalo, N. Y. He also complained that Pittsburgh fans had given him a personal razzberry thru no fault of his own. He sought reinstatement and was granted it last month by Baseball Czar Kenesaw M. Landis, making him eligible to resume play this year.

GEARY FACES DRAFT CALL.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 1 (AP).—On at least two counts it seems problematical whether Eugene [Huck] Geary will get to play with the Philadelphia Nationals to whom the Pittsburgh Pirates today announced they had sold him for an undisclosed sum.

Geary, married and the father of two children is classified 3-A, but says the draft board has informed him he will be reclassified into 1-A within a month. Aside from this, he is suffering from a knee injury sufficiently bad, he said, to keep him from his job in the maintenance department of the Buffalo Arms corporation.

Riot Follows Crane's Loss to Amundsen

Amundsen of the north section and Crane of the west section played the closest basketball game of the senior contests in the City league playoffs yesterday afternoon. Amundsen won in an overtime, 46 to 43, while proceedings were enlivened with two fights among fans.

Playing at Crane, Amundsen stepped out to an 11 to 4 lead in the first quarter and held a 25 to 18 advantage at the half. After being ahead, 36 to 27, at the end of the third quarter, a 15 point rally by Crane put the west siders in front.

Call Riot Squads.

In the extra session, Don Frantell of Amundsen made a free throw only to have Marvin Silverberg of Crane again tie the score. Rehfeldt then made a basket and a free throw for the victory in addition to boosting his game total to 22 points for individual honors.

The skirmishes among the fans began in the hall outside the gymnasium, ending in a draw when stopped by attending police. Shortly afterward the fight was continued outside the building, necessitating eight squad cars answering a riot

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The commencement exercises of the greatest Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions in the 17 year history of boxing's biggest show were conducted last night in the Chicago Stadium before 14,150 cheering spectators.

Out of a four hour welter of thudding leather came the 32 soldiers, sailors, and civilians who were graduated to the finals in the Stadium ring March 10. These swingers will be throwing punches for the right to represent Chicago's inter-city team against New York's best in Madison Square Garden on March 27.

The Golden Gloves never has lacked for thrilling action since the party began in 1928. The first two nights of double ring warfare returned the promise on Monday and Tuesday. Last night, however, found the 64 survivors of a field drawn from 24 states giving ring enthusiasts the best exhibition of boxing and hard hitting they ever had seen.

Show Their Fitness.

The final night was a convincing tribute to the efforts of the service forces to condition their men for overseas duty. There were corporals and sergeants who had fought in other Golden Gloves as youngsters. There were war plant workers who never had appeared before.

Yet, all of these young men gave proof of the physical fitness which is a natural outgrowth of their current duties by the manner in which they lambasted each other around last night. This was especially true of the boys who had to earn decision victories. They were the ones who should have been weary after two rounds of punching, but came back stronger for the final session.

Ott and Kinney Win.

The climax of the night's thrills came in two heavyweight bouts which ended in knockouts. The first of these saw Sgt. Louie Kahn of Sioux City, Ia., a pudgy gent who reminded many Golden Gloves gaffers of Adam Smith, the old Rockford baker boy, lose after a brave effort to big Orlan Ott, the Fort Worth naval aviation cadet. The sergeant was as willing a man as the tournament had seen, but big Ott, who formerly boxed out of Sioux City, was too much for Louie. Davy Miller halted the fight in the third round.

The Ott-Kahn battle was followed by a typical Tournament of Champions heavyweight bout, in which neither man gave quarter. The winner was an old Golden Gloves alumnus, Pvt. Ragon Kinney of the Los Angeles Times team. Pvt. Kinney, winner of an intercity bout against New York in 1939, had the busiest night of his life before he could get in a decision over Chicago's heavyweight, Luke Baylark of the Savoy A. C.

Home Defense.

Is the very backbone of the nation;

Nor a longer period to play,
No whistle is blown at a specified time
For them to call it a day.

Their only union's the one that they joined
The day when each answered "I do."

So, the mother who stands by her home and protects
This shrine, not for dollars and cents,
I think, does the very best job of them all
When it comes to real home defense.

What a Life!

He toiled day after day to gather wealth
And many nights he never touched his bed;
He missed his meals and jeopardized his health
And braved the elements to get ahead.
And when a goodly fortune was amassed
And he might rest or travel as he pleased,
He found the days of happiness were past
Because his wasted body was diseased.

He sought for health in lands across the sea,
Consulting all the famous doctors there,
He paid enormous bills for surgery
And visited health clinics everywhere.
He spent his fortune looking for a cure

SOX SIGN FOUR; CAVARRETTA IS NOT SATISFIED

The signing of four more White Sox players, two pitchers, a semi-pro catcher, and a rookie infielder, was announced yesterday by Vice President Harry M. Grabiner as the Cubs' office disclosed that Phil Cavarretta, first baseman, returned one contract unsigned with the explanation that he would like more money.

The Sox pitchers signed are Gordon Maltzberger, right hander who made his mark as a relief performer last season, and Southpaw Don Hanski of Worth, Ill., who spent some time with the team in 1943. The catcher is Parish R. Thaxton Jr. of Doyline, La., fresh from independent ranks, and the infielder is Pete Sharp, who came to the club as a free agent late last season.

GREAT LAKES SWIMMERS IN MEDINAH SHOW

Swim shows will be held tomorrow and Saturday night to raise funds with which to send Barbara Wertin, backstroke; Edith Miller, free style; Fern Clasen, breast stroke, and Rosemarie Voelker, free style, all Medinah swimmers, to the national meet at Oakland, Cal., in April.

In addition to the Great Lakes swimmers, Ronnie Trumble, Northwestern, and Bob Stone, Ohio State, divers, will participate tomorrow night. The Medinah water ballet team and Dick Zachery, Medinah comic diver, will be on the program both nights. The exhibitions are open to the public.

Industrial plants in the Chicago area will be invited to participate in the association's tournament series.

Washingtons Take Lead in Classic League

The Washington Shirts are the undisputed leaders of the Classic league after last night's pinfest against the first half champion Meister Braus. The boys had their roll down at Kraft's Recreation, 4047 Fullerton av., and Washington captured the last two games with none of the boys being very successful.

The defending champions, Monarch Beers, barely managed to win the third game against the National Bowling Equipment, thereby averting a shutout. Dropping a pair created a deadlock for the runnerup spot with Meisters.

The United States Brewery boys surprised the Thompson's Restaurants by winning a pair in the other match of the evening.

O'Kelley, a Negro lad who was trained for the big show by Otis Thomas, the 1934 heavyweight champion, at the Vashon community center in St. Louis, beat Sgt. Wallace Smalley of the Nashville Tennessean.

Pvt. Charles Cullers, middleweight, and Pvt. Freddy Marshall, lightweight of the Oklahoma City Oklahoman squad, were guests at a luncheon sponsored by the Rainbow Division Veterans' association of Illinois in the Sherman hotel yesterday. They attended with Lt. Harry Marshard, assistant special service officer of the Rainbow division at Camp Gruber, Okla., and their trainer, Corp. Tommy Howell, former Danville, Ill., sectional Golden Gloves winner. Cullers and Marshall, who are stationed at Camp Gruber, both were eliminated last night.

Dave Linder, Cedar Rapids, Ia., Gazette lightweight, who was eliminated in his first bout on Monday, and Alex Fidler, who has refereed more than 13,000 amateur and professional bouts in 25 years, served as seconds for Del Cockayne, featherweight of the Gazette team who lost to Major Jones, representing the Kansas City Star last night. Cockayne, who reached the quarter-finals in the 1943 Tournament of Champions, was a regular half back on the Drake university football team last winter.

Lawrence Watson, Negro 175 pounder from Omaha, was the speediest workman of the entire tournament, requiring only 20 seconds to suspend a finishing punch on the chin of Joe Bieteil of Evansville.

Pvt. Ragon Kinney, heavyweight of the Los Angeles Times, handed his trainer, Pvt. Hymie Miller, ex-professional fighter, an extra 10 days leave from duty at Camp Callan, Cal., by beating Luke Baylark of Chicago.

NEXT! GOLDEN GLOVES FINALS; 32 BOX MARCH 10

of Omaha over Wayne Dixon of Nashville. Mike had the best second in the world—his dad—who works for the United States mint in Denver when he isn't rooting for Son Michael.

The O'Leary youngster drew a hard person in the March 10 finals in the person of Tommy Nate of the South Bend Golden Gloves clan, who was out working for the Gary Post-Tribune. Thomas had to do a little business himself before he could win his 112 pound debate against Shirley Gaudet of Fort Worth. Frank O'Hern of Minneapolis and Ralph Riess of St. Louis were other 112 pound winners.

The fans applauded the 118 pound dispute between two of last year's quarter-finalists, Pvt. Herb Mashino of Fort Sheridan and Virgil Zakhi of Fort Wayne. For three rounds Herb and Virg gave the guests one of the grandest exhibitions of free-style punching the tournament ever had seen. Zakhi attempted to crowd the Japanese-American soldier into the ropes, but Herb bounded back with a volley of lefts and rights that had Virg rocking. The Fort Wayne boy, however, responded with just enough punching to win.

Ohioan Beats Gibson.

The Mashino-Zakhi struggle provided the toe to toe action of the earlier weights. Shortly after two army privates, Jackie Gibson of Truax field, Wis., and Frank Tunstill of Columbus, put on one of the best boxing shows of the night.

Gibson, former University of Wisconsin star, stood off the threat of the colored Ohioan's left hand until the third round, when Frank finally connected with a resounding charge from the port side. That was enough to earn the decision for Tunstill, altho Gibson leaped off his bloomers for a rally that had the decision in doubt to the finish.

So it went thruout the rest of the lighter divisions. There was the brave losing battle which Del Cockayne of Cedar Rapids fought against Major Jones of Kansas City after having survived three knockdowns. There was Joe Damato, the redheaded Italian from Cleveland, who scored his second quick knockout when he hurled a right hand against Rudy Payasappe in one minute and 50 seconds of the first round.

Bratton Comes Thru.

If no other division existed, the lightweight section in the March 10 finals would be sufficient in itself. The 135 pounders were led by Johnny Bratton of Chicago's Savoy A. C., who beat a good man in Freddy Marshall of Oklahoma City.

If John should run across a Buddy Holderfield of Memphis in the big show he can expect a full night's work. Buddy, runner-up in last year's finals, came back for another lick last night with a three round conquest of Eugene Brown of Omaha. Gene did right well for two rounds, but the Holderfield body barrage was too much for the Nebraska colored boy in the third.

Joining Bratton and Holderfield were a couple of other gents who will disturb them on March 10. They are Alvin Jordan, the Milwaukee author of a 44 second knockout on Monday night, and Corp. Sam Schipani of St. Louis, who moved up to the final foursome in the lightweight class by whipping Art Andrew of Gary.

Sparrow Goes Out.

The four heavier classes did not produce as spectacular action as their four predecessors, but did come up with an incessant barrage of body punching. It was this sort of assault which brought together two Golden Gloves veterans, Levi Southall, formerly of Kansas City, now a Camp Ellis, Ill., corporal fighting for Peoria, and Coast Guardsman Harry Sparrow, Chicago's welterweight candidate. Levi and Harry put on one of the solid hammering jobs of the evening before the decision finally was awarded to the Negro soldier.

Sparrow and Southall were kind to each other compared to the battle with which Johnny Rogers of Cleveland and Booker T. Washington of Gary brought the house up howling in their 160 pound argument. Booker was the aggressor during the first round, but Rogers warmed up to his work in the second and pursued his diligence in the third with a two fisted fusillade which had Washington hanging on the ropes at the finish.

Brown Wins on Knockout.

Collins Brown, the postal clerk, successfully carried Chicago's colors as the Catholic Youth organization's middleweight. Brown, who went into the ring last night with a record of 62 knockouts in 67 bouts, carried on with a smashing one round triumph over Pvt. Charley Cullers of Oklahoma City. The soldier was downed four times before Referee Joe McNamara halted the proceedings.

Cleveland completed the elimination of another Chicagoan when Ray Standifer, an old hand from Cleveland, outscored 17 year old Charley Kucharz, 175 pounder from the Madison A. C. with a ceaseless batch of uppercuts to the body.

ICKES' OWN OIL ADVISERS BLAST PIPE LINE PLAN

Group Calls Arabian Idea Unneeded, Unsound.

BY LLOYD NORMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 1.—The weight of the nation's oil industry tonight was thrown against the 165 million dollar Arabian pipe line scheme developed by Petroleum Administrator Ickes.

Ickes' own advisory committee, the petroleum industry war council, representing the industry, met in his conference room and adopted a resolution urging that the pipe line project be abandoned by the government and that the Petroleum Reserves corporation, a government agency, be dissolved.

The PRC, headed by Ickes, is completing the final draft of a contract with three American oil companies [Texas company, Standard Oil of California, and Gulf Oil corporation] for the construction and operation of the pipe line across Saudi Arabia from the Persian gulf to the Mediterranean sea.

Pipe Line Called Unnecessary.

Charging that the pipe line is not necessary to the winning of the war and may breed future wars, the council declared the federal government should quit the oil business and leave foreign oil development to private interests.

The war council advanced the following argument against the project:

1. It is not a war measure because it cannot be completed before the end of the European war.

2. It will create international friction because the line will be built across three foreign countries and the oil handled by the government owned pipe line will compete with South American oil exports, creating ill will among our hemisphere neighbors.

Available for Tankers.

3. It will develop no new oil reserves, and will not make the Arabian oil more accessible.

4. It is unnecessary because the oil wells are near seaports and the oil can be transported by tank steamers.

5. It will produce only a small savings in transportation costs, less than ½ cent a gallon.

The PIWC contended that if the pipe line is commercially impractical the federal government has no business building it, and if it is practical, then the private companies should finance it themselves.

Warn of Other Projects.

The PIWC warned that the government is contemplating other similar projects which will put it into the oil business, apparently referring to reported plans for a pipe line to Mexico.

The proposed Arabian pipe line has been described by PRC officials as the largest project of its type in the world and comparable in scope to the Panama canal development. It would be a 26 inch line and extend 1,250 miles. It has not been decided what the diameter of the pipe will be, but PRC officials said that if the pipe is less than 26 inches, pumping boosters will step up the flow above normal sufficiently to give it the carrying capacity of a normal 26 inch line.

MATE SAYS WIFE GAVE SEDATIVES TO 2 CHILDREN

Lester Borsom, 102 S. Quincy rd., Hinsdale, yesterday quoted his wife, Garnet, 31, as saying that she gave their children, Mary Ann, 8, and John, 7, sedatives and also took some herself.

Mrs. Brosom and the children were found unconscious in their home last Saturday noon, and were taken to the Hinsdale sanitarium. The children were recovering and were removed yesterday, but Mrs. Borsom was still in a semi-conscious condition.

Borsom was questioned by State's Atty. Lee Daniels of De Page county. Borsom said his wife told him Tuesday night she had mixed sleep inducing medicine in a cocoa-malt drink which she gave to the children. She did not give her reason. Borsom said he and his wife had separated recently.

TWO MARRIAGES ONLY TECHNICAL, EX-STAR CLAIMS

Washington, D. C., March 1 (AP).—Joan Manners, former British and Hollywood actress fighting for the custody of her 11 year old daughter, Joan, testified in federal District court today that she had twice married John Langan, who also wants the child, but that she never had considered herself really wedded to him.

Miss Manners reiterated her denial that Langan is the father of Joan. She said the father is a former Hollywood script writer whose name she gave as "John Manners." She said he never was told that he was Joan's father.

Miss Manners testified that her first marriage to Langan in California in 1931 "was only for a technical purpose." She said that "Mr. Langan knew I wasn't a citizen," and "I didn't think I could trust him." She agreed to marry Langan technically a second time, she explained, after she was assured the ceremony would not be binding and would merely allow her to live with Joan in the same house as Langan without bringing her into disgrace.

G.O.P. IN HOUSE CHARGES PRICE LAW STALLING

Says New Deal Aim Is Last Hour Jam.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 1.—House Republican leaders today charged the administration is stalling consideration of legislation to extend price and wage controls, which expire June 30, with the intention of railroading thru a hastily drawn bill at the last minute.

The minority congressmen asserted that hearings should be started immediately on the entire stabilization question, so that full consideration can be given to proposed major revisions. The latter include a revival of the ban on food subsidy payments, demands that prompt review in the courts be permitted on all price and wage rulings, and proposals that congress lay down more definite rules for the office of price administration to eliminate allegedly unfair price orders.

Martin Asks Action.

Minority Leader Martin [R., Mass.] said in a statement that continuance of price and wage controls is "absolutely necessary" to avoid inflation, and urged the house banking committee to start immediate hearings on the question.

"We have had too much of the burocratic technique of waiting until the last minute and then forcing acceptance by congress of necessary legislation in a form not desired," Martin said. "We must not postpone until the last minute the study of any revisions which may be desirable in view of past experience."

Rep. Crawford [R., Mich.], a ranking minority member of the banking committee, declared in an interview that the "administration is clearly trying to delay consideration of this legislation in an effort to railroad its own proposals thru the congress just before the June 30 deadline."

Majority Controls Action.

"Republicans on the committee have been trying for weeks to get hearings started on this question," Crawford said, "but we get no information from the chairman, who controls the matter. Unless we act promptly the price control bill will be caught with other major legislation in an 11th hour chaos, which is just what the administration wants."

On the administration side, Rep. Spence [D., Ky.], chairman of the banking committee, asserted there is no reason to "hurry" the legislation, but declined to say when he will offer a new stabilization bill, which will be the starting point for the committee's hearings. Other congressmen said Spence is apparently waiting until officials in OPA and other agencies outline changes, if any, that they want.

Crawford explained that the bill will necessarily entail weeks of hearings and debate in each house, and that hence, no time should be lost in getting started.

RETURN TO CORN FUTURES TRADE MADE POSSIBLE

Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday said that altho conditions do not at present permit opening a futures market in corn, the mechanics for a quick return have been set up. This was accomplished thru approval by the directors of a report submitted by a special committee providing for pit operations. The action was taken so merchandisers may plan to accumulate reserve stocks when corn becomes available for that purpose.

Grain markets showed moderate strength. Wheat closed ⅝ to ¾ cent higher, rye rose ⅝ to 1⅛ cent, oats were unchanged to ⅝ cent higher, and barley was ¼ cent higher to ⅛ cent lower.

AMERICAN BRAKE SHOE.

Would you kindly send me some details on the 1943 earnings report of the American Brake Shoe company? M. D.

Answer: Net sales were $72,049,110, against $62,793,260 for 1942. Operating income, however, declined to $10,268,614 from $11,242,292. This was offset by a reduction of more than 1½ million dollars in the provision for federal excess profits taxes, with the result that 1943 net income showed a gain of $3,111,658, from $2,991,459 for 1942. The 1943 net is subject to adjustment for renegotiation of government contracts.

The 1943 earnings were equivalent to $31.75 a share on the preferred stock and $3.38 a share on the common, comparing with $30.53 and $3.22, respectively, for 1942.

Current assets were listed at $29,522,785 at the close of 1943, and included $5,900,378 cash and United States treasury notes totaling $5,197,291. Current assets were $10,015,492.

Brazil Rubber PlanDefended by RDC Chief

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Mar. 1.—The government's multi-million dollar project to obtain wild rubber from Brazil's Amazon valley was defended tonight by Douglas H. Allen, president of the Rubber Development corporation, a subsidiary of the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

The project was described last Saturday as a colossal failure by William La Varre, former chief of the American republics division of the commerce department. He resigned his $8,000 a year post in protest against what he said was a movement to surrender American foreign trade to government-sponsored monopolies.

Tells Details of New Pact.

Allen asserted that the RDC has "successfully accomplished" the task of "reviving and rapidly expanding the moribund wild rubber industry" in Brazil. He made this observation in announcing the details of the new rubber agreement between the United States and Brazil, under which this country contracted to pay a 15 cents a pound premium above the 45 cents a pound basic price for Brazilian wild rubber.

Signed Feb. 8, it releases the United States of the obligation to provide foodstuffs, supplies, equipment, and coal as well as further development expenditures, which hereafter will be undertaken by the Brazilian government, Allen said.

The RDC also is permitted to discontinue by next June 30 any subsidies or contributions to compensate Brazilian rubber producers for increased wages, living costs, and other expenses, and to stimulate maximum output.

Cost "Substantially" Larger.

Under the basic rubber agreement signed March 3, 1942, the United States agreed to buy Brazil's exportable surplus of rubber until the end of 1946 and to aid Brazil in developing Amazon wild rubber production by the expenditure of 5 million dollars. Allen said "substantially in excess" of that amount was spent.

He said this country paid an average of $1.12 a pound for Amazon valley rubber from October, 1941, thru last October, compared with an overall average cost of 82 cents a pound for all rubber purchased in Latin America. He said the United States spent about 78 million dollars on the project in the two years. Imports of rubber from Brazil were 4,779 tons in 1941, 5,853 tons in 1942, and 11,039 tons in the first 10 months of 1943.

Borg-Warner Sets 2 Periods to Reconvert

The post-war reconversion program of Borg-Warner corporation, manufacturer of automotive and other equipment, has been divided into two periods on the belief war production will not terminate abruptly, C. S. Davis, president, said yesterday. He spoke at a post-war planning conference of the company in the Palmer House in which 85 executives and key employes participated.

Reconversion to a peace time economy will be more complex than the original conversion to war production and will necessitate several alternative plans providing for various production ratios, he asserted.

Divided Into Two Periods.

Borg-Warner has divided its reconversion program into "primary" and "secondary" periods, he said. The primary period will begin with the resumption of civilian production and will fall into two phases.

The first phase will cover the period of partial civilian production linked with a continued war production. He said a full return to peace time production will make up the second phase, and will end "when the demand for civilian goods, pent up and long denied by war restrictions, has been largely satisfied."

Time for Product Changes.

The secondary period will arrive when demand for civilian goods begins to drop, probably from a satisfied demand, or a diminished purchasing power, he explained.

"This is the period when improved products must be offered to tempt the buyer; the time for introduction of the more radically new designs and new products, and the time for expansion into new fields and new markets," he said.

Rail, Air Line Stocks Lead Price Upturn

New York, March 1 (AP).—Buyers showed a heavy preference for transportation shares in today's stock market, dividing attention between rails and air lines. The list moved higher with many closing gains ranging from fractions to about a point.

Bids increased after it appeared the market was weathering such selling as carried over from the preceding day. A few gains were based on earnings reports but the general news had no particular effect.

The Associated Press 60 stock composite advanced 0.1 of a point to 51.3. Rail and utility averages each rose 0.2 of a point. Dealings amounted to 632,590 shares aaginst 865,590 Tuesday.

Among the widest gainers were United Air Lines, Pan American Airways, American Airlines, Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Delaware & Hudson, Alleghany corporation preferred, Chrysler, Goodrich, United Aircraft, Douglas, Western Union, Public Service of New Jersey, and du Pont.

CHICAGO STOCKS GAIN.

Prices advanced yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange and the volume leader, Cities Service company, accounted for 4,500 of the 26,000 total shares traded. It closed at 17, up 1¾. Other active issues included Asbestos Manufacturing, up ⅛; Midland United A preferred, up 1; Chicago corporation, unchanged, and Commonwealth Edison, up ⅛. J. G. Heileman Brewing closed at a new 1943-'44 peak of 10½, up ⅛.

BONDS CLOSE MIXED.

New York, March 1 (AP).—The bond market wavered aimlessly today but received enough support in late dealings to end with small gains and losses about evenly balanced. Sales of $11,043,500 were down from the $12,938,700 volume of Tuesday when the market skidded in late trade.

POST-WAR NEED IS LEADERSHIP, ASSERTS KAISER

Post-war recovery and expansion in America will depend far less on schemes than on the quality of leadership, Henry J. Kaiser yesterday told the American Concrete institute in the Palmer House. Experimental projects of the dreamers will have no place in the peace time world, he said.

Kaiser said preparations are being made for major construction after the war. The United States will be ready to start the building of a 30,000 mile national highway system. There are swamps to be drained, gorges bridged, tunnels made, and airports surfaced, he said.

Kaiser asserted the world is undergoing vast changes in economic procedure in which neither the radical nor the reactionary forces will win. He predicted the possibility of a more equitable balance between income and effort.

C. & O. ASKS ICC TO RECONSIDER DIVIDEND DENIAL

Washington, D. C., March 1 (AP).—The Chesapeake and Ohio railway today petitioned the interstate commerce commission to reconsider its decision denying the road permission to issue $76,573,700 of preference stock as a dividend to its common stockholders. It said it would have a surplus balance of 93 million dollars after the distribution.

The ICC had held that the proposed stock distribution would leave the company with an inadequate surplus. The road replied that it had not been necessary to touch its surplus account to make up operating deficits for any year since 1890.

"Stockholders are interested in dividends," the petition said. "A company which has a record of regular earnings which are not distributed to stockholders should not be expected to increase its surplus account indefinitely."

TREASURY CHIEF DENIES TAX AIDS WILL BE OUSTED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 1.—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau on returning to Washington today from a two weeks' vacation in Florida denied reports that Randolph Paul or any other treasury tax experts would quit or lose their jobs because the administration's tax bill took such a kicking around in congress.

He said he was "very happy" about the results of the fourth war loan drive and would announce the final tally on bond sales during a radio broadcast from New York tomorrow night. Planning for the fifth war loan drive "in May, June, or July" will start immediately, he said.

BLASTS DREAM OF INDUSTRIAL MARVELS TO BE

Avery Warns Hard Work Lies Ahead.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Sewell L. Avery, chairman of the board, gave stockholders of the United States Gypsum company at their annual meeting yesterday some plain thoughts on post-war America in which he punctured some of the optimism as to the period immediately following the end of the conflict.

Sewell L. Avery.

There are too many fallacies "floating around in peoples' minds" regarding super-automobiles, strange new prefabricated houses and other industrial marvels which will not be available for production the day the war ends, he declared. He indicated that progress in the future will continue to be thru evolution and hard work.

Won't Guess at Future.

Avery—rated as one of the nation's keenest business leaders—treated the stockholders to more than an hour of cracker box philosophy as he discussed problems affecting both the nation and his own company. When a stockholder asked his opinion as to the future, he replied:

"I can't give you a perfect panarama of the future. I am in the position of a blind man looking in a dark closet for the black hat that isn't there."

The dreams that so many people are having are impracticable, he said. The nation will have a mammoth debt at a time when many people will labor under the assumption that every one must have a good job at high wages and short hours.

"That isn't the way wealth is produced," he continued. "You have to work hard and show our old pioneer spirit."

Not All Can Get Old Job.

Discussing the employment of soldiers returning from the war, Avery said that naturally all industry wishes to employ as many as it can, but it will be impossible for every business to take back every man who left its employ. He gave as an example the fact that there are now four men in uniform from one Gypsum company job.

Avery said that the various divisions of United States Gypsum are ready to go forward with improvements and expansion in the future but he is not in a position to give a blue print of post-war plans.

"I would want to see how we get out of the war," he explained, "how the New Deal is operating, what will be done with the price control system and so on. How soon we could embark on an ambitious program is doubtful, but we have the money and are as ready as any one to step out when the time is right."

Avery said that 1943 sales totaling $60,871,000 showed a decrease of 4.5 per cent from 1942 and were 32 per cent below the 1925-28 average. Reversing a long trend, production costs rose 8 per cent in 1943, among the reasons being higher wages and other costs and less efficient labor. Dealers' inventories are dangerously low, he said.

MARCH CAR TIRE, TUBE QUOTAS UP FROM FEBRUARY

Washington, D. C., March 1 (AP).—Tire and tube rationing quotas for March show a slight increase over totals allowed in February, the OPA reported today. The new passenger tire quota for the country was fixed at 691,025 tires, an increase of 45,975.

The March allotment will be distributed by local rationing boards on the new "occupational basis" which supplants the mileage basis for determining eligibility. The most essential occupations will receive preference in the issuance of tire certificates, regardless of mileage.

A new system for March provides truck and bus tire quotas in two categories, determined by size. March totals are 171,487 tires under 7.50 inches, and 114,311 larger than 8.25 inches, with the combined total roughly 18,000 more than the February allotment of 267,917.

Field & Co. Profits Increase on Record Business Volume

Every major operating unit of Marshall Field & Co., including retail stores and manufacturing and real estate divisions, had the largest volume of business in the company's history during 1943, Hughston M. McBain, president, said yesterday in the company's annual report.

Net sales and rental income totaled $138,632,315, compared with $122,016,644 in 1942, a gain of 13.6 per cent. Net profit was $5,216,227, equal to $2.22 a common share, compared with $4,992,834, or $2.07 a share, in 1942. Federal income taxes totaled $11,865,527, or 69 per cent of earnings, compared with $8,510,000 the preceding year.

2 Million Reserve Set Aside.

The earnings were before deduction of a 2 million dollar reserve in 1943 for future decline in market value of inventories and $755,712 in 1942. McBain said last year's profit was slightly below the immediate pre-war years and for the last five years approximately the entire increase in earnings before taxes was absorbed by higher taxes.

Each of the retail stores experienced an increase in earnings before interest and taxes. Those of the manufacturing division were lower because of higher costs along with ceiling prices.

The real estate division had the largest operating profit in its history. The Merchandise Mart was approximately 98 per cent occupied at the end of 1943, as it was a year earlier.

Inventories Are Lower.

Inventories on Dec. 31 were $16,565,368, a decrease of nearly 2 million dollars below a year ago. Shortages of certain types of goods in retail stores contributed to the decrease, which also resulted in part from conservative inventory policies. The inventory reserve totaled 5 million dollars.

The company retired $1,800,000 of funded debt during the year. Current assets totaled $51,008,134 and current liabilities $25,709,311.

Hints Supply of Newsprint May Improve

Washington, D. C., March 1 (AP).—A guarded prediction of improvement in the newsprint supply for newspapers in the latter half of this year came today from Harold J. Boeschenstein, director of the WPB forest products bureau.

"If new and unpredictable demands for paper and paperboard do not increase materially and if possible improvements in pulpwood are realized, the paper situation should not deteriorate further and there may be some improvement in the second half of 1944," Boeschenstein said regarding his report to the newspaper industry advisory committee.

First Encouragement in Months.

It was the first optimistic word on newsprint prospects from WPB in many months, but Boeschenstein warned:

"We cannot guarantee that the military paper and paperboard requirements will not be increased during the latter part of 1944, nor can we predict what effect such increased demands might have on the future supply and usage of paper."

The message was taken as an indication that newspapers would not suffer further curtailments in the second quarter starting April 1.

Gives Report on Surplus.

A surplus of 32,329 tons is available for the first quarter of 1944, when production figures are weighed against consumption, Boeschenstein said, but this does not take into account paper tonnage which must be repaid to large newspapers who "loaned" it to other papers last fall, nor certain permitted increases in publishers' reserve inventories which have been approved but not made.

MEAT DEMAND BOOSTS PRICES OF LIVE STOCK

Rising demand for meat animals, stimulated by a cut in retail ration point value and prospects of lighter volume from farms in the weeks ahead, resulted in a good clearance in all departments of the live stock market at the stock yards yesterday. Prices were strong.

Cattle buyers gave the $17 top price for 10 carloads of steers and yearlings, which equaled the highest price since last July. Most classes of cattle were strong and the steer average for the session was higher, at $15.25.

Hog shipments from farms continued to taper. Prices were mostly steady to strong, altho many consignments brought 5 to 10 cents higher. Advances in the market for lambs ranged up to 20 cents.

Chicago Rapid Transit company revenue and transfer passengers totaled 15,260,276, a rise of 9.65 per cent. Chicago Motor Coach company carried 5,327,473 cash passengers, an increase of 3.63 per cent.

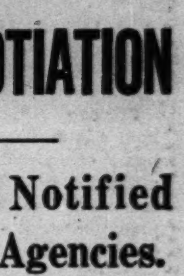
UTILITY CHARGE IS SUBJECT TO RENEGOTIATION

Edison Is Notified by Price Agencies.

Commonwealth Edison company and Public Service Company of Northern Illinois have been notified by government price adjustment boards of the start of renegotiation proceedings, Charles Y. Freeman, chairman of both companies, disclosed yesterday in the Edison company's annual report.



Charles Y. Freeman.

"It has been heretofore generally understood that charges of utility companies for service to war industries are not subject to renegotiation," Freeman wrote. "This understanding has been based on rulings to that effect by army and navy departments and the fact that utility rates, for the most part, are controled by state regulatory authorities."

The notifications had been received by a number of utility companies in December.

Expect No Adverse Effect.

"To what extent this will be followed up is not known," he said. "It is believed, however, that the industrial rates and terms of service of Commonwealth Edison and its subsidiaries are such that no important adverse effect on earnings will result."

Commonwealth Edison's output and operating revenues during 1943 reached record levels for the fifth consecutive year. Consolidated operating revenues were $180,858,145, a gain of 4.9 per cent over the 1942 volume of $172,338,885.

Net income amounted to $22,392,999, equal to $1.76 a share, compared with $22,108,102, or $1.74 a share, in the preceding year. Despite the large gain in gross, net income was well below the 1940 level of $29,170,756. In 1941 it amounted to $26,747,901.

"The expanded requirements of war industries in our important northern Illinois center of war production were the cause of the increased demands on the facilities of the company and its subsidiaries," said Freeman's review of 1943 business. "By the end of the year, approximately 40 per cent of the electrical output of the companies was being utilized for war production, compared with 25 per cent at the end of 1942."

Power Sales Gain.

Kilowatt hours of electricity sold increased 12.8 per cent to 9,960,943,000. Therms of gas sold gained 10.3 per cent to 307,371,000. Gas rate reductions in 1942 offset the effect on revenues of a 5.8 per cent increase in therms sold residential consumers in 1943 and were largely responsible, the report said, for a 7.7 per cent decrease in revenues from commercial customers.

The system's net electric capacity at the close of 1943 was 2,254,000 kilowatts, against 2,119,000 a year earlier. Peak load during the current winter season was 1,956,000 kilowatts, about 156,000 greater than in the preceding year.

Egg Future, March Potato Contract Prices Decline

Steadily mounting stocks of shell eggs and hedging sales caused a drop of 0.40 cent to 39.25 cents a dozen in egg future contracts for October delivery yesterday on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. March Idaho potatoes were down 5 cents at $3.10 a hundred pounds due to heavy deliveries on the exchange. November Idahos gained 5 cents to $2.70.

AVERS CHICAGO TO NEED 60,000 NEW RESIDENCES

Expert Points at Shortage When War Ends.

Chicago will need 60,000 new homes immediately after the return home of her soldiers and sailors after the war, H. Evert Kincaid, executive director of the Chicago plan commission, predicted yesterday at a meeting of the city council committee on housing. The estimate was based on the return of only 85 per cent of the fighters, and presumably would be larger on a greater return.

Kincaid told the aldermen that the present building codes are not attractive for subdividing by private enterprise, and urged more flexibility in the regulations to fit the divergent individualities of various neighborhoods. At present he said, the codes require streets of 66 foot width, with eight blocks to the mile in one direction and 16 blocks to the mile in crisscross direction.

Favors Wider House Lots.

The plan commission director said he favors wider house lots, fewer streets, except main arteries, curved streets and dead end streets, with the elimination of alleys in strictly residential areas.

Kincaid predicted that by 1965 Chicago's population will total 3,600,000 to 3,800,000, and that 450,000 new buildings will be needed by that time. Only 635,000 of Chicago's present buildings will be habitable by 1965, he added.

He said some 240,000 dwellings probably will be demolished in the intervening years, and urged the utilization of 22½ square miles of blighted and near blighted areas, and of 12 square miles of vacant or dormant land.

Wants to Retain Population.

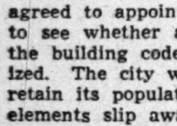
Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th], chairman of the housing committee, agreed to appoint a subcommittee to see whether any provisions of the building codes can be liberalized. The city wants, he said, to retain its population, and not see elements slip away because of inadequate housing.

Lindell asserted that at present mortgage rates are too heavy, and that a wage earner buying a $5,000 home might find at the end of 20 years that he had paid thrice the original amount. Ald. Theron W. Merryman [45th], added that building costs also should be reduced.

Ald. Roy E. Olin [8th] recommended a grouping of the various housing inspection services and the establishment of a special court to handle violations.

STATE GIVES UP MURDER CHARGE AGAINST EGAN

A charge of murder against James Egan, the confessed finger man in the gambling war assassination last Sept. 18 of Martin [Sonny Boy] Quirk, was nol prossed yesterday by Judge Harold G. Ward in Criminal court. It was Egan's reward for turning state's witness against three of his erstwhile friends whom he implicated as accomplices in the slaying.



James Egan.

But Egan, who has been in jail since last October, did not win a release from custody. He was held for a hearing tomorrow in a hit-and-run automobile accident.

If he is released thereafter he will leave Chicago immediately under an arrangement made with the state's attorney and remain in seclusion, from which he will be recalled if and when he is wanted to testify against five other men, including James [Red] Fawcett, who also were indicted in the Quirk murder.

Nattily attired, Egan had no comment on whether he feared reprisal as a result of his testimony against John J. Williams, Anthony De Lordo, and John Enright, who were acquitted.

Egan was arrested Aug. 27 after his automobile collided with and wrecked an automobile driven by Elmer A. Steele, 3229 Cermak rd. Steele is demanding $200 damages.

CHICAGO TO ASK NEW SITE FOR CALUMET LOCK

City engineers, Commissioner of Public Works Hewitt, and Ald. Lindell [9th] will appear at a public hearing next Monday in Gary city hall to protest a proposal that a lock be built in the Grand Calumet river west of its junction with the Indiana Harber ship canal, a city council committee on pollution and waterways was informed yesterday.

Construction of a lock at this point, Hewitt told the committee, would add to the pollution now flowing into the lake thru the ship canal and working its way north to the vicinity of the Dunne and 68th st. cribs. The proposed lock is part of a plan by federal engineers to make the Grand Calumet river suitable for water commerce as far east as Clark st. in Gary.

As an alternate proposition, the committee adopted a recommendation by Hewitt that a lock or dike be built in the ship canal near its junction with the Grand Calumet river and voted that this plan be submitted at the public hearing. Such a structure, it was pointed out, would prevent the flow of sewage thru the canal and into the lake.

Among those attending the meeting was W. A. Gillette, regional director of the federal works agency.

KIWANIANS TO HEAR RATHJE.

Frank C. Rathje, president of the Chicago City Bank and Trust company and of the Mutual National bank, will address the Chicago Kiwanis club today at a luncheon in the Hotel Sherman.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by David Deutsch, 129 S. 2d st., Brooklyn, N. Y.]

THE QUESTION.

What is the nicest thing your mother-in-law ever did for you?

WHERE ASKED.

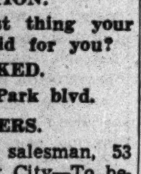
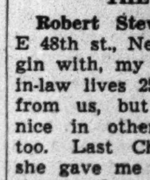
THE ANSWERS.



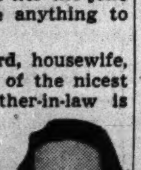
Robert Stevenson, salesman, 53 E 48th st., New York City—To begin with, my mother-in-law lives 250 miles from us, but she is nice in other ways, too. Last Christmas she gave me a necktie that I could actually wear and that's more than my wife or any of my friends did for me.



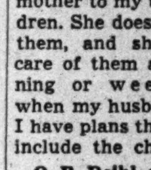
Robert Langford, hotel manager, Del Prado hotel—My mother-in-law is perfect because she just leaves me alone to lead my life as I please. She isn't the kind you read about and I actually enjoy her company. In fact, if all mother-in-laws were like her the joke writers wouldn't have anything to write about.

Mrs. Robert Langford, housewife, Del Prado hotel—One of the nicest things about my mother-in-law is the fact that she is such a good grandmother to my two children. She doesn't spoil them, and she takes care of them any evening or week-end when my husband and I have plans that don't include the children.

O. R. Deihl, membership secretary Y. M. C. A., Flossmoor—Long before I was ever married, my mother-in-law was one of my best friends. She helped me carry out my resolve to marry her daughter and sometimes I think if it hadn't been for her I might not have been able to manage it alone. That was nice of her.



W. Z. Hayman, hotel manager, Del Prado hotel—There are many nice little things that my mother-in-law does for me. She spends much of her time knitting socks, scarfs, and gloves for me. Every once in a while she bakes the best of French pancakes. I really wouldn't mind having her around all of the time.



Stuart G. Fowler, live stock buyer, Del Prado hotel—There was a time when I thanked my mother-in-law for giving me her beautiful daughter, but now I give her my heartiest thanks for taking her back. She couldn't have taken a bigger burden off my hands and I love her for that alone.

CUT RED TAPE, WE'LL PAY TAX, CITIZENS PLEAD

Patient Line Marks Time in Corridor.

That's the plea of the queue of Chicago income taxpayers who have been shuffling—two, three, four, and even five abreast from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.—thru the corridors of the United States courthouse since Jan. 3. Like an unending parade of patient soldiers—5,000 persons a day and 6,000 to 6,500 on Saturdays—they soberly mark time, sometimes three or four hours, as they wait to enter the large room on the Dearborn st. side where one of more than 150 government helpers will lead them thru the maze of questions.

"The crowd has increased approximately 25 per cent in the last 15 days," said John G. Maloney, assistant chief field deputy of the office of collector of internal revenue. "And it will continue to increase until the deadline 14 days from now."

Issues Plea for Helpers.

The crush of work was so heavy yesterday that Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue, issued a plea for workers to help taxpayers complete their forms. Harrison said persons not using their highest skill in essential industry would be employed at $146 a month and trained for the work. Clerks, typists, stenographers, billing, and other machine operators are most urgently needed, Harrison said.

At present, the office is equipped to accommodate 165 persons at a time, seating them at long rows of tables opposite government aids. The rest wait quietly to be ushered into the "consultation" room and the luxury of a chair.

Truck Driver Is Buffaloed.

"Say, mister, there is nothing to wisecracks about" replied a husky truck driver who overheard the remark. "This form has me buffaloed."

"The form THE TRIBUNE printed the other day helped me," said a housewife at one of the crowded substations. "I've got my tax worked out. But I want to check it to be sure."

"Seventy-five per cent of the people could work out their own forms if they would just sit down and try it. They are simple," said one of the deputies. And he didn't even smile when he said it.

PARLEYS START ON JOB 'CEILINGS' FOR WAR PLANTS

Acceleration of plans to supply Chicago war plants with the thousands of workers needed to maintain production schedules was announced yesterday by Lester Brown, area war man power commission director, as the area's classification as one of an acute labor shortage became effective. The plans include a system of worker "ceilings" and priorities.

Brown said that at present he is "not even thinking" of stricter labor controls, but is confident the area's net deficit of 32,500 workers can be overcome with existing machinery and regulations. These include the labor stabilization program of the WMC, which controls the movements of essential employes from job to job; the 48 hour minimum work week; the man power priorities committee, and the mayor's committee for patriotic action.

Meet to Fix Ceilings.

Prime war contractors in the Chicago area are now meeting with subcommittees of the priorities committee as the first step toward establishing employment ceilings on the number of male workers and total workers hired in individual war plants, Brown disclosed.

The priorities committee, made up of army, navy, WMC, war production board, selective service, and aircraft resources control office representatives, then will confer with less essential employers to ask them to reduce the number of their male workers, he said.

Rule on Needs Today.

The purpose of priorities and ceilings is to guide labor into plants where it is most needed, Brown said. Determinations of the critical occupations into which workers will be sent first will be made today, he added.

Most of the task of recruiting new men and women war workers and reducing turnover and absenteeism will be handled by the mayor's committee.

James M. Cleary, committee chairman, who attended the press conference in Brown's office yesterday, said that funds for a $150,000 advertising campaign to wipe out the worker deficit are being raised.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer question about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

THE REPLACEMENT SCHEDULE.

The replacement schedule is designed to provide for the systematic replacement of men who are engaged in activities which are necessary to war production or to the support of the war, and who must be made available for military service. It is made up in two parts: The replacement summary, which presents an analysis of the employer's personnel, and the replacement list on which are listed all men who must be considered for replacement and the month or period in which such replacements are expected to be made.

Ordinarily those men who will be replaced first will be those in occupations having the shortest training and replacement time. However, this factor is subject to variation because employes in occupations having longer training times may be replaceable thru hiring, transferring, or upgrading. Employers effecting replacement thru any one or all of these methods should consider the replacement in terms of eligibility for military service then or later.

Next in order of consideration for replacement is the matter of the registrant's dependency status; that is, is he a "father" within the meaning of the regulations? If he is, he will be placed on the replacement schedule after single men and made available after "non-fathers" who are in the same job classification. For example, there are three men doing the same job; a single man, a married man without children, and a married man with children, the single man having the highest order number, the married man without children, the next highest number, and the married man with children having the lowest order number. The single man would be replaced first and the married man with children last.

Training time today is not as important as "replaceability," and even when the training period is short some employers are faced with the necessity of replacing a large number of men. In such instances the employer may spread this replacement over a period of several months by scheduling a definite number for replacement each month, thus avoiding undue stress and confusion.

When an employer has completed the replacement schedule he submits the original and two copies to the state director for the state in which the plant is located. If the state director approves, he will assign to the employer a "state acceptance number" which will be stamped upon every 42-A form filed by the employer with the local board of each registrant listed on the replacement list. The appearance of this number on the 42-A form tells the local board at a glance that the deferment of the registrant is requested on a schedule approved by state headquarters. When a local board receives a form 42-A bearing this number, it shall consider the form 42-A as "new information and will therefore reopen and consider anew the classification of the registrant covered unless an order for induction has already been mailed to such registrant."

MRS. KATHERINE SMYTHE.

Mrs. Katherine Keasel Smythe, 34, of the Ambassador West hotel, informed Judge John J. Lupe, in the Superior court yesterday, that she requires $30 a day to live in her accustomed style, and that the $500 awarded her Feb. 17 lasted only a week.

Mrs. Smythe is suing her husband, Paul H. Smythe, 42, a juke box inventor, for separate maintenance, on charges of cruelty. They have three children. She estimates his wealth at $300,000, but in court yesterday, Smythe said he was worth only $80,000.

In explaining what happened to the $500 award, Mrs. Smythe said her hotel rent is $14 a day, and that, with food, clothing, personal necessities, and tips, consumed it all. In fact, she added, she had to borrow $63.91 from her attorney, Peter Giachini. Judge Lupe awarded her $350 until the next hearing, March 10.

CHICAGO HIGH SCHOOLS TO AID IN PAPER DRIVE

Besides their school books, 100,000 Chicago school students are expected to bring a total of 350 tons of waste paper to school tomorrow, in the first organized city-wide collection in the high schools. Forty-six hundred high school teachers, working under George F. Cassell, an assistant superintendent of schools, are directing the campaign.

Trucks from waste paper dealers will pick up the paper, and proceeds from the sales will be turned over to the individual school.

Fifty speakers from the waste paper industry have done the ground work for tomorrow's collection. They have toured the schools, instructed in the methods of wrapping the paper for collection, and shown the products which evolve from waste paper. More than 600,000 war essentials are made from it.

LOOT TAVERN OF $135 LIQUOR.

Fred Fasano, 3832 Monroe st., owner of a tavern at 357 N. Clark st., reported to police yesterday that thieves stole $150 and three cases of liquor valued at $135 in a burglary Tuesday night.

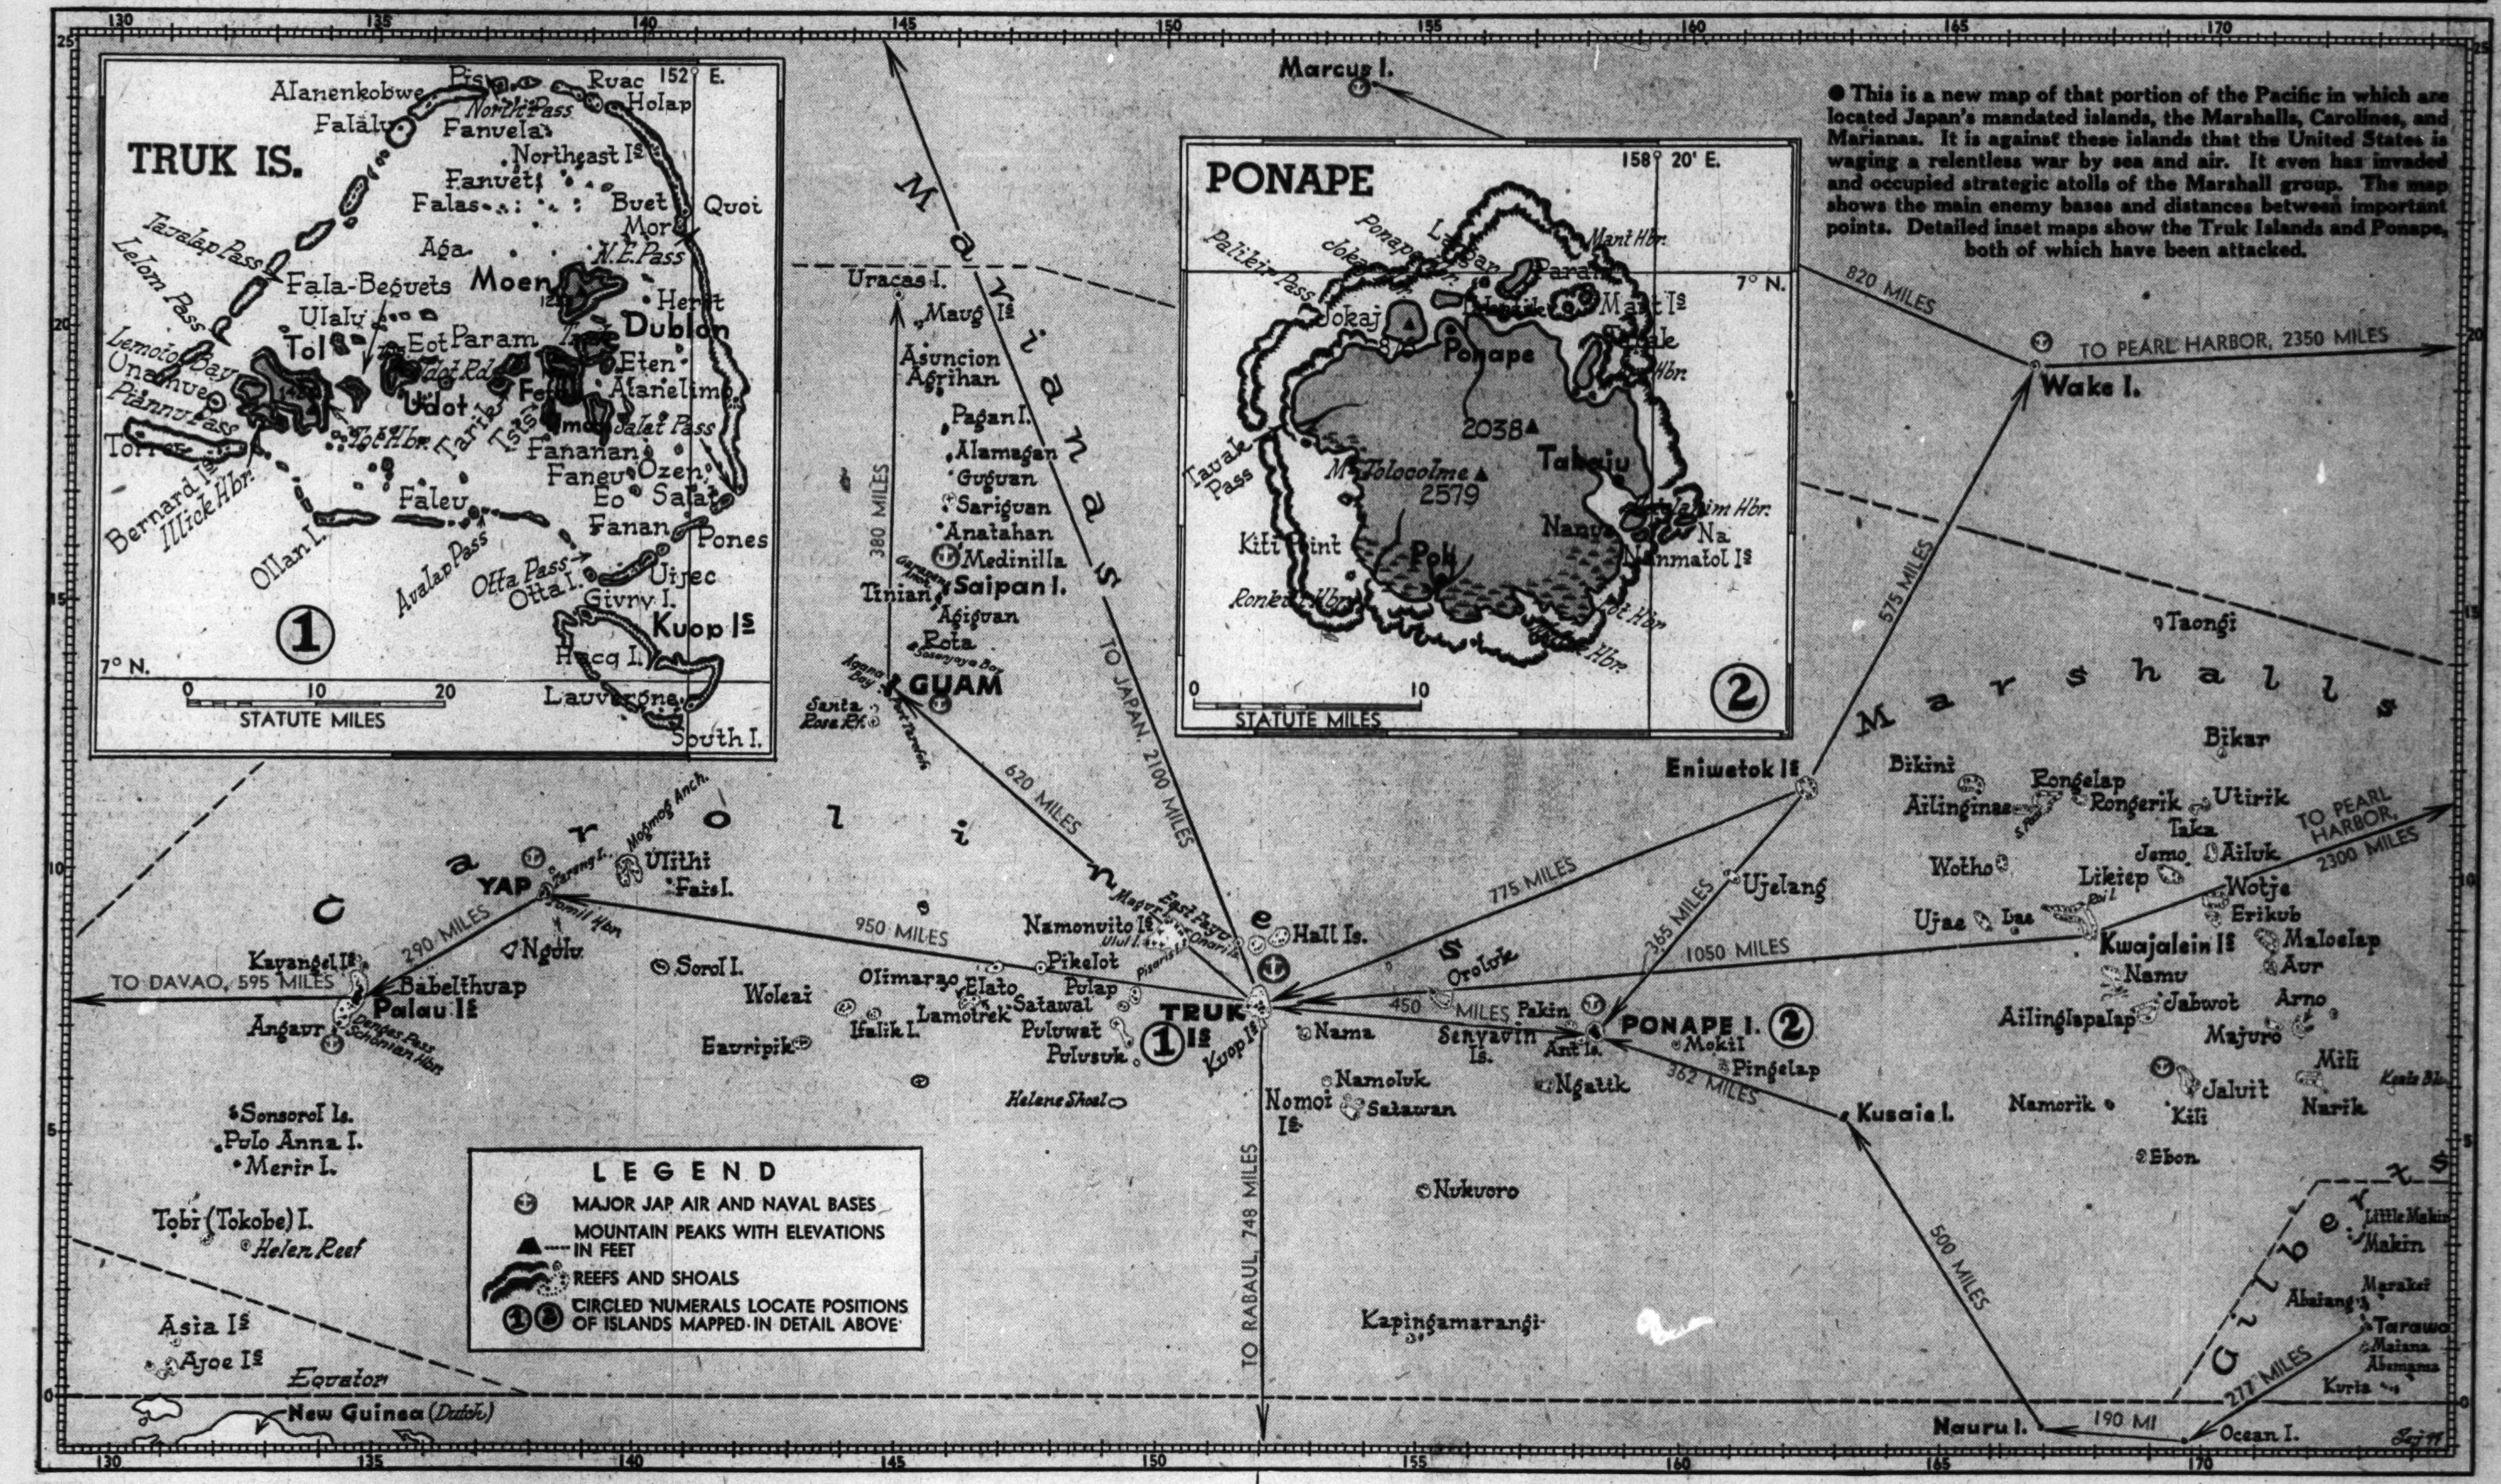
JAPAN'S PACIFIC ISLANDS UNDER ATTACK



● This is a new map of that portion of the Pacific in which are located Japan's mandated islands, the Marshalls, Carolines, and Marianas. It is against these islands that the United States is waging a relentless war by sea and air. It even has invaded and occupied strategic atolls of the Marshall group. The map shows the main enemy bases and distances between important points. Detailed inset maps show the Truk Islands and Ponape, both of which have been attacked.
